JEWISH STATE, HITLER PLAN

BORAH'S SPEECH WINS VOTES FOR ARMS EMBARGO

Wavering Senators Are Persuaded.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—The first day of the battle in the senate on the neutrality repealer went against the administration, according to the private admissions of the administration leaders themselves.

One of them said he believed that the indictment of the proposal to repeal the arms embargo contained in the 2¼ hour speech made by Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] yesterday had cost the administration 6 or 7 votes.

He said, however, that the administration can afford to lose that many votes and predicted that the bill to wipe out the arms embargo and place all sales of American goods to belligerent nations on a cash and carry basis will be passed.

Names Not Disclosed.

The names of the senators reported to have been influenced by the Borah speech were not disclosed and there was much speculation on their identity. Senator Borah is believed to know some of them. It is reported that since his speech several indicated to Senator Borah a change of attitude. He declined to discuss the matter.

There are about a dozen senators who so far have not committed themselves definitly. Among them are the following midwestern senators:

Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.], who says he leans toward repeal of the embargo, provided a strong cash and carry provision applying to all goods sold to belligerents is adopted.

James M. Slattery [D., Ill.], who wants to hear all the arguments pro and con before making up his mind.

Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], who as a member of the foreign relations committee voted to report the repealer with reservation of the right to vote against it in the senate.

Of the other midwestern senators, Sherman Minton [D., Ind.], Frederick Van Nuys [D., Ind.], Clyde L. Herring [D., Ia.], and Prentiss M. Brown [D., Mich.] are supporting the administration bill to repeal the embargo, while Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] and Robert M. La Follette [P., Wis.] are opposing it.

Logan Death Halts Debate.

Debate of the question in the senate was suspended today because of the death this morning of Senator M. M. Logan [D., Ky.]. The senate met at noon and six minutes later adjourned till tomorrow as a mark of respect. The debate will be resumed tomorrow with Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.] leading off in favor of the repealer and Senator Vandenberg answering him.

That the administration forces felt themselves hard hit by the Borah speech was evident from their maneuvers to hold wavering senators in line for repeal. Their efforts were mainly in the direction of stiffening up the cash and carry provision of the bill.

As the measure stands these provisions are exceedingly stringent. A belligerent could buy American products only for cash, with not more than 90 day credit permissible. No loans to belligerents would be permitted. American ships not only could not carry cargoes to belligerents, but would be required to keep clear of combat zones defined by the President.

Designed to Influence Senators.

On the theory that our loans and sales of arms and munitions got us into the world war, the provisions were devised to keep us out of this war. They were designed to get the votes of some senators for the lifting of the existing embargo on sale of "arms, ammunition, and implements of war" upon satisfactory assurance that their votes would not help to get the country into war.

The only weakness in the cash and carry system in the bill is the credit provision which the Democratic leaders evinced an increasing disposition today to throw overboard as a means of halting the defection of senators whose fears of the country's eventual involvement in war had been aroused by the Borah speech. Senator Minton, the Democratic whip, was openly advocating the elimination of the 90 day credit allowance and requiring

BY CHESLY MANLY.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3 [Special].—Senators Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] and Ernest Lundeen [F.-L., Minn.], both members of the military affairs committee, today proposed that Great Britain and France be required to surrender their western Atlantic insular possessions in part payment of their war debts to the United States. These islands are considered vitally important to the national defense ot the United States by military and naval experts.

Demands for the acquisition of the British and French possessions will be an issue in the pending debate on the proposal of the Roosevelt administration to repeal the neutrality act for the undisputed purpose of assisting the Anglo-French alliance. Both Senators Clark and Lundeen announced that they would make major speeches on the subject.

Bill on Senate Calendar.

A resolution by Senators Charles L. McNary [R., Oregon], the minority leader, and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. [R., Mass.] proposing the acceptance of the British and French possessions, as well as strategic war materials, in part payment of their war debts, is pending on the senate calendar.

Senators Clark and Lundeen cited the Declaration of Panama, proclaimed yesterday at a neutrality conference of 21 American countries, as an illustration of the urgent necessity of taking possession of the British and French islands in the western Atlantic. This declaration provides for the establishment by the 21 American nations of a broad safety zone, in some places several hundred miles wide, in American waters. These waters are to be patroled to prevent belligerent activity by the air and naval forces, including submarines, of the warring European nations.

One Purpose of Patrol.

It is understood that one of the purposes of the proposed international patrol is to notify Great Britain and France of the presence of any German submarines. Although the proposed safety zones exclude the actual three mile limit territorial waters of the British and French possessions, their islands nevertheless will be protected since the safety zones completely surround the territorial waters.

Asked at his press conference today whether the appearance of belligerent vessels or the occurrence of hostilities within the safety zones would require action on the part of the United States, President Roosevelt said he did not believe such a situation would involve a question of war.

Senators Clark and Lundeen, however, take the position that the proximity of these belligerent possessions brings the European war too close to American shores. If any other European nation threatened the possession of these islands, there is no question that the United States would call it a violation of the Monroe doctrine and seize them in the interest of its own national security, Senator Clark declared.

Cite International Law.

Both Senators Clark and Lundeen contend that international law affords ample precedent and sanction for taking possession of the British and French islands in lieu of their unpaid war debts. Citing the precedent established by President Andrew Jackson, Senator Lundeen proposed that demand for payment of the amounts due, within a specified time, be served upon Great Britain and France, and that cruisers be dispatched to haul down the British and French flags if they failed to pay up.

Tells Thrilling Story of Two U-Boat Raids

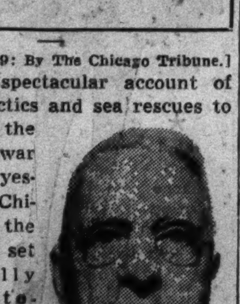
[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The most spectacular account of submarine tactics and sea rescues to come out of the European war turned up yesterday in Chicago. With the story came a set of unusually clear photographs of the dramatic events.



James Boyd.

James Boyd of Santa Monica, Cal., who told the story, watched the exciting saga for two days from the deck of a Norwegian freighter. He was clicking his camera as the freighter rescued the crews of two British tankers which had been torpedoed by a German submarine.

He heard the British sailors give three cheers for the U-boat commander, who had scurried about the ocean seeking a ship which would pick up their lifeboats and then had stood by until the seamen were safe. And from his perch on the captain's bridge Boyd saw the flash of cannon as the submarine and a British destroyer engaged in a night battle.

In Europe at Start of War.

Boyd, who is 72 years old and is a retired Chicago advertising executive, arrived here yesterday, en route to his California home. He plans to spend a week with his daughter, Mrs. Stanley Nickells, 48[illegible] Willow road, Winnetka.

He had been in Europe since April, and the outbreak of war found him in Northern Ireland. He and eight other passengers sailed for home Sept. 13 from Belfast, Ireland, on the Norwegian freighter, the Ida Bakke. The ship was bound for California by way of the Panama canal. At 2 o'clock the next afternoon the freighter was about 300 miles off Cape Clear, at the south of Ireland.

"We all were relieved to get out of Europe," said Boyd, "and we were talking about it. Suddenly one of the passengers shouted: 'There's a periscope!'

Anti-Aircraft Gun to Repulse Chicago 'Raid'

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicago's lake front will resound to the bark of antiaircraft guns and the crackle of machine gun and shotgun fire next Tuesday night, Oct. 10, when an antiaircraft exhibition will be held under floodlights on the 12th street beach in Grant park. The public is invited to attend this open air spectacle, which is sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in coöperation with the Chicago park district, the 202d coast artillery of the Illinois National Guard, and the Lincoln Park Gun club. There will be no admission charge.

The show will start at 8 p. m. It will feature an exhibition of antiaircraft defense against a high flying bombing plane, and a demonstration of skeet shooting, a sport that trains men in rapid fire defense against low flying strafing planes.

Experts to Shoot Pigeons.

John A. Marzall and William L. Bourland, officers of the Lincoln Park Gun club, said a team of expert skeet shooters will represent that organization in the show. White clay pigeons will be thrown from two traps placed on the beach. The gunners will be supplied with tracer shells. These 12 gauge shot shells are loaded with a fine shot and a tracer which burns in the center of the shot charge. To demonstrate the value of rapid fire guns against low aerial targets, the Lincoln park gunners also will be called on to shoot at scores of small balloons to be released above them.

The 202d coast artillery will use real ammunition with its three inch antiaircraft gun. Its target, representing a bombing plane making an attack on Chicago, will be towed by an airplane high over the lake. As soon as the motor of this plane is heard, big searchlights will be turned skyward to find the approaching target. Then the three inch gun will go into action to try to shoot it down.

Promises Plenty of Thrills.

"We're delighted to coöperate in this exhibition of antiaircraft defense," said Col. Charles C. Dawes, commanding officer of the 202d Coast artillery. "And we're going to make it as exciting and thrilling as we can by shooting real ammunition at an aerial target."

Col. Dawes said that at least 100 men, two big searchlights, one three inch anti-aircraft gun, two machine guns, and 1,500 rounds of ammunition would be used in presenting the show. The spectacle will simulate air raid defense work under wartime conditions as closely as possible, he added.

BULLETIN.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Oct. 4, Wednesday (AP).—An official Belgian statement today announced that twelve German soldiers had crossed the Belgian frontier in automobiles. They were arrested and disarmed. The statement gave no further details and left unmentioned the point where the border violation took place.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—Fuehrer Hitler, in conferences with his aids yesterday and today, discussed the future of the portions of Poland which he now controls. He instructed his colleagues to prepare for the creation of two distinct states—a new Poland under German protection, with its capital at Cracow, and a Jewish state in Warsaw, where he plans to settle all Jews in his realm.

Districts which belonged to Germany before the world war and a few adjoining strips of land will become parts of Germany, but the two new states will be given a certain amount of administrative independence and act as buffer states between Germany proper and Russia. This will leave only a small direct border between Russia and East Prussia, from the River Pissa to Lithuania.

Solves Jewish Problem.

Hitler and his aids believe this plan presents a solution of the Jewish problem since they intend to send all the Jews in Germany, Austria, the former Czecho-Slovak provinces of Bohemia and Moravia, and Galicia into the Warsaw district.

Nazi statisticians assert that there are only 108,000 full blooded Jews left in Germany. They do not expect that the Jewish state they plan to create will have more than 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 inhabitants.

Later, if the experiment proves satisfactory to the Nazis, they intend to invite Rumania and Hungary to send Jews they no longer want to this region.

How the population will be able to make its living in a district where there are few natural resources was not disclosed.

May Announce Plan in Speech.

Territories which the Germans occupy in Poland have a total population of 16,000,000. Of these, 8,000,000 live in densely populated Upper Silesia, in Posen and other industrial centers that the Germans plan to incorporate into their land. Five million Poles will be settled in what the Germans call the old cultural center of Poland, near Cracow, where there are sufficient natural resources to provide a good livelihood.

German economic circles are now working on the plan. Hitler intends to announce it in his reichstag speech, later this week, provided he finds it satisfactory after his experts have put it in shape in conferences tomorrow and Thursday.

It is asserted that Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former governor of the Reichsbank, played an important part in discussions for coördination of economic plans for eastern and southeastern Europe.

Hitler Studies British Stand.

BERLIN, Oct. 3 (AP).—Fuehrer Hitler and his aids tonight gave serious consideration to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's speech today, which Nazis interpreted as setting forth Great Britain's determination not to halt the war now.

The Nazi régime also followed closely the progress of the neutrality debate in the American senate and awaited a full report on the Panama conference, at which 21 American republics outlined a western hemisphere safety zone to insulate them from the European war.

The text of Chamberlain's statement to the house of commons was rushed to Hitler, who studied it with Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop.

"Several passages in Chamberlain's speech must be examined closely be-

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Oct. 3.—We did not get a complete picture of the war because nobody ever has a complete picture of the kind of war they make in our time, but we got a cross-section that will help you to understand it.

Col. Horace Fuller.

There were 10 of us American correspondents—and two fine American soldiers, Col. Horace Fuller, military attaché in Paris, and Lieut. Col. Sumner Waite, his assistant, and a French major, who was the kind of staff officer that war correspondents dream of falling in with.

The officers took us first to Verdun, the historic citadel of French military glory in the world war, and there they dined and wined us, pouring out many vintages that were drunk to warmhearted soldierly toasts. They showed us interesting things, a beautiful light mechanized division, Sunday afternoon entertainments in village canteens near Verdun, and a sharpshooting championship for tank gunners.

Through the Mud to War.

Instead of being grateful we were disappoint . Our major understood and did effective telephoning, so the next day, which was yesterday, we were routed out of bed with the light and taken out into the rain and the mud and given a chance to use the American army helmets Col. Fuller had dug up for us.

The major had carte blanche to show us everything we wanted to see at our risk and peril, and his. Thanks to him, we saw and felt all the contradictory things that go to make up war.

We saw, for instance, the 1939 equivalent of "all quiet on the western front," which is "activity of enemy patrols."

Trophies of the Fight.

We did not see the activity itself; it had occurred a short time before our arrival at a frontier village west of the Saar river and about half a mile from the outskirts of the village. We saw the results of the activity, however—a German automatic rifle, a land mine, some pistols and German grenades shaped like potato mashers. Then there was a steel helmet with a swastika on the side of it and a hole in front of it and blood and bits of hair inside it.

The Nazi owner of the helmet was in a hospital, where the French army doctors had done everything for him that they would have done for a French soldier—probably nothing at all—since the case could be diagnosed from the helmet.

Another German soldier who had fallen in the skirmish was getting treatment at the same hospital. So were a couple of Frenchmen from the French outpost which a German patrol had attacked.

Two other Germans were taken in the fight. They brought them past

War Time Premier Urges British to Study Peace Bid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The house of commons tonight witnessed the clash of the leader of one era with the leader of another when David Lloyd George, prime minister during the world war, counselled Neville Chamberlain's government against hasty rejection of any peace offers to end the present war.

Lloyd George said that after the week's discussions between Germany and soviet Russia and Germany and Italy "it is quite clear that somebody is going to propose, whether formally or otherwise, detailed terms for the consideration of this government.

"I think it is very important that we should not come to a too hurried conclusion. . . . Will the prime minister give the house an opportunity, if there are any detailed declarations in the course of the next few days, of discussing them?"

Turns Down Secret Session.

To this Chamberlain replied "no such proposal has yet come to us and I think it would be premature to build any hopes on the likelihood of any such proposal being made," however, "I see no reason why we should be in a hurry to give an answer to a proposal which appears to require serious consideration."

He continued, "I see no reason at all why the house should not have ample opportunities for seeing any proposals that might be put forward, for considering them, and for hearing from the government what they recommend the house to approve by way of an answer."

Chamberlain turned down Lloyd George's demand for a secret discussion in parliament of any peace proposal on the grounds that, despite all precautions, details might leak out to enemy ears.

"I think it is too soon to assume we are going to have a proposal of detailed and comprehensive character," Chamberlain added. "It is possible that such an offer might be of which no self-respecting government would consider."

Suggestion of Surrender.

On the heels of Chamberlain's reply, Alfred Duff Cooper, former first lord of the admiralty, leaped to his feet, vehemently criticizing Lloyd George's speech.

"Lloyd George's words will go out to the world with his name at the head of them as a suggestion of surrender," shouted Cooper.

When Lloyd George interrupted, "This is the first time in my life that I have been charged with surrender," Cooper said he meant to imply that the Welshman's words would be interpreted in Europe as surrender.

"We stand solidly in support of the prime minister, who has said within the week that we will make no peace with the present government in Germany," Cooper declared.

Sees "Hostility to War."

Supporting Cooper, Sir Morris Jones, Liberal supporter of the government, said: "I almost despair to think what the effect [of Lloyd George's words] will be in Germany."

The Laborite George Buchanan praised Lloyd George's courage and said he "never saw in 1914 anything like the hostility for the war that I find today."

The Laborite, the Rev. James Barr, said: "Some of my friends almost seem to say not peace at any price but 'war at any price.'"

The Conservative Sir Charles Gayzer said thousands of persons would like to know "exactly what we are to fight for" and declared Fuehrer Hitler already had lost the war by making soviet Russia "the dominant power in Europe."

EXPECT CONSIDERATION

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 3.—That the British and French will not turn an entirely deaf ear to peace overtures which may be put forth by Premier Mussolini appeared certain tonight after Prime Minister Chamberlain's weekly review of the war before parliament.

Chamberlain said there is nothing in the new Russo-German agreement that should cause England to do otherwise than to mobilize its forces, but a study of his words reveals that he refrained from saying that a discussion of ways to end the present struggle, which has not yet come to real military grips, would be turned down.

Chamberlain seemed concerned with generalities like aggression and the intolerability of mobilizing the armed forces every year.

Apart from that he stated, "Nobody desires this war to continue for an unnecessary day, but overwhelming opinion here and in France wants the rule of violence to cease and wants the word of governments, once pledged, to be kept."

The fact that there was no forthright declaration in Chamberlain's speech that England would reject reasonable terms of settlement of the difficulties which led to the declaration of the present war brought renewed hopes in some quarters that a major military conflict might be averted even at this late hour.

Chamberlain appeared much less trenchant than Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, who on Sunday declared Hitler started the war but he would not finish it.

The upshot is that whatever proposals Italian Foreign Secretary Count Galeazzo Ciano took back to Rome from Berlin may be communicated to London and Paris—if they have not already been communicated.

Halt at Prospect of Losses.

Peace intrigues held the stage generally in Europe today. The important and outstanding fact seemed to be that the prospect of the colossal destruction of wealth and property that a general war would cause is inducing even the most vehement ideologists to halt.

Chamberlain was emphatic in laying the present aggression at the doors of the Germans, but not the Russians, carrying out the line taken by Churchill in this respect.

Poland, Chamberlain said, was not the fundamental cause for England entering the war. He also repeatedly, directly, and by implication, appeared to be refuting that this country was responsible for starting the war or was dominated by warmongers.

"Nazi Promises Worthless."

"The responsibility for the war rests on those who conceived and carried out the policy of successive aggression." Chamberlain then added significantly, "No mere assurance from the present German government could be accepted by us." The Nazi régime, he said, had proved in the past that its pledges are worthless. "If, therefore, proposals are made, we shall certainly examine and test them in the light of what I have just said."

Chamberlain summarized details of the Russo-German declaration which followed the partition of Poland and referred to creation of the new soviet-German frontier. "It by no means follows," he added, "that arrangement will endure to the ultimate advantage of Germany."

The prime minister then turned to the passage in the Russo-German declaration about liquidation of the war. He said it was obscure, but seemed to combine suggestion of some proposal for peace with a veiled threat of the consequences if it were rejected.

Won't Bow to Threat.

"I can't anticipate what the nature of any such proposal might be," Chamberlain continued, "but can say at once that no threat would ever induce our country or France to abandon the purpose for which we have entered the struggle."

He redefined Britain's war aims as being to end German aggression "which menaced the freedom and security of all the nations of Europe."

Commons was crowded for Chamberlain's statement and from the diplomats' gallery, Ivan Maisky, the soviet ambassador to London, studied the prime minister's handling of the Russo-German enigma.

The opposition leaders, Clement Attlee and Sir Archibald Sinclair, had no criticism to offer on Chamberlain's pronouncement. Then Lloyd George rose to speak.

Might Cover Wide Range.

Lloyd George based his argument on the ground that the projected peace move might cover a wide range of world problems, including colonies, Czecho-Slovakia, disarmament, Italy's claims on France, economics, and other questions which would affect countries outside the present disputants in Europe.

"In my judgment if you had a conference it would be a first class mistake to enter it unless you invited not merely Russia and Italy but the United States of America as well," Lloyd George added.

He made much of the importance of friendly neutrals to the French-British cause and said the attitude of America, Italy, and Russia might decide the result of the war.

Asks Respect of Neutrals.

Although supporting the prime minister's declaration that the British couldn't accept the conquest of Poland as an accomplished fact and enter into peace with Hitler on those terms, Lloyd George emphasized that since the Russo-German declaration was issued last week there had been discussions between Russia, Germany, and Italy on more detailed terms for peace.

"I do not propose to do anything to weaken the hands of the government," Lloyd George continued, "but ask that the government pause and not be in a hurry.

"If a document comes from the Italian or Russian government, which, so far as we know, are both neutral, I hope the government will treat them both as neutrals. We do not want to multiply our enemies. We have as much as we can do to conquer one without adding two more. Let us take heed of what we are doing because we are entering on something which involves the whole life of our empire and the whole future of our people."

Might Serve as Brake.

He stressed the fact that if proposals come from neutrals they would be equally responsible with Britain in seeing that the terms of any agreement were implemented. This, he indicated, might act as a brake on any power seeking to violate the pact.

Urging that the British government had nothing to lose by taking its time to consider seriously any specific, detailed and broad proposals to end the problems which have been repeatedly cropping up in recent years, Lloyd George stated that a "merely patched up peace isn't of the slightest good. You'll only begin again. Therefore you must settle all problems that are menacing the world."

Lloyd George concluded with a complaint against decisions being taken behind parliament's back and with an appeal for a secret session of parliament to review the situation "when the prime minister gets a more detailed proposal and a proposal which is less suspected than the one we have got up to the present."

New Buffer States Proposed

Reports from Berlin indicate two buffer states may be set up in what was formerly Poland. One, which would include Warsaw, would be designated a Jewish state, and the other, with Cracow as its capital, a new Poland under German protection. Fuehrer Hitler plans to settle all the Jews in his realm in the new Jewish state.

fore authoritative reaction can be given from Germany," a Nazi official said.

[Chief among Chamberlain's declarations was the statement that Britain would not treat with Germany on the basis of mere assurances of the Hitler regime, but would welcome any peace proposals which would achieve Britain's announced war aim of ending German aggression.]

It was obvious that a grave view was taken of Britain's attitude and that Germany has made up her mind to strike hard and fast after Hitler explains to the reichstag later this week that Germany has obtained what she wants from Poland and therefore sees no reason why the war should continue in the west.

Nazis professed complete inability to comprehend the British stand. They said Britain does not want to quit and yet does not want to fight.

What They Mean by Fighting.

By fighting, they said they meant forthright attacks on German soil, not just an effort to shut off Germany's raw material supplies through a trade blockade.

That German submarines would attack every armed merchantman was made clear.

"The German navy not only will be entitled to, but will be obliged to break the resistance of such ships with all possible means," said the semi-official commentary, Dienst aus Deutschland.

"None regrets more than Germany that the English method is leading to unnecessary enlargement of the number of persons exposed to the dangers of war."

The statements of three American international lawyers to the effect that armed merchantmen must be considered war vessels were published widely here.

Seen as Upholding Nazis.

The opinions quoted were those of Prof. Edwin Borchard of Yale university, Prof. Charles Cheney Hyde of Columbia university, and John Bassett Moore, former assistant secretary of state.

The newspaper Boersen Zeitung said their opinions were "confirmation of Germany's right, if necessary, to sink armed merchantmen without warning."

Indications that the American congressional debate on the neutrality issue would last about three weeks were taken as a good sign in German official quarters.

"All traps involved in lifting the arms embargo thus can clearly be brought out for the American people," one source said.

"It eliminates the possibilty of railroading proposals through without the people knowing what they are being let in for."

Nazi officials said comment would be withheld on the decisions of the Panama conference until a full report is received.

War News Meager.

War news in Berlin, meanwhile, remained meager. Reports from the western front reported nothing except local artillery and reconnoitering activity.

News from Poland, where the last resistance was reported ended with the surrender of Polish forces on the Hela peninsula Sunday, was limited to reports that German troops were continuing occupation of Warsaw without incident.

The high command issued the following communique:

"In the course of Oct. 2, German troops marched into the fortress of Warsaw. The counting of war prisoners as well as the sorting of the large stock of weapons and other war material captured at Warsaw and Modlin is continuing. In the west, there was only minor artillery and airplane activity."

A DOZEN OF LONDON'S WEST END THEATERS MAY OPEN AT NIGHT

LONDON, Oct. 3.—About a dozen of London's west end theaters may soon be allowed to stay open until 11 p. m. instead of 6 p. m. as at present. Such a plan was submitted to the government today and approval is expected.

The west end area officially includes Shaftesbury avenue, Piccadilly, and the Strand, where most of the theaters are situated.

About 24 theaters are prepared to open nightly in central London on a system of staggered hours, half staying open until at least 11 p. m.

The wholesale shutdown of theaters as a result of the war has thrown actors, musicians, and stagehands out of work.

MUSSOLINI HIDES HIS INTENTIONS IN FOG OF SECRECY

Given Report by Ciano on Berlin Parley.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Oct. 3.—The Italian people were kept in the dark tonight regarding the outcome of Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano's talks with Fuehrer Hitler in Berlin and Premier Mussolini's future intentions. Ciano returned from Berlin this morning and reported immediately to Mussolini.

Up to a late hour tonight no official statement had been issued by the Italian government. This led to reports that the initiative for disclosing what took place in Berlin is to be left to Hitler in his reichstag speech later this week.

Met By Officials.

Ciano was met at the railway station upon his arrival from Berlin by a number of Italian officers, including Giuseppe Bastianini, undersecretary for foreign affairs and ambassador designate to London. The officials accompanied Ciano to the Palace Viminale, where the council of ministers already had been sitting for 50 minutes with Mussolini presiding. A statement issued after this meeting dealt wholly with internal affairs.

In British circles here it is expected that if Il Duce sponsors a peace plan, as he is reported to have been urged to do by Hitler, it will be carried to London by Bastianini when he assumes his new post there.

The outstanding feature of Ciano's visit to Berlin so far is the way the Italian press pointedly has talked about something else. Virginio Gayda, Italian editor to whom all Italy looks for authoritative tips on what is going on, wrote about the colonization of Sicily in his article in Il Giornale d'Italia. So did the leading editorial writer of La Tribune, another well informed Rome paper.

Play Down Ciano's Return.

Headlines did not exceed four columns on stories of Ciano's return and were noncommittal almost to the point of coolness. For the most part, they merely stated that Ciano returned.

This was a striking contrast with Ciano's return from his visit with Hitler on Aug. 15, when eight column headlines screamed: "One Hundred Per Cent Agreement on All Problems of International Policy. All Questions Examined, Including Danzig, Totalitarian Friendship and Totalitarian Readiness."

Aside from a brief notice of Ciano's return and a list of those who met him at the station, comment on his visit consisted of excerpts from Berlin papers. Some of these Berlin articles intimated that some action would be taken this week, with Il Duce in the leading rôle. But, it was noted with interest, even pieces from the German papers said nothing about complete identity of the views of Mussolini and Hitler, such as usually is the case after Italian-German conferences.

THOUSANDS PAY TRIBUTE AT BIER OF MUNDELEIN

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

All through last night a stream of somber people of all creeds, stations, and races paid homage to the late Cardinal Mundelein as his body lay on a catafalque in Holy Name cathedral.

That stream will be endless until notables of church, state, and civic life assemble from the four corners of the continent for majestic funeral rites beginning at 10:30 a. m. Friday. Cardinal Mundelein died in his sleep at 7:30 a. m. Monday in his home on the campus of St. Mary of the Lake seminary in Mundelein.

First Requiem Mass Offered.

Later Monday the body was placed in a solid bronze casket and removed to the seminary chapel of the Immaculate Conception, where the seminary community paid tribute to the institution's founder. Yesterday the Very Rev. Msgr. Reynold Hillenbrand, rector of the seminary, offered the first requiem mass over the dead prelate.

Uncounted thousands pressed toward the cathedral last night for the regular October rosary devotions. Amplifiers carried the service to the throngs unable to gain entrance to the edifice. In State and Superior streets they made the proper responses in the service, which was composed of litany and benediction of the sacrament. There was no choir for the service of simple beauty, but the entire throng on the street and within the edifice joined in the singing of the hymns of the church.

Sheil Leads Cortège In.

Late yesterday the body was escorted over the 38 mile route to the cathedral by the seminary community and the 38 priests the cardinal had ordained April 15. It was his last class. Bishop Bernard J. Sheil. newly chosen administrator of the diocese, led the cortége into the cathedral at 5 p. m. as he chanted intercessory psalms, blessed the body, and offered a prayer for the repose of the prelate's soul.

Crowds began to gather on the washed streets surrounding the cathedral as they made their way toward the dead cardinal's bier in front of the empty cardinal-archbishop's throne in the cathedral sanctuary. A detail of 40 police officers was assigned to handle trafic about the edifice.

In State street before the cathedral the pavement, torn in the work of subway construction, was completely resurfaced by workmen engaged all day at the task.

Automobiles parked near the cathedral were being cleared off the streets during the night in anticipation of today's press of mourners. The exterior of the cathedral is crêped in black and white. Within, purple and white streamers signify the loss of a prince of the church.

Clad in Cardinal's Purple.

The late cardinal's body is vested in the purple regalia of a cardinal archbishop who is about to offer the sacred sacrifice of the altar. His head lies toward the high altar. [In token of the rising of the resurrection, the prelate will face the congregation offering the sacrifice of the mass and the church's blessing. Laymen are laid the other way so that in rising they will face the proffered sacrament.]

The catafalque on which the bronze coffin rests was imported from Rome by Cardinal Mundelein several years ago. Used formerly in one of Rome's famed churches, this sacred podium has been used in Chicago for the burial of priests and other members of the clergy. Seven pews were removed from the center aisle of the cathedral to make room for the bier.

Miter Placed on His Head.

The cardinal's head is covered with a white miter placed over his zuchetto, or small red skullcap. His red gloved hands clasp the crucifix. Beside the body reposes the golden crozier, the pastoral staff symbolic of his former rank. At the foot rests the cardinal's red hat, which was bestowed on him in 1926 by Pope Pius XI. This hat is worn but once, and is used a second time only to rest on its recipient's bier. Later, it will be suspended from the sanctuary dome where it will rot away with time in token of the mortality of man and his works.

Three senior students from Mundelein college last night placed a private wreath tied with scarlet ribbon at the foot of the bier. Two vases of white Easter lilies adorn the high altar. Last night's honor guards at the bier were members of the Catholic Order of Foresters.

Complete Funeral Plans.

Bishop Sheil announced last night that the intricate liturgical plans for the solemn pontifical mass on Friday will be completed today. Otto Jelinek, park district trafic engineer, was completing his plans last night for the routing of the huge cortege following the funeral mass.

All during the day, messages of condolence were received by officials of the archdiocese. A statement from the White House explained that the pressure of official business and the international situation will prevent President Roosevelt from attending the rites. The statement explained that Capt. Daniel J. Callagahan, the President's naval aide, will represent him and present a floral wreath in the President's name.

Postmaster General Farley will arrive Friday morning for the services.

Lauded by Cardinal O'Connell.

Cardinal William O'Connell of Boston, dean of the Catholic hierarchy in the United States, yesterday stated that Cardinal Mundelein's death is a severe blow to the church and the nation. Cardinal O'Connell had not yet determined if his health would allow him to attend Friday's rites.

Final decision as to whether Cardinal Dennis Dougherty of Philadelphia would be able to attend was not announced yesterday. The Most Reverend Archbishop Amleto Cicognani, papal delegate to the United States, has announced that he will be present at the pontifical requiem, and under still tentative plans, will pontificate at the service. The preacher probably will be Archbishop John J. Cantwell of Los Angeles.

Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York, and his auxiliary bishop, the Most Rev. Stephen J. Donahue, will leave for Chicago on Thursday to attend the funeral mass.

Sheil Named Administrator.

Consultors of the archdiocese yesterday elected Bishop Sheil administrator of the archdiocese during the interregnum between the death of Cardinal Mundelein and the appointment of a new archbishop of Chicago by Pope Pius XII. His first act as administrator will be to celebrate pontifical requiem mass at 10 a. m. today at the children's service in Holy Name cathedral.

Bishop Sheil was born in 1888 on the west side and attended the grammar school of St. Columbkille's parish, Grand avenue and Paulina street. When he was 10 years old he served as altar boy at his parish church. He attended St. Viator's college, Bourbonnais, and was ordained to the priesthood on May 21, 1910.

Immediately following his ordination, Bishop Sheil was appointed assistant pastor of St. Mel's church, Washington boulevard and Kildare avenue, a post he held for the next seven years. During 1918 and 1919 he was chaplain at the Great Lakes naval training station, and in 1919 he was called to be assistant pastor of Holy Name cathedral.

Honored by Pope Pius.

In 1924 Bishop Sheil accompanied Archbishop Mundelein to Rome, and on the same day that the latter was elevated to the cardinalcy, Pope Pius XI. made Bishop Sheil a monsignor with the vatican title of papal chamberlain.

The following month Bishop Sheil was appointed assistant chancellor of the archdiocese of Chicago. It was during his tenure in this office that the 28th International Eucharistic Congress was held in Chicago. The entire planning of the congress rested with Bishop Sheil.

On May 1, 1928, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Bernard J. Sheil was consecrated titular bishop of Pege and auxiliary bishop of the archdiocese of Chicago.

Bishop Sheil's most notable work is the Catholic Youth organization, which he founded on Oct. 17, 1930. In recognition of the benefits he had effected among the youth of this city, King Victor Emmanuel of Italy decorated him with the Order of the Crown, which was awarded by the Italian consul, Giuseppe Castruccio, on Feb. 2, 1932. On May 17, 1938, Bishop Sheil was elected national head of the C. Y. O.

FURTHER BOOST IN CHICAGO MILK PRICE EXPECTED

Dictator Rule and War Costs Blamed.

A further increase in the price of retail milk in Chicago and its suburbs was foreseen yesterday by representatives of dairies and dealers as the only solution to a new crisis in the city's milk industry.

They charged that rising business expenses, caused by the federal price dictatorship and by an increase which the war caused in cost of materials used in marketing milk, are forcing dairies into the red. They indicated that present prices of 12 cents a quart for home delivered milk and 10 cents at store counters soon may be boosted by a cent a quart.

The present prices were established Sept. 8, eight days after the federal price control of the Chicago milk market was put into effect. Before the government entered the market home delivered milk sold at 11 cents a quart and that in stores was 9 cents.

Federal Control Blamed.

Walter Schaub, vice president of the Meadowmoor Dairies, Inc., one of the larger independent dealers, said federal control has created an artificially high price for wholesale milk which inevitably will result in curtailment of consumption.

An executive of a major dairy explained that class 1 milk purchased by Chicago dealers during September cost $2.01 a hundredweight [or forty-six quarts]. This was an average cost of 4 4-10 cents a quart. Early in July, before the government stepped into the market here, Chicago dealers paid $1.43 a hundredweight, or 3 1-10 cents a quart.

"In early July the condensery price [a price based on the average price of butter and cheese for the month] was $1.08 a hundredweight," the dairy executive said. "Dealers paid this, plus a differentia' of 35 cents a hundredweight for fluid milk, of $1.43.

P. M. A. Boosts Differential.

"Then in the latter part of July the Pure Milk association [the organization of dairy farmers in the Chicago milk shed] arbitrarily boosted the differential to 65 cents a hundredweight. As the condensery price had advanced to $1.10, milk dealers paid a total of $1.75 a hundredweight in August.

"The federal marketing order boosted the differential to 70 cents when it went into effect Sept. 1, and the condensery price jumped to $1.29. On top of this, the Agricultural Adjustment administration charged dealers 2 cents a hundredweight to finance the control. This brought the dealers' price to $2.01 a hundredweight. Now the condensery price has advanced again to $1.35½ cents, indicating a further rise in our wholesale costs."

Paul Potter, executive secretary of the Associated Milk Dealers, said dealer members of the organization have expressed concern over the steadily rising wholesale prices. Most of them have indicated that an increase in retail price is necessary. he said.

N. J. Cladakis, federal milk administrator for Chicago, denied the government was responsible for the price increase.

ALL OF CITY PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS TO BE CLOSED TOMORROW, FRIDAY

Because of the death of Cardinal George Mundelein, all parochial schools in the Catholic archdiocese of Chicago will be closed tomorrow and Friday. This was announced yesterday by Msgr. Cunningham, superintendent of parochial schools.

HOOVER PICKS EMPIRES TO BEAT GERMANY IN WAR

New York, Oct. 3 (AP).—The belief that British-French superiority, economically and at sea, makes their defeat by Germany impossible was expressed today by Herbert Hoover in an interview with Roy W. Howard printed in the New York World-Telegram.

The former President, who in a series of high official positions saw much of the inner struggle of the world war, summed up his opinions:

"If one surveys the whole front—sea, land, air, and economic resources—I am convinced the allies can defend their empires. The end may be victory for them. At worst it might be stalemate. I do not see any possibility that it can be defeat."

12 CONGRESSMEN OF STATE'S 29 IN THE WORLD WAR

Four Saw Overseas Duty, Survey Discloses.

BY PARKE BROWN.

At least four of the twenty-nine United States senators and congressmen from Illinois saw overseas service during the world war. At least eight others entered the army or navy during hostilities.

These facts were brought out yesterday by an inquiry prompted by the requests of many readers that THE TRIBUNE publish the service records of the members of the Illinois delegation who are expected to vote on proposed changes in the present neutrality law.

Telegrams Sent to All.

Personal telegrams were sent to all of the 29 at Washington and in almost all instances replies were received that verified and in some cases amplified what had been previously published about their wartime records.

Seventeen, one of whom is a woman, ineligible for military service, sent telegrams saying that they were not in the world war or remained silent after receiving the inquiries. This was taken as verification of previously published statements that they saw no service.

Records of Legislators.

The records of the 29 members of the Illinois delegation at Washington as far as they have been made public are as follows:

SENATORS.

Scott W. Lucas—Entered army on May 25, 1918; sent to Fort Screven, Ga.; transferred to Fortress Monroe, Va., where he attended officers' training camp and was commissioned second lieutenant in the coast artillery; discharged after the armistice.

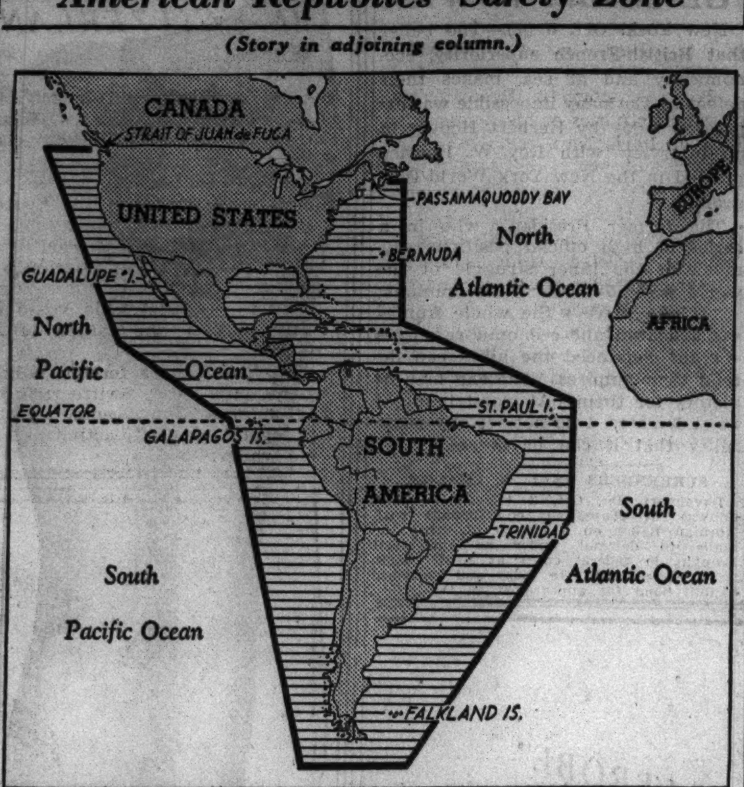
American Republics' Safety Zone

(Story in adjoining column.)



The ruled area is safety zone for neutral shipping laid about continents by neutrality conference of 21 American republics in Panama City. This zone is to be patroled by the American navies to keep neutral shipping free from hindrance by the belligerents.

U.S. AND 20 OTHER REPUBLICS WARN WARRING NATIONS

Demand Respect for Their Rights as Neutrals.

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Oct. 3 (AP).—The neutrality conference of 21 American republics adjourned late today with closing speeches stressing the new world's determination to keep the European war from spanning the Atlantic.

The conference, which opened Sept. 23, formulated and adopted a program designed to insulate the western hemisphere from the old world conflict.

The principal feature of this program is the safety zone for neutral shipping laid about the continents from the Maine-Canada border, around Cape Horn and north in the Pacific to the boundary between Canada and the state of Washington.

Navies to Patrol Zone.

This zone is to be patroled by the American navies—that of the United States necessarily undertaking the chief rôle—to keep neutral American shipping free from hindrance by the belligerents.

The 21 republics earlier in the day started formal notification to belligerents of their action.

At the suggestion of Sumner Welles, American under secretary of state, President Juan Demostenes Arosemena of Panama was requested by the conference to communicate to warring nations the neutrality declaration adopted last night.

The declaration asserted that neutral American republics have the indisputable right to preserve free from all hostile acts the waters adjacent to the American continents.

Failure of belligerents to recognize the zone would bring necessary measures to be decided upon after consultation.

It provided that American nations should not permit their inhabitants to jeopardize the neutrality of the western hemisphere by their activities, nor permit enlistments or preparation of expeditions in favor of belligerents on their soil.

Other Measures Listed.

Other measures said the nations:

1. Shall not permit their territories to be used as bases for belligerent activities.

2. Shall bar belligerent warships from their ports or waters in numbers of more than three at a time and permit their presence for not longer than 24 hours.

3. Shall demand that belligerent craft seeking hospitals in American zones respect neutrality laws and regulations.

4. Shall hold flights of belligerent aircraft over American territory to be a neutrality infraction.

5. Shall be authorized to station guards aboard belligerent merchant vessels in American ports and intern such ships for excessive delay in port.

6. Shall permit transfer in good faith and without resale of belligerent vessels to neutral American republics.

Bars Armed Merchant Ships.

7. Shall bar armed merchant vessels from entering their ports when the boats carry more than six-inch cannon on their prows. These vessels shall not have reinforced sides or other offensive equipment.

8. May exclude belligerent submarines, or admit them on the condition they enter afloat flying the flag of their nation.

All measures adopted were to be strenghtened by a general economic program to be drawn up by a permanent advisory committee to be located in Washington, D. C. A permanent neutrality committee of seven international law experts also was authorized.

CUTS RED TAPE IN EXPANSION OF ARMY AND NAVY

President to Ignore Legal Obstacles.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—President Roosevelt this afternoon announced that despite a conflict in laws he proposes to go ahead with the expanding of housing and training facilities to provide for the army and navy increases he ordered. The President ordered expansion of the enlisted strength of the armed forces when he proclaimed a state of emergency on the outbreak of the European war.

The plans include addition to the Great Lakes Training Station at Chicago for housing and hospitalization of men now being recruited. Additions will also be made to naval stations at Newport News, Va., Norfolk, Va., and San Diego, Cal. Barracks and hospitalization are to be provided at several army posts throughout the country.

Talks to Supreme Justices.

Mr. Roosevelt revealed he had broken a precedent by discussing the legal problem with Supreme Court Justices Felix Frankfurter and Harlan F. Stone over the week-end when they were guests aboard the Presidential yacht Potomac.

The conflict in laws, which the President also discussed with Controler General Fred H. Brown, arises from the fact that he is authorized by law to bring the army up to full peacetime strength in the event of an emergency, but forbidden to increase existing facilities without authority of congress.

Decides to Go Ahead.

In his opinion the President said the prohibition was not intended to prevent the nation's rearming in an emergency, but to guard against excessive construction in ordinary times. The controler said that congress will straighten the tangle out in January and he decided to go ahead with essential things, he added.

Mr. Roosevelt said only a small amount will be expended without congressional authorization as prohibitions do not exist against funds for pay, food, and clothing to the recruits.

The President authorized strengthening the army by 60,000 men, the navy and marine corps by 42,000 men, and the National Guard by 35,000 men.

FRANCO OFFERS GOOD OFFICES TO RESTORE PEACE

BURGOS, Spain, Oct. 3 (AP).—Gen. Francisco Franco said today that Spain stands ready to do whatever is possible toward restoration of European peace. The Spanish dictator made the declaration in an interview outlining Spain's attitude. This nation, he said, would strive "to be always ready to do whatever we can without limitations or reserve to reconcile the countries which today are fighting against each other." He added that he was hopeful that peace might be effected, but added that new formulas must be advanced as a working basis.

300 Interned by Canada at Camps in 3 Provinces

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 3 [Canadian Press].—About 300 persons have been detained, the prime minister's office announced today, in internment camps in Quebec, Ontario, and Alberta provinces on charges that they acted in a manner prejudicial to public safety.

agreed to pay the United States $5,000,000, in six annual instalments, on its claims for depredations against American commerce during the Napoleonic wars.

France failed to pay the first instalment, due one year after the exchange of the treaty ratifications, and President Jackson promptly executed a bill of exchange, or sight draft, upon the French government.

After repeated American demands for the subsequent instalments and effusive promises to pay by King Louis Philippe, Jackson declared in his annual message to congress in 1834: "It is a well settled principle of the international code that where one nation owes another a debt which it refuses or neglects to pay, the aggrieved party may seize of the property belonging to the other, its citizens, or subjects, sufficient to pay the debts, without giving just cause for war. This remedy has been frequently resorted to, and recently by France herself, towards Portugal, under circumstances less unquestionable."

Payment Is Forced.

In 1835 France agreed to pay up on condition that Jackson apologize for his message to congress. The United States thereupon made preparations for war. Finally Great Britain offered to mediate; the United States agreed to accept only upon its own terms—full and immediate payment, with no apology; France accepted and paid.

Great Britain today owes the United States 5 billion 427 million dollars, and France owes 4 billion 237 million dollars.

As part payment, Senators Clark and Lundeen propose that Great Britain be required to surrender Newfoundland, in the north Atlantic; Bermuda, 700 miles east of North Carolina; the British Bahamas, Jamaica, Barbados, Trinidad, and other West Indian possessions. Barbados and Trinidad especially are important for naval bases between Porto Rico and the South American coast to close an open gateway to the Panama Canal.

The senators propose that France be required to surrender Guadeloupe and Martinique, also located between Porto Rico and the South American coast, and St. Pierre and Miquelon in the North Atlantic.

British and French Possessions

Two senators yesterday proposed that Britain and France surrender their possessions in the western Atlantic to the United States.

SENATOR NORRIS ASKS ARMS SALE TO AID EMPIRES

Holt Declares Against 'Bloody Money.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.] declared in a radio address tonight that the Roosevelt administration wants to repeal the existing neutrality law for the purpose of helping England and France defeat Germany.

While Holt was speaking Senator George W. Norris [radical, Neb.], and administration supporter, declared over another radio network that "our sympathies, our hopes, our prayers are all with the British and French governments in this conflict." The pending administration bill, Norris said, "will more likely keep us out of the war and at the same time puts us on the side of humanity and civilization."

This was one of the frankest declarations yet made by an administration supporter in favor of taking sides in the European war.

Voted Against War in 1917.

One of six senators who voted against the declaration of war against Germany on April 4, 1917, and the sole remaining one in the senate, Senator Norris, now 78 years old, said he fervently believed that the administration's cash and carry program of selling munitions and all other war supplies to belligerents will keep us out of war. But he advocated assistance to the Anglo-French alliance as another compelling reason why we should take the step proposed.

"It is fair to say that our people do not believe in dictator governments, or in the barbarous and inhuman methods that are used by those dictators to increase their power and their dominions," Norris said.

"It is self-evident today that England and France, fighting with their backs to the wall, are fighting not only the battle of humanity and civilization but they are faced with foes ruthless and murderous in their dishonorable and unjustifiable procedure.

Called Civilization's Enemies.

"Hitler and other dictators are representatives of paganism, and are fighting to destroy religion, and to establish upon the grave of human freedom a despotism greater, more cruel, and more inhuman than any that has ever existed in the history of the world.

"They go on the theory that they are not bound to respect the rights or liberties of any one and that they have a right to capture and take by force any nation they are able to conquer. Their theory, if carried to its logical conclusion, means the destruction, the end, of our present civilization."

"If we are in the war to help England," asked Holt in his speech, "and most of those favoring repeal admit we are, then does any one contend we are going to refuse to sell to England when she runs out of cash? Does anyone doubt what the domestic condition will bring? Factories will have started on a war-time basis. When England runs out of cash, we will have to make the choice of closing the factories or selling on credit.

"You know what the action will be. We will take the next step. Then we are in the war farther and farther. Then we have a stake in this blood business. We want no blood-stained dollars."

LA FOLLETTE HITS MOVE TO REPEAL NEUTRALITY ACT

A vote to repeal the arms embargo is a step toward war and the loss of freedom in the United States, Philip La Follette, former governor of Wisconsin, said last night. He spoke from station W-G-N over the Mutual broadcasting system.

Philip La Follette.

"If congress scuttles the neutrality act by repealing the arms embargo," he said, "it will do so to aid one side in the European war.

"The moment we embark on the road to war we inevitably take on the trappings of dictatorship. As war lengthens the shackling of freedom becomes more absolute. After war the economic collapse which will follow may become the emergency to continue dictatorial powers and thus destroy Americanism itself."

Overcoat Shortage Hits Tommies—Sentries Cold

May Kill Credit Clause.

Senator Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], minority leader, took cognizance of the situation in the remark that "there seems to be quite a sentiment" in the Democratic leadership for abandonment of the credit provision. He thought "the public will not accept it, having been led to believe that cash and carry means cash on the barrel head."

After a meeting of noninterventionists in the office of Senator Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.], Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] announced that the fight against the neutrality repealer will be carried to the country in a series of addresses by Theodore Roosevelt Jr., Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth and Smedley Butler, retired marine corps major general.

Senator Borah's contention that the arms embargo is not contrary to international law, despite the assertions of President Roosevelt and the majority of the foreign relations committee, was supported today by an authority on international law, the Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, vice president of Georgetown university and regent of the foreign service school.

Denies Statement of Law.

"I protest as one who has given some attention to international law against the falsity of the statement in the committee report that any belligerent has the right under international law to purchase any article in any neutral country," he said. "That is a misstatement. It is absolutely false.

"I regret to see the truth abused by people in high places who ought to know better—and probably do know better," he continued. "If this embargo is to be repealed, let it be done on the merits of the case and not on the basis of any such Machiavellian skullduggery."

The pending neutrality bill involves more than the embargo issue, he declared, for the cash and carry provisions and the regulations involving American shipping constitute "a fundamental alteration of our foreign policy."

"The freedom of the seas, a cardinal principle of American history for which we fought in 1812 and 1917 . . . is to all intents and purposes abandoned by the proposed law," he asserted.

Racine, Wis., Oct. 3 [Special].—A claim of $15,500 was brought against the city tonight as a result of the death of William Mauger, 55 years old, killed Sept. 11 by a police squad car. Earlier today a coroner's jury exonerated Detective Rudolph Bergersen, driver of the car that hit Mauger.

ARMY ORDERS 329 MILITARY TANKS COSTING 6 MILLION

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3 [Special].—The United States army today ordered the purchase of 329 new military tanks, official circles revealed. The tanks, estimated to cost $6,000,000, are described as of the latest type. They will weigh nearly 12 tons each and cost $17,790 each.

This order marks the first move of the army to accelerate the mechanization of ground forces since the German drive into Poland demonstrated the efficacy of tanks under certain conditions in modernized war.

Many of the tanks now in the army are antiquated. A considerable proportion of them are holdovers from the world war. The army order is being handled by the Rock Island, Ill., arsenal and Col. Norman F. Ramsey announced there today that the American Car and Foundry company of Berwick, Pa., submitted the lowest bid for the manufacture of the tanks, which will be built complete at Berwick, except for guns and engines.

WATERBURY CITY MANAGER PLAN IS VOTED DOWN

Waterbury, Conn., Oct. 3 (AP).—Voters of this industrial city, scene of a recent trial which resulted in the conviction of Frank Hayes, then mayor, and 19 others on charges they conspired to mulct the municipal treasury of more than $1,000,000, rejected today a proposal to replace the present "strong mayor" charter with the city manager form of government.

The final tabulation showed: For the city manager plan, 10,513; against, 14,726.

GOV. CHANDLER IS EXPECTED TO SUCCEED LOGAN

Would Be Appointed to Fill Senate Vacancy.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3 (AP).—The capital tonight took for granted that Gov. A. B. Chandler would become the junior senator from Kentucky, succeeding Senator Marvel Mills Logan, 65 years old, who died early today in his home here.

Gov. A. B. Chandler.

Logan, a Democrat, was the victim of a heart attack after apparently recovering from an illness which sent him to a hospital several months ago.

Belief that Chandler would get the senate seat was based in part on the fact that he will step out as Kentucky's governor in December. The present lieutenant governor, Keen Johnson, is the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, and a Chandler supporter, and the Democratic nomination is equivalent to election in Kentucky.

Should Chandler, therefore, resign as governor, Johnson would succeed him immediately, and would be free to appoint Chandler to the senate. If appointed, Chandler would serve until a successor is elected in 1940.

Chandler, now 41, said in an interview on Sept. 22, that he favored repeal of the arms embargo. In 1938 he campaigned unsuccessfully for the senatorial nomination on a platform calling for balancing of the national budget. At that time he sharply criticized federal expenditures.

Logan had been an influential figure in Kentucky since 1910, when he became judge of his home county.

The senator was one of the leaders in the 1937 fight for President Roosevelt's court reorganization program and was listed as a supporter of the administration's neutrality bill.

FIGHT DEATH HELD ACCIDENT.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday at an inquest over Nick Reiter, 42 years old, a painter, of 3023 Logan boulevard, who collapsed after a street fight Sunday near Clark street and Armitage avenue.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—The White House has called attention to the fact that THE TRIBUNE on Sept. 24, in a story on President Roosevelt's activities at his family home at Hyde Park, N. Y., said that the memorial library he is erecting to himself is being built with government funds. The memorial is to be maintained with government funds. It is being erected from subscriptions being raised through the machinery of the Democratic national committee by a group named by the President. Prominent Democratic officeholders and federal jobholders have been solicited for funds.

MOSCICKI GIVEN PERMIT TO LIVE IN SWITZERLAND

BERNE, Switzerland, Oct. 3 (AP).—The Swiss federal council today granted permission to Ignace Moscicki, resigned president of Poland, and his wife to come to Switzerland to live.

Moscicki, formerly a professor at the University of Fribourg, Switzerland, obtained Swiss citizenship in 1908 and never relinquished it although he took Polish citizenship on creation of the post-war state. It was announced the Moscickis would live at Chandon in the canton of Fribourg.

Like every other foreign political refugee admitted by Switzerland, Moscicki automatically accepted a restriction against political activity of any kind while here.

TRIBUNE WRITER TELLS THRILLS OF WEST FRONT WAR

Finds French Fight Like Indians Among Mines.

us in a peasant's cart and lifted up the blanket so we could see them. They were both pleasant looking boys lying peacefully on their backs, but dirty and pitifully sordid, as corpses picked up on battlefields usually are. There was no scalp dance around the bier and no hate or disrespect of the dead was expressed. The French peasant boys in uniform who surrounded us just stared at the dead enemy with the mild curiosity that soldiers feel in such cases. Only two, but a sample of one important aspect of war.

Daily Skirmish Fought.

It was a fair sample, too, of the kind of fighting that has been going on in this sector. The sector is almost on the edge of the Warndt forest in the pocket west of Saarbruecken, industrial hub of the Saar basin, to either side of which the French have driven a salient, thus bringing most of the mining operations of the Saar basin under artillery observation, if not effective control, and menacing the town.

The skirmish took place in the forest. Similar fights are fought almost every day. Sometimes only a few shots are exchanged between a handful of men on each side, sometimes several scores fight a pitched battle in thick underbrush where land mines sprout underfoot like poisonous mushrooms.

It's Like an Indian War.

This Indian fighting in the woods is nearly always a dirty kind of fighting, with much animosity on both sides, and the mines make it worse. In their drive through the forest, the French, we were told, counted 6,000 mines, half of which have been cleaned up. They are so thick and so artfully laid that just moving about in the woods is torture for the soldiers.

On Sunday, for instance, 15 Frenchmen stumbled at close range upon a patrol of 40 Germans and stayed to shoot it out with them. They finally drove off the Germans, helped by the fact that four of them in the heat of battle had stumbled on one of their own mines and been blown up by it.

Mines Even in a Flower Bed.

A couple of miles away, on conquered German soil, we saw a freshly repaired spot in the road where a French cavalry patrol—they use some cavalry in the forest fighting—had crossed to get behind a German customs house and adjoining barracks of the frontier guards.

There was a mine in the road at that spot and it was exploded. Now, high above the highway, hanging from the branches of a tree, is a sweater that belonged to one of the Frenchmen in the patrol.

There are flowers in the little garden in front of the customs house, but the ground looks as if it had been spaded because the Germans had planted little mines along with the flowers. All this, no doubt, is small potatoes from the military point of view, but a terrible example of the horrible side of the war.

600 Yards Away—Death.

At this point, we were standing on conquered German soil in a poignantly silent landscape about as far up front as a correspondent ever gets. According to one officer who knew the sector well, the enemy—an enemy patrol—might be as near as 600 yards from where we were standing. We could not see, but we could feel its presence, and the thrill that comes from this feeling is as much a part of war as the two German boys in the cart.

In another nearby sector, back this time among the batteries, we had an even greater thrill, the kind of thrill that is one of the things that send men to war.

We came up through the thunder of some 40 French guns, 75s and 6-inch howitzers, set up in concealed batteries behind, above, and all around us.

Walking toward an observation point across an open hillside we could see the French shells bursting on a height some 3 miles distant where, we were told, a German pillbox was halting French infantry trying to advance up the hill. We could see the shells burst on the German position and undoubtedly the Germans saw us if they were looking.

"Will the Germans hit back?" somebody asked the colonel, who was guiding us.

"Of course," he replied, "maybe in a few minutes, maybe in an hour, maybe tonight."

That made it very interesting. A few minutes later another officer remarked, "That sounds like their stuff," as we heard a couple of crashes on a ridge back of us.

Fireworks in a Little War.

In the half hour or so that we stayed at this scene several hundred French shells must have landed on the German pillbox position and on an observation post 100 yards away from it. Considering that THE war has not yet started and that, as the French officers said, the French are just jabbing at the enemy to see how he reacts, this little fireworks display gave an interesting foretaste of what the real war will be like.

An officer of another sector told me that one artillery group had fired 6,000 rounds in a night for no reason that he could see.

It doesn't look like war and it only occasionally sounds like war, but it feels like war to the men who are fighting it. And French officers estimated that German casualties on the west front have reached a total of about 3,000, of which 500 to 600 are believed to have been killed. French losses, it was said, have been fewer.

On our way back from the front we were taken through one of the works of the Maginot line to give us a French version of how the real war of tomorrow will be fought. The fort was of medium size as far as personnel and guns were concerned, but, according to the captain who showed us around, it would take two days to visit all the underground galleries.

Battleships Sunk in Ground.

The Maginot line is a row of battleships sunk in the ground. The turrets, however, do not show as they do on a battleship except when the guns are firing. A hydraulic lift raises them before they fire. Mechanization not only increases the volume of fire but increases the output of fire per man and makes control of the fire from a distance possible.

Six hundred and twenty-five men manned this fort, but only a few handsful were near the guns.

This fort was armed with a few turrets of 75s, with a few 81 millimeter mortars, and with machine guns and anti-tank guns. It does not worry about enemy artillery; its mission is to hold up infantry with machinery, and it is because of the machinery that it needs so few men and not even very many guns to fulfill its mission.

FLATS SETTLE: FAMILIES FLEE.

Six colored families fled to the street last night when the flat buildings at 2025, 2027, and 2029 Walnut street suddenly settled 3 feet. Police ordered the residents not to reënter their flats.

GERMANS WIDEN ATTACKS; BEATEN BACK BY FRENCH

Nazis Hit Twice Near Saarbruecken.

PARIS, Oct. 3 (AP).—Spreading German attacks along the northern flank of the western front were reported tonight by the French high command to have been repulsed.

The high command said enemy surprise attacks were repulsed to the east of the Moselle and Saar rivers. Artillery action in the same areas was reported.

"Great activity" by patrols was reported during the night. Military observers, on the basis of the official communiques, said the Germans were increasing their pressure on French advance positions and shifting their point of attack.

Nazis Strike Farther North.

The Germans were reported yesterday to be attacking on both sides of Saarbruecken, central key to the northern flank. Today they struck blows at the extreme northeastern end of the flank in the Moselle river valley, which parallels the Luxemburg frontier.

Immediately in front of Saarbruecken the Germans held strong positions. Dispatches indicated the French were pushing their endeavors to encircle the city, which previous dispatches have indicated is three-fourths surrounded. German attacks reported today apparently were part of the Nazi's attempts to halt the encircling movement.

Surprise Attacks Reported.

The French general staff communique stated:

"Some enemy surprise attacks were repulsed to the east of the Moselle and to the east of the Saar river. Activity of the two artilleries in the same regions."

[The German high command reported yesterday: "In the west, there was only minor artillery and airplane activity."]

It was estimated tonight by the French that they have occupied 150 square miles of German territory, including 65 towns, since the start of the war.

French Report Air Superiority.

French sources reported France has lost only eight fighting planes in aerial combats over the western front compared with 28 German planes they said had been shot down. It was admitted several French scouting planes also were lost.

Aided by 200 American built Curtiss planes, the French said they established "evident superiority" in the first two aerial battles in the west.

Report Plane Opened Fire with Machine Guns.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 3 (AP).—Dispatches from Bahia, Brazil, today quoted a group of survivors from the sunken British freighter Clement as declaring that their vessel was attacked by an airplane firing machine guns as well as by a German warship.

A dispatch to the Meridional news agency said the warship which sank the 5,051 ton vessel off the Brazilian coast was the Admiral Scheer, speedy new 10,000 ton cruiser. The Admiral Scheer carries two airplanes which are catapulted from her deck.

The Booth-American line, owners of the vessel, said in London that all the 40 officers and men of the Clement were safe except the captain and chief engineer, who were taken prisoner by the raider.

But the Rio de Janeiro newspaper Oglobo, in a dispatch from Bahia, said 16 others of the crew had been seized by the Germans and that two of the Clement's four lifeboats had been found empty. The occupants of the third had been rescued by the Brazilian ship Itatanga, and the fourth not found at all, the paper said. The Itatanga took the 17 occupants of the third boat to Bahia.

Charge Threat to Sink Liner.

LONDON, Oct. 3 (AP).—The London Daily Mail said today a veiled threat to sink the new 35,700 ton Cunard-White Star liner Mauretania was contained in the news bulletin in the English language from Hamburg last night. The newspaper went on to say:

"The announcer mentioned that the Mauretania left New York on Saturday with only a few passengers and three guns mounted on her decks."

The newspaper quoted the announcer in Hamburg as saying "the British admiralty will no doubt accept the responsibility fo· this action."

Reports Bremen in Russia.

OSLO, Norway, Oct. 3 (AP).—A sailor arriving here from Murmansk asserted today that he saw in that Russian arctic port not only the big German liner Bremen, but also the German liner New York, three smaller German liners, and 15 German freighters. He said that 800 members of the Bremen's crew and 400 of the New York's had gone to Germany by way of Russia.

The $20,000,000 Bremen sailed from New York on Aug. 30, only 36 hours before war started in Poland and four days before Britain declared war on Germany. The whereabouts of the 51,731 ton German flagship has been a mystery since then.

The 22,337 ton New York sail from New York on Aug. 28.

Items Which Weren't Headlined in Recent War News

The last organized Polish point of resistance, the Hela peninsula, surrendered to besieging land and sea forces, the German high command announced. Eighteen soldiers in a Polish patrol boat ran a blockade of German ships and escaped to Sweden.

The French asserted they have exploded 3,000 German mines in the Warndt forest, opposite Saarbruecken, a territory taken early in the war.

Observers say that Germany's unexpected willingness to give Russia a dominant position in the Baltic sea is due to Berlin's desire to bring pressure on Sweden, which has been wavering between Britain and Germany.

The British air ministry announced that sixteen flyers have been killed, seven wounded, three are missing, and five are believed to have been taken prisoner since the start of the war.

Preparing for probable war needs, idle labor in Porto Rico is planting food crops on 21,000 acres donated by land owners.

Britain Plans to Set Up an Empire War Cabinet

LONDON, Oct. 3 (AP).—The Daily Express said today the dominion governments are being asked to send representatives to London to sit in an empire war cabinet. The paper said the empire war cabinet would be in constant consultation with Prime Minister Chamberlain's war cabinet.

German Girls Pick Herbs as Substitutes for Tea

BERLIN, Oct. 3 (AP).—German girls in their teens have found a place in Germany's war organization—as collectors of herbs from which a substitute for tea can be made. Real tea costs foreign exchange. Hence girls were urged to save the reich this expense by going in columns into the field and gathering, under expert supervision, birch, blackberry, strawberry and other leaves, and pansies and wild briar.

STALIN SUMMONS ANOTHER BALTIC STATE, LITHUANIA

New 'Nonaggression' Pact Anticipated.

MOSCOW, Oct. 3 (AP).—Soviet Russia rapidly pushed negotiations today with her small Baltic neighbors in order to strengthen her trade and military position there.

Meanwhile, the Turkish delegation, which arrived eight days ago expecting to remain but three days, was still here and spent the day seeing the sights of Moscow—outside the Kremlin.

Lithuania's foreign minister, Juozas Urbsys, was the latest in the growing list of diplomats summoned to the Kremlin's now famous night conferences with Dictator Josef Stalin and Vyacheslav Molotov, premier and commissar for foreign affairs. He arrived by airplane this afternoon.

Nonaggression Pact Hinted.

He went to the Kremlin tonight to see Stalin, following Foreign Minister William Munters of Latvia, who went there at 6 p. m. for a conference possibly to conclude a "nonaggression" pact similar to that signed last week by Estonia granting soviet sea and military bases in her possessions.

[A dispatch from Stockholm said ratification of the Russian-Estonian mutual assistance pact had been unexpectedly delayed. Today is the deadline for the formality. A Russian military mission, which was sent to Estonia, was said to have returned to Moscow without reaching an agreement on the soviet naval and air base question. It was reported, the dispatch said, that differences arose over soviet demands that Estonia supply bases other than those provided for in the original Moscow agreement of last Friday. These were to have been on the Islands of Dagoe and Oesel and at the mainland port of Baltiski. Estonia, it was reported, vigorously opposed all the new Russian demands.]

Observers felt the demands upon Lithuania would be lighter than those made upon Latvia and Estonia and would be concerned primarily with Russian transit rights. Lithuania already has a nonaggression treaty with Germany.

Hints Finland Is Next.

A strong hint that Russia might turn to Finland after having concluded her negotiations with the Baltic states was given in an article in the government newspaper Izvestia. In effect the article accused Great Britain of trying to use Finland and the Baltic states as a springboard for an attack on Russia.

"Aggressive European countries that concealed themselves under the mask of 'peace loving' have tried to convert these countries into their vassals and into a zone of operations for completion of their aggressive plans in the basin of the Baltic sea," the paper said.

Finland and the Baltic states were Russian before the world war. Observers felt the Finns, who had a large measure of autonomy under the czar, might put up more of an argument to Soviet demands than the Baltic states.

BRITAIN PICKS FRIEND OF DUKE OF WINDSOR AS NEW CHIEF CENSOR

LONDON, Oct. 3 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain in a new attempt to solve news and censorship problems, which have troubled the British government since the outbreak of war, told the house of commons today the press would be granted direct contact with government departments as before.

Sir Walter Monckton.

The new chief censor named to take over next Monday is Sir Walter Monckton, 48 years old, is a friend of the duke of Windsor and was his adviser during the abdication crisis in 1936. He also will supervise the central distribution of government news at the ministry of information which will continue on a less all-inclusive scale.

British press demands for direct contacts with government departments instead of all news being handled through the information ministry won recognition in the new setup—but censorship now becomes double-barreled. Each department head will be responsible for the news of his department, its censorship and distribution. At the same time the present central censorship will be continued.

U-BOATS AND RED MOTIVES WORRY SCANDINAVIANS

Baltic Sea Rimmed with Uncertainty.

BULLETIN.

OSLO, Oct. 4, Wednesday.—(AP)—Norwegian shipping brokers announced today they had been asked by the official soviet Russian agency to supply ships to carry cargoes of wood from the White sea to Great Britain and France. The president of the Norwegian Shipowners' association said Russia could get as many Norwegian ships as she wished.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 3 (AP).—Uncertainty rimmed the Baltic sea tonight. The Scandinavian countries worried over Germany's intense campaign to rid the Baltic of shipping which might carry contraband to her enemies and watched soviet Russia's aims and motives with anxiety.

A new element was added to the already puzzling situation in the Baltic by reliable Stockholm business circles. These sources said a number of Swedish and Finnish shipping firms had been queried by the Russian chartering central, "Exportles," about prices for shipping timber from the White sea to various English ports.

Nazis Seize Swedish Ship.

All previous reports indicated that Russia had abandoned timber exports to England. No authoritative interpretation of the reports could be obtained, but shippers were asking with interest whether Russia was planning to supply Britain with timber which the new soviet partner, Germany, has been treating as contraband.

The Swedish admiralty announced the capture by Germans of the Swedish steamer Themis, near the Danish island of Bornholm. The Themis was bound for Norway with a cargo of grain. She was in international waters as the commander of the Swedish destroyer Dale was informed by the German commander when he attempted to go to the assistance of the Themis.

Latvia Remains Calm.

At the same time the admiralty said that eight neutral ships captured yesterday included no Swedish vessels, but rather five Finnish, two Estonian, and one Norwegian. The admiralty announced yesterday they were all Swedish.

Reports from competent observers at Riga said the return of the foreign minister, William Munters, of Latvia from talks with soviet officials at Moscow was calmly awaited by the Latvian people, who were confident the government would be able to safeguard Latvian interests.

Reports from Finland said, however, that new, surprising developments concerning both Latvia and Lithuania might be expected within the next 48 hours.

Both Latvia and Lithuania have been discussing "trade agreements" with Russia, and Russia was expected to demand air and naval bases in Latvian waters to strengthen her influence on the Baltic.

ENGLAND LAVISHES HONORS ON TURKISH MILITARY MISSION

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Great Britain today attempted to match the Russian bid for Turkish support by greeting the Turkish military mission that arrived in London with lavish warmth.

The mission, headed by Gan. Kiazim Orbay, was welcomed to London by Field Marshal Lord Birdwood, who commanded the British forces against the Turks at Gallipoli during the world war, and Lieut. Gen. Marshall Cornwall.

Germany to Renew Three Commercial Air Services

BERLIN, Oct. 3 (AP).—Lufthansa, the German Commercial Aviation company, announced today that regular air service would be resumed tomorrow on the Berlin-Stockholm-Copenhagen, Munich-Venice-Rome, and Vienna-Budapest-Belgrade-Sofia lines.

JAPANESE ADMIT LOSS OF 18,000 IN FIGHTING REDS

Tell of Disastrous Battle on Mongol Border.

TOKIO, Oct. 3 (AP).—A war office spokesman announced today that 18,000 dead, wounded, and sick composed Japanese casualties in the four months conflict with Russian troops on the Manchukuo-Outer Mongolia border. He said the soviet-Mongolian losses were around the same figure. The fighting was ended by a truce on Sept. 16.

Conveying this information to the nation through the conference of the prefectural governors the war office representative admitted the fighting was "disastrous." He asserted that the soviet forces were not only numerically but also mechanically far superior to the Japanese. The Japanese reverses were due to the great preponderance of soviet mechanized units, he said, some of which had been brought from European Russia.

Europe War Causes Change.

He explained that the decision to call a truce resulted from Japan's policy of localizing the frontier incidents and the outbreak of the European war, which caused a change in the soviet-Japanese situation.

The spokesman said that only hand skirmishes took place in the early months of the fighting, partly because of the terrain of the area and partly because both sides possessed only limited forces.

Long Battle Fought.

"Late in August a large combined soviet-Mongol force, armed with superior artillery and mechanized units, launched an offensive which developed into a disastrous big battle," the spokesman said.

"In the Holumbair plain, which is entirely devoid of any cover, all kinds of modern war paraphenalia were used. Fierce fighting raged for ten days as the Japanese repeatedly counterattacked the enemy, which numerically and mechanically was far superior, and inflicted serious damage."

The spokesman claimed the soviets lost many tanks, planes, and armored cars. The soviet-Mongolian fighting taught Japan the necessity not only for more spiritual training but for better mechanization of the army, the spokesman concluded.

Bomb Japanese Air Base.

HANKOW, Oct. 3 (AP).—Carrying aerial warfare to the enemy for the first time in months, Chinese airmen today bombed a Japanese air base on the outskirts of Hankow, from which the Chinese were driven last October. At least 50 Japanese planes were destroyed at the Hankow airdrome, Chinese authorities at Chungking said. They said bombs from the eight raiding warplanes ignited warehouses and gasoline stores at the airdrome.

Changsha Drive Halted.

HONGKONG, Oct. 3 (AP).—Chinese military leaders conceded today that Japanese forces had advanced to within 15 miles of Changsha, Hunan province capital, but said the spearhead of the attack had been broken north of the city and the enemy driven back with heavy losses.

An army communique said the Japanese left wing, attempting to push toward Changsha from the northeast, had been halted yesterday by Chinese efforts to "divide and destroy."

NEW STREAMLINE CORPS FORMED IN AMERICAN ARMY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—Pressing forward with its reorganization program, the American army is formulating corps and general headquarters reserve organizations to go along with the new streamlined divisional organization.

The corps troops being organized will be part of the 4th corps, with headquarters at Fort Benning, Ga. The war department has not yet decided which divisions will be assigned to the corps, but it is expected that they will be the 1st division, with headquarters at Fort Hamilton, N. Y., the 2d, with headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and the 5th, with headquarters at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

The 4th corps will have, besides the three infantry divisions, the 13th field artillery brigade, and units of five antiaircraft regiments. Corps troops will include headquarters, a headquarters detachment, a headquarters company, two signal battalions, six ordnance companies, seven quartermaster corps companies, one medical regiment and one regiment of engineers.

Mechanized Cavalry Assigned.

The 7th mechanized cavalry brigade stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., and the 66th infantry, which is scattered at five forts, are being assigned to the general headquarters reserve.

When corps troops have been organized for the 4th corps, the war department plans to begin organizing corps troops for another corps which has not yet been selected. The organization of other corps will follow, and then the war department plans to perfect field army organization.

The lack of corps and field army organizations to handle the building of a modern fighting force has been looked upon as a serious weakness by military experts. The experts are gravely concerned over the slow progress in acquiring modern equipment needed by the land forces.

Won't Revamp National Guard.

The details for reorganization of regular army units into streamlined divisions were completed last week. The old, cumbersome division of more than 20,000 men, rather than the new division of 11,000, will be retained in the National Guard, however.

It was said by way of explaining this fact that there is a general opinion in the general staff that both light and heavy divisions should be available for the missions which each is best fitted to perform. It was asserted also that reorganization of the National Guard would involve many difficulties.

Officers said privately, however, that the army hasn't enough modern equipment to streamline itself, to say nothing of providing this modern equipment for the 235,000 men of the augmented National Guard and molding them into the new organization.

'INVADERS' TO TRY CAPTURE OF FORT GEORGE G. MEADE

Fort George G. Meade, Md., Oct. 3 (AP).—Infantry, cavalry, and tank units took positions today for the start of a combat exercise in which a mechanized invading force will attempt to capture Fort Meade from foot-soldiers and cavalry.

Commanders said the maneuvers, involving 4,000 men, were not planned with the recent Polish campaign in mind, but agreed there was a similarity. The "defenders," armed with comparatively antiquated weapons, may be aided by ankle deep mud resulting from three days of rain.

Conditions under which the troops moved in were called the "worst imaginable" by officials. The temperature dropped during the rainstorm.

Question.

Should young women take jobs in business for the purpose of finding husbands?

Where Asked.

Michigan boulevard.

Answers.

James Stevens, 208 East Superior street, student—I don't think many girls look for jobs with that in mind. But if they find a position and a husband too, I certainly don't blame them. I believe jobs often keep girls from marrying.

Mary Ann Fisher, 4049 School street, school teacher—Girls should not look for work with the sole purpose of finding a husband! They should seek jobs that interest them; suitable jobs they will enjoy. If they also find love — well, that's fine.

H. H. Hart, 350 North State street, salesman—Certainly not for that purpose alone. A woman can't be successful in her position if she uses it only for a stopgap until marriage. No harm, though, if the right man comes along.

Andrew Misthos, 172 East Superior street, driver—If a girl finds a man she really loves in her office, of course she should marry him. But she shouldn't take a job with the hope of finding a husband. Not many girls marry men with whom they work.

B. S. Nininger, Roanoke, Va., railroad man—It is entirely up to the woman. Some women do better work when they are trying to impress some man in their office. Of course, they shouldn't find a job just to find a husband.

Flies Nonstop in Tiny Plane from Rochester to Chicago

DIES CALLS CITY POWERHOUSE OF SUBVERSIVE ACTS

Prober 'Amazed' by Scope as Hearings End.

Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] of the congressional committee on un-American activities last night had amassed evidence which he says more than confirms his information that this city is the powerhouse of subversive energy and propaganda in the central west.

He disclosed that federal prosecution undoubtedly will result from the proof he will lay before the entire committee in Washington.

Gets Names of 2,000 Reds.

Chairman Dies said that his evidence includes:

1. Names and occupations of leaders in alien organizations who are in the pay of foreign powers.
2. Names and occupations of 2,000 of the 4,700 communists in the Chicago area. These include many professional men and government employés.
3. Methods through which they work to control, for propaganda purposes, many organizations that are not communistic in themselves.
4. Accurate figures on the strength and influence of communist, Nazi, and Fascist workers and sympathizers in this area.

Evidence Confirms Fears.

The evidence, much of which was seized in a series of raids shortly after he arrived Monday, reveals that the Chicago situation is far worse than he had been led to expect, Congressman Dies declared. He added that he is amazed at the extent of operations of subversive groups in the area.

"Communists have infiltrated the government," Congressman Dies continued. "There are communists in high positions. This is particularly true of the New Deal agencies, such as the WPA.

"Their espionage system, which could be turned into a sabotage ring over night, is powerful and widespread. I will have additional revelations to make in Washington. The alien groups are militant and their aim is revolution or civil war in the event this nation should become involved in war with another power. Their leaders admit their foreign connections."

This last was a reference to the questioning by Congressman Dies of communists, Nazis, and Fascists yesterday and Monday at his suite in the Palmer House. Hearings ended last night.

Mrs. Barr Tells of League.

Evidence against the League for Peace and Democracy was given yesterday by Mrs. Clinton Barr of Milwaukee, formerly of the league's national committee. This organization is merely a front for communism, she charged Sunday after resigning from it.

[Dies has charged that the league is communistic and that hundreds of government employés belong to it.]

A prominent witness of the day was Dr. Otto Willumeit, district leader of the German-American bund, with headquarters at 3855 North Western avenue, president of the German-American Business Men's association and owner of a publishing house.

Also questioned was Dr. Homer H. Maerz, who wore a lapel bow bearing the Stars and Stripes. He said he is now leader of the Dearborn Crusaders. He once was connected with the German-American alliance.

Quiz Silver Shirt Chief.

Hugo Eger, 7511 Stewart avenue, a member of the Silver Shirt Legion, was also quizzed.

The Silver Shirts, known as a Fascist organization, denied that they keep records, and the bund destroyed theirs before the congressional raiders arrived, Dies declared.

Dies said there are 60,000 Nazi and Fascist members and sympathizers in Chicago.

He released a partial grouping, by occupation, of the communist names that have come into his possession. This listed 514 milkmen, 161 radio workers, 144 newspaper men, 132 doctors, 129 theater people, 110 artists, 112 lawyers, and 120 who were decribed as having specialized employment.

A. F. L. SPEAKERS ASK END OF NAZI, RED PROPAGANDA

Demand Communist Party Be Liquidated.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 3.—Communism and Nazlism were assailed today before the national convention of the American Federation of Labor.

Lewis G. Hines.

Lewis G. Hines, secretary of commerce and labor of Pennsylvania, roused the delegates by declaring "the Nazi bund and the communist party should be liquidated immediately." Hines is a former organizer for the A. F. of L. He declared that Harry Bridges, chief of the longshoremen's union in San Francisco and C. I. O. director on the west coast, should be deported.

"We've had the spectacle," said Hines, "of Harry Bridges, with a sneer on his face, denying he is a communist and giving us a lecture on communism. In Pennsylvania a man has derided the President of the United States and extolled Hitler.

"If I were secretary of labor, I'd immediately deport Harry Bridges and find a way to strip Fritz Kuhn, head of the German-American bund, of his citizenship and send him back to the mad man of Germany."

Applause greeted Hines' remarks.

Reviews Hitler War on Unions.

A previous speaker, Gerhart H. Seger, described Hitler's destruction of organized labor in Germany. He said German labor has been reduced to a "nation-wide chain gang." Seger formerly was a member of the German reichstag and its committee on foreign relations. He now edits a weekly paper in New York City. He addressed the delegates in behalf of the newly formed German labor delegation in the United States, of whose sponsoring committee William Green is chairman.

Green, in introducing Seger, said the story of the liquidation of trades unionism in Germany brought into high relief the blessings of freedom, justice, and democracy enjoyed in America.

Roosevelt Pleads for Peace.

A message from President Roosevelt, urging that the A. F. of L. prepare to renew negotiations with the C. I. O. and continue them until a settlement is reached, was read by President Green.

"Perhaps the highest service we Americans can render at this time is to demonstrate that our personal liberty, our democratic ways of life, our free representative government, make it possible for us to disagree among ourselves over many things without bitterness and find quickly the means of settlement and adjustment of controversy when it has gone far enough," the President wrote.

The message dwelt upon the desire for peace in the labor movement, and continued: "And so I ask you, as I shall ask the Congress of Industrial Organizations in its convention a little later, to continue wholeheartedly and generously the search for an accord."

SORENSON COMPLETES 25 YEARS' SERVICE AS CITY TRAFIC ENGINEER

Leslie J. Sorenson yesterday completed a quarter of a century as trafic engineer for the city of Chicago. Among those to congratulate him was Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, who was mayor in 1914.

Leslie J. Sorenson.

At the age of 22 Sorenson was appointed on Oct. 3, 1914, as an inspector and assistant to the commissioner in the department of gas and electricity. [This department later became the department of streets and electricity.] He made a trafic survey [there were no stop streets nor trafic signals then] and asked the council for $5,000 as a year's budget for erecting signs reading "Slow-Danger."

"Mayor Harrison thought $5,000 was a lot of money for street signs, but he approved the appropriation," Sorenson recalled. "Today the department is spending $300,000 a year for surveys, sign, and signal installation and maintenance, and other related expenses."

Sorenson is president of the American Institute of Traffic Engineers and is a member of the executive committee of the National Safety council.

GERMANS INTERN 102 ENGLISHMEN IN OLD CASTLE

Sentinels with Bayonets Guard Prisoners.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—The German government has interned 102 Englishmen in the medieval castle of Wuelzburg for the duration of the war. The castle is located on top of a 2,000-foct hill above the town of Weissenburg, near Nuremberg and is surrounded by wide moats.

The prisoners, whose ages range from 15 to 65, include men from all walks of life. Among them are Jack Trevor, movie star who once enjoyed great popularity in Germany, and a boy of 15 who frankly complains that he "wants to go back to his motherland."

American Officials Pay Visit.

The Britons were arrested in all parts of Germany, including former Czecho-Slovakia. They went through an Odyssey before reaching the castle where representatives of the United States government and Jefferson Patterson, first secretary of the American embassy at Berlin, visited them.

A number of them were held for some time in a regular prison camp near Nuremberg. The camp was equipped with a stockade of double barbed wire and turrets where guards manned machine guns to prevent escape.

The prisoners live under better conditions now. They are quartered in four dormitories which have light rooms. There is a special room for Negroes. Sentinels march up and down the corridors with bayonets on their rifles. Some of the Britons are getting nervous from hearing the steady clank of the sentinels' arms and heavy boots.

Able to Contact Families.

Many of them are dejected. However, as a result of the visit by the American officials the captives will be able to contact their families and will be allowed to receive packages from them through the Red Cross.

In a number of towns the police did not allow them time to pack emergency grips. Consequently, they lack clothing, an especially necessary item in view of the severe winter in that region.

Three hundred and seventy-five East Indians of British nationality are suffering the rigors of cold weather in barges fogbound in rivers near Bremen and Hamburg. They came to Europe as stokers on German steamers and were caught in the war.

Actor Barrymore Drops Suit Against Elaine Barrie

New York, Oct. 3 (AP).—John Barrymore, the actor, today dropped his separation suit against his wife, Elaine Barrie. Elaine said the dismissal was merely a move to facilitate action on the divorce suit she has on file in California. She added that the action here did not indicate a reconciliation, and that she intends to pursue her plans for divorce.

TRUCKER ADMITS WPA FRAUD; SAYS THEY ALL DO IT

New York, Oct. 3 [Special].—Rodney Smith, 37 years old, a truck owner, pleaded guilty before Federal Judge William Bondy today to a charge of defrauding the government on Works Progress administration hauling contracts. He then asked for mercy on the grounds that the only difference between him and some of his competitors is that he "has been caught and the others haven't."

The government said that Smith not only collected about $20,000 from it on false vouchers, but also chiseled his employés, paying them an average of $3 a day instead of $6 or $7.50 as required by his 156 WPA contracts.

BUILDERS OF CHICAGO (15)

By CALEB

INTO a household of seven sons and four daughters, on June 24th, 1839, was born an eighth son—an event of tremendous future import to the city of Chicago—Gustavus Franklin Swift. The place was Sandwich, on Cape Cod, Massachusetts, where the elder Swift tilled a modest farm.

Young Gustavus Franklin instinctively saw the limitations New England farming imposed on a family of thirteen, and hired himself out to a Sandwich butcher. Soon he had learned the trade and was selling meat from door to door on his own. Next came a small slaughter-house, opened in Barnstable, Mass., from which he moved, at the age of 30, to Brighton, a Boston suburb, and worked for a J. A. Hathaway, with whom he later entered into partnership. Here, Swift did the buying in Buffalo and Albany, shipping his cattle purchases to Brighton for slaughtering.

Chicago, however, was even then becoming a name to conjure with in the meat-packing world. Swift decided to dissolve his partnership, and moved his family West in 1875. The firm of Swift Bros. & Co. was formed, at the Union Stock Yards, and Gustavus F. became its managing head. Two short years later, in the winter of 1877, he inaugurated a complete reform of previous methods, by slaughtering in Chicago and shipping the dressed meat by rail to New York. Criticism assailed this innovation on all sides; but Swift persisted, and to his timely aid came that sensation of the whole industry—the recently developed refrigerator car.

Immediately, Gustavus Swift pressed this new conveyance into use. Long-distance shipments were successfully made, and the foundations laid for an enormous business destined to achieve worldwide reputation. Eight years after his Chicago arrival, the firm of Swift & Co. was incorporated, with a capital of $500,000; and in two brief decades this capitalization grew to $35,000,000. Until shortly before his death, on March 29, 1903, the New England butcher's boy who had become a great packing magnate successfully directed all the company's affairs.

The boy of those earlier days had married, at 22, a Brighton girl named Annie M. Higgins, and the couple had two daughters and seven sons, the eldest of whom, Louis F. Swift, succeeded to his father's duties. Quiet interest in his home and church, with numerous charities inconspicuously directed to the relief of individuals and institutions, marked Gustavus Swift's private life; but forever associated with his name will be the gigantic organization which has since climaxed the venture of a Massachusetts pioneer onto the Western meat-packing scene, back in the last quarter of the last century.

NEW RULE PUTS BAN ON COUGHLIN RADIO PROGRAMS

Broadcasters Act in Midst of Neutrality Debate.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3 (AP).—A sweeping rule to prevent Father Charles E. Coughlin or other "spokesmen of controversial public issues" from buying radio time, except under strict limitations, was adopted today by the code committee of the National Association of Broadcasters.

The ban was applied in the midst of a hot struggle over neutrality legislation, in which Father Coughlin has been vigorously opposing the Roosevelt proposal to repeal the embargo on arms shipments to belligerent nations.

Public Forum Permitted.

After an all-day session, the code committee decided that:

"Under no circumstances will compensation be accepted by a station or network for time consumed by the spokesman of a controversial public issue, unless the spokesmen appear on a public forum type of broadcast regularly presented in conformity with the code as a series of fair sided discussions of public issues and when control of the fairness of the program rests wholly with the broadcasting station or network."

Officials of the association said its 437 members represented 92 per cent of commercial radio.

While Father Coughlin's name was not mentioned in the announcement, E. M. Kirby, secretary of the association, said that in the long discussion today Coughlin was mentioned repeatedly. Other names mentioned in the conference, he said, were Judge Joseph J. Rutherford of New York, president of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract society, and the Rev. Walton Cole of Toledo, O.

Accused of Church Attack.

Kirby said Rutherford had attacked the Catholic church and that Cole, who represents the Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice, had bought radio time to reply to all the public statements of Father Coughlin.

Association officials said they believed Father Coughlin may have contracts for radio time extending for "two weeks or so" into the future. The contracts can be fulfilled, they said, but after that the ban will take effect.

The committee's action is final unless a member station appeals to the N. A. B.'s board of directors and the board upholds the appeal. The action is in accordance with a resolution passed at the convention of the association at Atlantic City in July, under which a code was adopted and provision was made for the appointment of a committee to interpret and enforce it. The code went into effect on Oct. 1.

The committee, after declaring that free time would be provided for discussion of controversial public questions, "in accordance with the public interest therein," added that "all such scripts shall be required in advance, for examination in light of the code."

The committee also called attention to the religious section of the code, which says: "Radio, which reaches men of all creeds and races simultaneously, may not be used to convey attacks upon another's race or religion."

Chairman Issues Statement.

Chairman Edgar Bill of the code compliance committee issued a statement saying:

"In the absence of any self-imposed policy to the contrary, it is conceivable that some individuals or groups with financial means to do so could buy all the available time necessary to monopolize, dominate, or control the discussion of public issues through the radio medium, precluding a fair opportunity for an opposition without financial resources to present its case to the radio audience.

"Such a situation would pervert the function of American radio as a forum of democracy and would irreparably shatter the confidence of the public in the American system of broadcasting.

"In order to assure the American people for all time that such an intolerable misuse of radio facilities cannot happen, the code states that time for the presentation of controversial issues shall not be sold."

FEDERAL COURT'S FIRST MIXED JURY HEARS WILL SUIT

Trial of a suit brought by Willard C. Howe of New York, seeking to set aside the will of his father, Samuel J. Howe, for many years a prominent Wheaton attorney, was begun yesterday before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe.

The case is being heard by a jury of six men and six women, the first mixed jury in the federal District court. Women became eligible to serve on federal court juries, at the same time the legislature made them eligible for service in the state courts.

Howe left the bulk of his estate, amounting to about $70,000, to Northwestern university for the establishment of a memorial to his wife. He left his son nothing. The suit alleges that he was under undue influence and suffering from delusions of mistreatment by his son when he made the will.

PAINTERS' UNION BOSS APPEALS GUN CONVICTION

George Henneman, 36 years old, business agent and boss of the painters' union, appealed to the Illinois Supreme court yesterday to reverse his conviction in the Criminal court. Henneman was found guilty Aug. 2 of carrying concealed weapons and was sentenced by Judge John Sbarbaro to one year in the Bridewell and fined $100.

Henneman was seized in a tavern June 27 by policemen who said they were seeking filling station bandits. He had a pistol in his pocket. In his automobile, which was parked outside, were a pistol, a roll of adhesive tape, a pair of rubber gloves, and a type of gear shift handle sometimes used as a blackjack.

In his appeal Henneman contended that his constitutional rights were violated by the search and seizure. His petition will be heard in the December term of the Supreme court.

C. I. O. Auto Union Strikes at Cleveland Steel Plant

Cleveland, O., Oct. 3 (AP).—The CIO United Automobile Workers called a strike today against the Midland Steel Products company to enforce demands for an exclusive bargaining contract, wage increases and other concessions. Paul E. Miley, U. A. W. board member, said the major issue is the company's rejection of the union's demand for a 10 per cent wage increase. The company agreed, he said, to boost wages 5 per cent. The union claims to represent a majority of Midland's 1,100 employés. The U. A. W. held what is called a work holiday today, but Midland said operations were curtailed only partially.

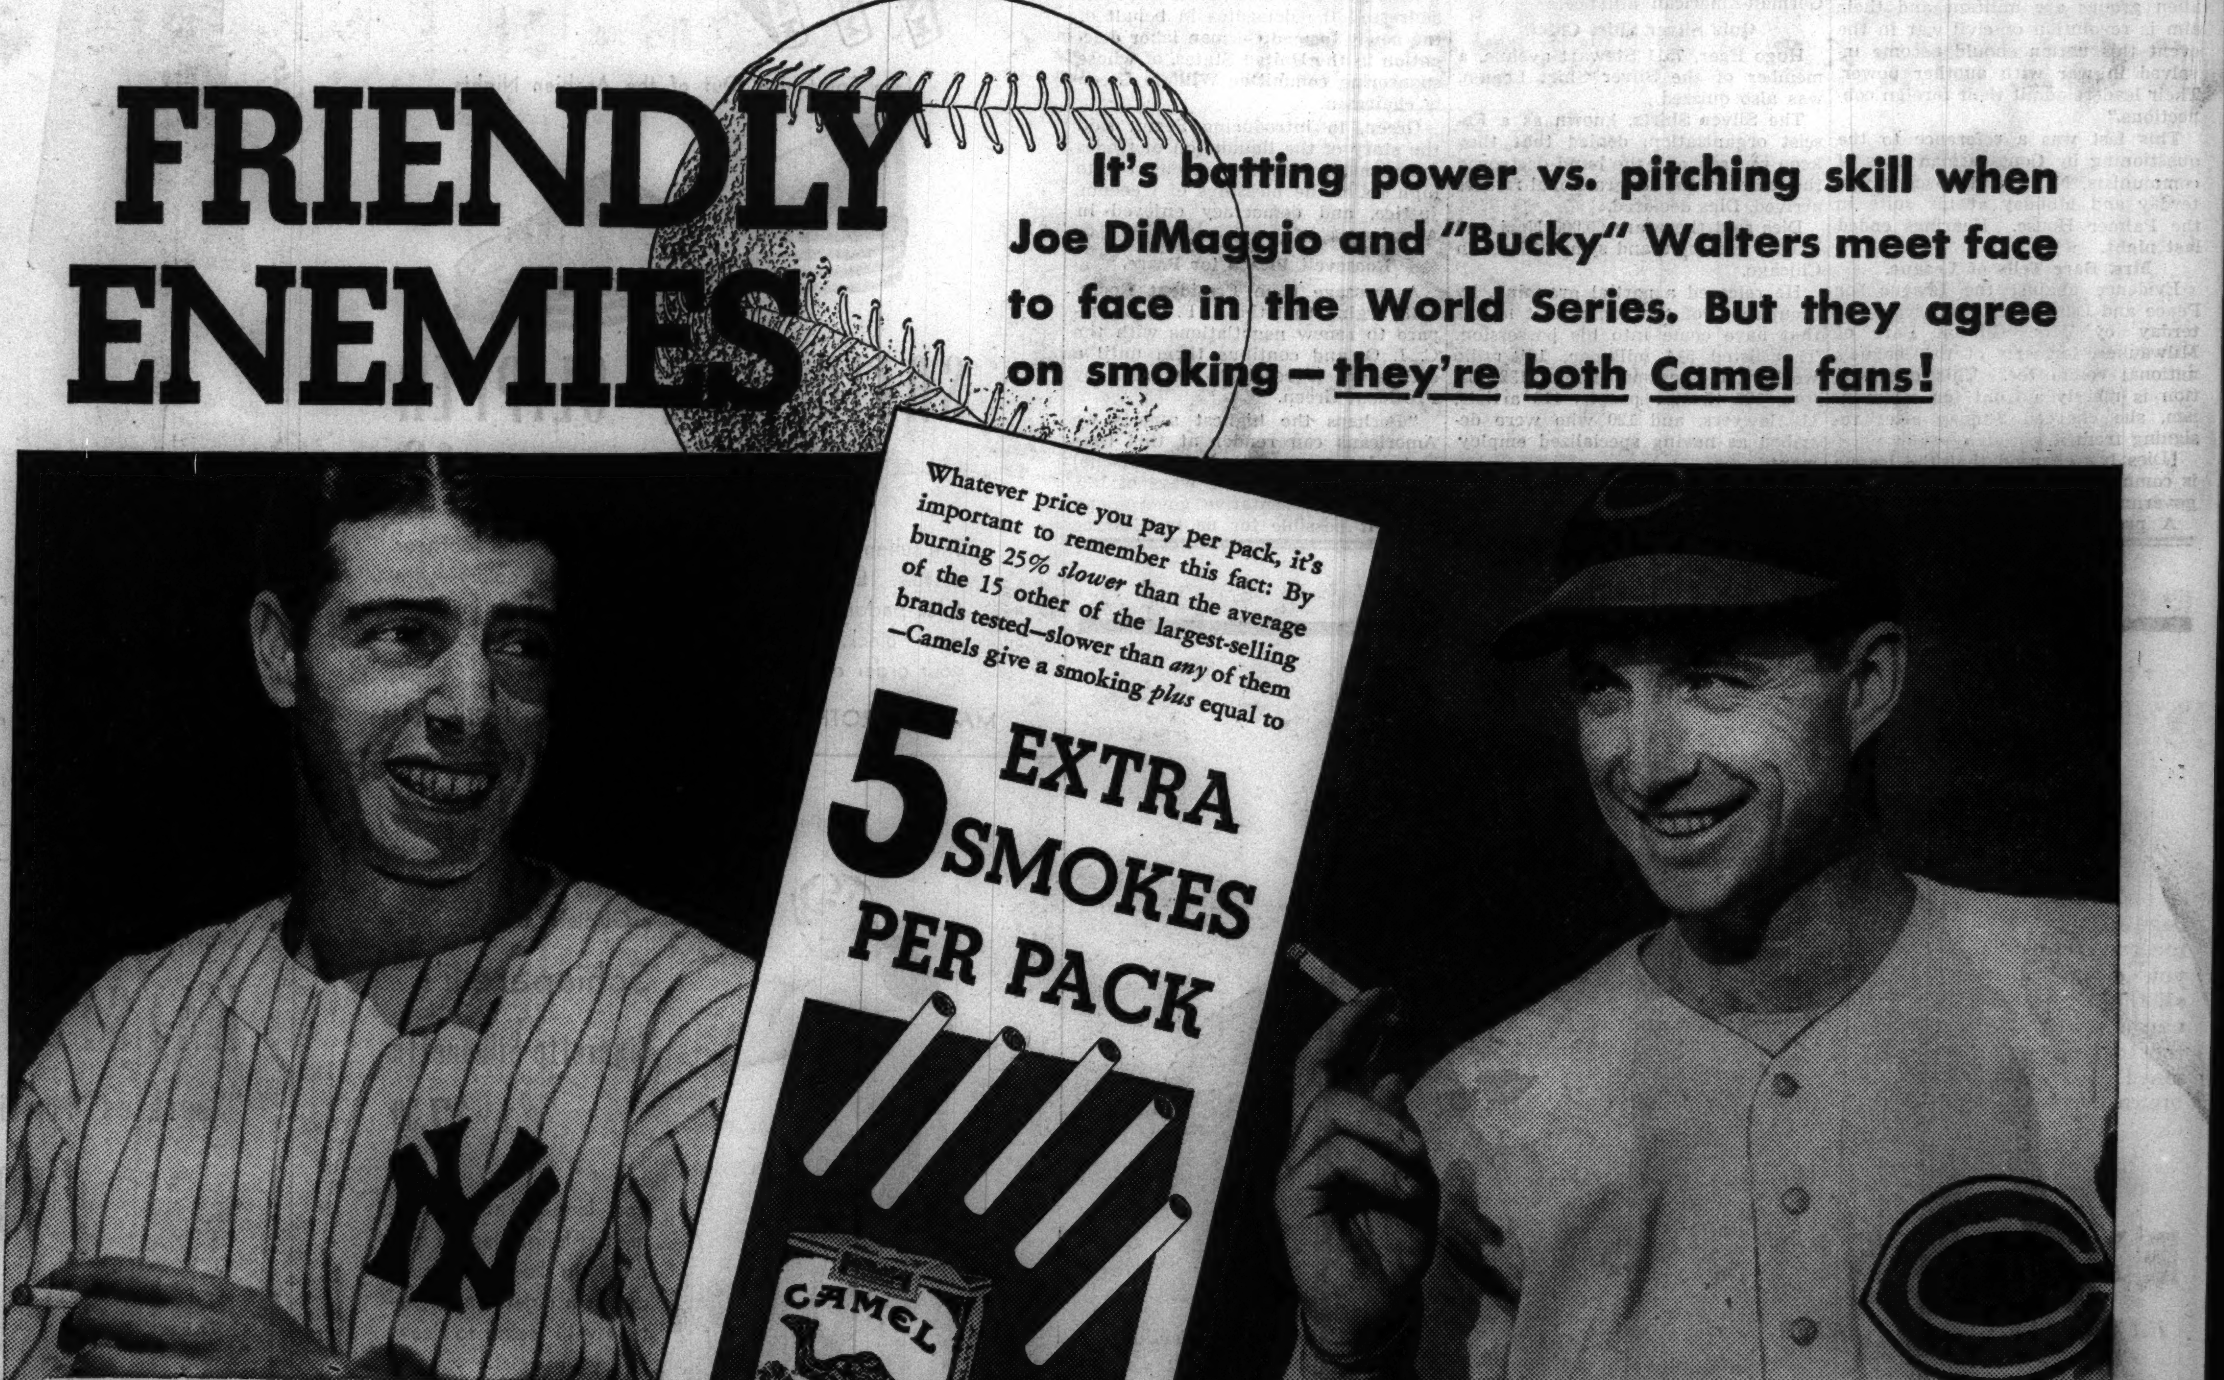
It's batting power vs. pitching skill when Joe DiMaggio and "Bucky" Walters meet face to face in the World Series. But they agree on smoking—they're both Camel fans!



Copyright, 1939, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N.C.

LEADING BOTH LEAGUES in hitting—the great Joe DiMaggio. Can "Bucky" Walters stop him? Joe's a tough customer any time . . . an old hand at this World Series business . . . been in three World Series . . . batting for an average of .301. And Joe's a stone wall on the defense. Whether Joe or "Bucky" comes out on top, a Camel fan wins either way. "I'm often asked about my favorite cigarette brand," Joe says. "Well, it's Camels. Camels are long-burning. They give me the economy of extra smoking per pack—a real saving if you're a steady smoker like I am—and they're milder, cooler, with a hearty flavor. 'I'd walk a mile for a Camel!'"

"BUCKY" WALTERS . . . No. 1 pitcher of the National League . . . a hitter likely at any time to win his own ball game in the batter's box . . . It will be one of the big moments in the history of baseball when Walters and the Cincinnati Reds meet Joe DiMaggio and his New York Yankee team-mates. "Bucky" calls himself a "dyed-in-the-wool Camel fan." He says: "I've never found any other brand—at any price—that gives me anything like the downright smoking enjoyment that I get from Camels. Boy, do they taste good after a long, hard game! Camels burn longer, and that means a nice bonus of extra smokes in every pack."

SONSTEBY TELLS PROPER GAMING RAID METHODS

31 Find Court Loophole Closed by Warants.

Following up his warning to policemen to get legal evidence in gambling cases, Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court last night described proper methods of making raids and arrests.

Justice Sonsteby.

"The judge cannot 'guess' a defendant into jail," Judge Sonsteby said in a radio address. "There must be legal evidence upon which a finding of guilty can be predicated or the finding of guilty will be reversed on appeal in the Appellate or Supreme court."

In his description of police methods, he said most gaming cases start with raids on suspected premises and the arrest of some one as keeper of a gambling house if evidence of play is observed. Occasionally patrons are arrested and equipment seized.

Explains Need of Warants.

"When the alleged gambling house is open to the public generally, no search warant is needed to authorize the police to enter," Judge Sonsteby said. "However, when it is not open to the public generally, a search warant is required to authorize the police to enter forcibly, make the arrests, and seize equipment as evidence.

"If the police forcibly enter any place without a search warant the equipment seized by them is not admissible in evidence if objection is made thereto, and a motion to suppress is made in apt time."

This is not idle ceremony, he declared, but is required by the bill of rights in the state constitution.

He said the bill of rights stipulates that a warant shall not be issued without probable cause, supported by affidavit, describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized.

Stresses Proper Petitions.

"Search warants can be obtained from any judge of the Municipal court," he said, "but should be obtained in the branch court to which the cases are returnable, or from the chief justice. Forms of petitions and search warants have been prepared. The petition for a search warant must conform to the requirements of the bill of rights and of the decisions of our Supreme courts."

He placed gambling cases in three classifications and described them as follows:

1. Where roulette wheels, chuck-a-luck, and dice are used it is usually behind closed doors and police must get search warants to legally seize the equipment. But, he added, the mere possession of such equipment in a gambling house is sufficient to sustain a finding of guilty against the person in charge.

2. Gambling known as "policy" or "numbers game" is also conducted secretly as a rule and search warants are required for a legal seizure of equipment. He said the court some years ago prepared for police a warant form for this kind of gambling case that has withstood every legal attack to date.

3. Bookmaking, generally confined to betting on horse races, is conducted either semipublicly or behind locked doors. In the latter places equipment should be seized with search warants describing what is to be taken.

Advises Arrest of Owners.

"When any gambling raid is made police should try to ascertain the name of the keeper or owner," Judge Sonsteby said, "and that person should be arrested instead of employés who have no control or direction of the premises."

He also said names of patrons should be taken so they may be called as witnesses. As soon as possible after the raid, he cautioned, the evidence should be turned over to city and state prosecutors so that it may be carefully prepared for the trial.

During the day it had become apparent that the war on gambling has already entered a new phase. The familiar excuse of "no warant" for dismissal of charges was not heard once while 31 defendants were arraigned in the South State street court.

Many more warants were issued during the day, and alleged handbooks at 169 West Madison street, 159 North Wabash avenue, 70 West Lake street, 34 South Halsted street, and 366 East 64th street were raided.

INDICT C. J. WIRTH IN WILL COUNTY'S $96,000 SHORTAGE

Conrad J. Wirth, former treasurer of Will county, was indicted at Joliet yesterday on three charges of embezzling county funds. The grand jury accused him of shortages aggregating $96,000.

Wirth was charged in addition with failing to turn over county funds to his successor, James C. Bell.

Judge J. V. Bartley of the Will County Circuit court set bond at $10,000, and issued a capias for Wirth's arrest.

Bell charged that there was a shortage when he took office last December. The county supervisors later ordered an audit which they said disclosed a shortage of $104,966 in Wirth's accounts.

Wirth insists that the county would actually owe him money if bad checks given in payment of taxes and I. O. U's. given by employés for advances on their pay were made good.

Police Marksman Levels at a Suspect, but Misses

Policeman Edward Jensen, an expert marksman, assigned to teach other policemen how to shoot, saw two men tampering with his automobile in front of his home at 4134 North Albany avenue, early yesterday. He called to the pair that they were under arrest. One man remained still. The other got into his own car and started away. He escaped, apparently uninjured, although three bullets from Jensen's pistol crashed into the rear of the automobile. The other man said he was John Cios, 22 years old. He gave the police a fictitious address.

3 Seized in Raid on Still Are Held to Grand Jury

Three men were held to the federal grand jury in bonds of $7,000 yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on charges of operating an illicit still. They are Joseph Mancuso, 545 West 63d street; Fiori Caccitalo, 516 West 26th street, and George Burton, 2943 West 71st street. The still, according to government agents, was in the basement of Burton's home. An automobile and truck being used to transport illicit alcohol and 8,250 gallons of mash were confiscated, the agents said.

CHARGE PERJURY BY CITY WORKER TO VOID AUTO BAN

False Swearing to Obtain New Plates Alleged.

The arrest of a veteran city hall employe on a charge of filing a false affidavit for automobile license plates after the state had confiscated his original plates and had forbidden him to drive a car was disclosed yesterday before Judge John Gutknecht in Trafic court.

The employe is George M. Strachan, superintendent of electrical maintenance men in the bureau of engineering of the department of public works. Strachan is 73 years old and has worked for the city for more than 25 years. He is under civil service with a salary of $4,500 a year.

Attorney Gets Judgment.

A judgment for $465 was entered against him last January by Judge John V. McCormick in Municipal court in a suit brought by Robert L. Darlington, an attorney at 105 West Monroe street. Darlington testified he was injured Sept. 26, 1937, when his automobile was hit by Strachan's.

Under the financial responsibility section of the state motor vehicle law, which went into effect in July, 1938, a driver's license can be taken from a motorist if he does not pay within 30 days a judgment in connection with an automobile accident.

Take Up License and Plates.

Strachan did not pay the judgment returned against him and John K. Segrave, supervisor of operators' licenses in the Chicago office of the secretary of state, sent him several notices to turn in his license. Strachan did not do so. Theodore Young, chief investigator in Segrave's office, located him and took away the license, warning Strachan not to drive.

On the back of the license was a notation indicating that Strachan had been convicted of speeding Aug. 9.

Young was informed on Monday that Strachan was still driving his car. So he took the license plates from Strachan's car.

File False Affidavit Charge.

Strachan filed an affidavit saying his license plates had been stolen and that he wanted a new pair. He was just about to receive them when Young arrested him in the office of the secretary of state at 334 South Ashland avenue.

Strachan was arraigned yesterday morning before Judge Gutknecht in Trafic court and was granted a continuance to Oct. 24. He is at liberty on $100 bond.

Strachan could not be reached last night, but his attorney, Edwin Hamilton, declared his client was not at fault in the accident and did not intend to pay Darlington's judgment.

"His car was hit by another one which shoved it into Darlington's," Hamilton said.

Bandits Looking Like Twins Rob Autoist on West Side

Two bandits who looked alike and were dressed in identical gray hats, sweaters, and trousers forced their way into the automobile of Ernest Koopman, 6142 North Hamilton avenue, at Harrison street and Ashland avenue last night. They made Koopman drive to 13th street and Hoyne avenue, robbed him of $26, his watch and a ring, and sped away in Koopman's car. Police later found it abandoned a mile away.

DICKINSON ASKED TO FIRE WARDEN AFTER 4 ESCAPE

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 3 [Special].—Gov. Luren D. Dickinson today was urged to demand the resignation of Marvin L. Coon, warden of the Marquette branch prison, from which four long term convicts escaped on Sept. 25 during parole hearings. The convicts were captured four hours later.

Marvin L. Coon.

The recommendation for Warden Coon's removal was made by Attorney General Thomas Read, who made a personal investigation of the escape. Read accused Coon of laxity and gross negligence in management of the prison.

Read charged Coon had been warned of the danger of a prison break while parole meetings were being conducted in an unguarded building. His report also alleged that Coon was lax in enforcing prison discipline.

Notified in Marquette of Read's recommendation, Coon said he would not resign.

Gov. Dickinson said he wanted more time to study Read's report before making any recommendation to the corrections commission.

DISMISSES SUIT TO UPSET WPA'S 18 MONTH RULE

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday dismissed a suit attacking new legislation enacted by congress for controling the Work Projects Administration. The suit was brought by seven WPA workers who said they objected to the provision that workers must be discharged after eighteen months on work relief rolls.

M. L. Hitton, 2342 Washington boulevard, one of the WPA workers, prepared the bill, which asked that city, state, and national officials be restrained from putting the new regulations into effect. Named as defendants were F. C. Harrington, WPA administrator in Washington, D. C.; Charles E. Miner, state administrator, and H. K. Seltzer, district director.

Judge Wilkerson ruled that Harrington is outside the jurisdiction of the District court here. He dismissed the complaint on the ground that Seltzer and Miner merely were following Harrington's instructions.

RECEIVER IN QUIZ TRIES SUICIDE IN LOOP HOTEL

Isador Ferguson in Coma; Condition Critical.

Isador Ferguson, 58 years old, a receiver in bankruptcy whose alleged fund shortages are under investigation by Judge William V. Brothers of the Circuit court, was found unconscious in a room in the Morrison hotel late last night. He was taken to the County hospital, where his condition was said to be critical. Police found in Ferguson's room two notes which his attorney, Louis L. Cohen, said he interpreted as indications that Ferguson had intended to commit suicide.

Isador Ferguson.

In the room Policemen Andrew Carroll and William Donovan of the First district found an empty bottle which bore the label of a sedative. The notes were addressed to Attorney Cohen, whose office is at 111 West Washington street. In one of them Ferguson gave directions for his burial and for disposition of his property.

Reported Missing by Family.

A few hours before he was found, Ferguson's family had reported that he had been missing since Monday and had requested that police search for him. After he was found his wife, Mollie, came from their home in the Webster hotel, 2150 Lincoln Park West, and identified him.

Hotel employés said Ferguson had registered about 9 a. m. Monday, giving his name as C. Stanley, Gary, Ind.

Asked whether he knew of any reason why Ferguson might have attempted to end his life, Cohen answered, "Financial difficulties."

"As you know, my brother, Edward Ferguson, only paid a small part of the premium so far," one of the notes said. "I think you should get a fee after burial expense is paid. Oak Woods [the name of a cemetery] preferable. No eulogy or flowers."

Suggests Division of Property.

The second paragraph said in part, "Mother should get $5,000, Joseph $3,000, and Mollie $4,000," and added, "Dora should get $1,000 and the rest, after your fee and burial, to Ed or his family."

The second note was more personal and contained a statement that "I feel I have, in this world, tried to do right."

Ferguson has been a real estate broker for 25 years. His offices are at 110 South Dearborn street.

Receiver in Bank Case.

Ferguson is receiver in the case of individual bondholders of the Noel State bank against Francis M. Lenney. Harry Okin, bondholders' attorney, said he would request the court to take disciplinary action against Ferguson. He said Ferguson had agreed to produce $1,000 of a $2,000 shortage in the case on Monday. Okin said the shortage originally was $4,500, but that $2,500 had been paid by a bonding company. Cohen confirmed this.

TWO DU PAGE COUNTY UNIONISTS ATTACKED; ARREST OF 3 SOUGHT

Renewal of labor violence in Du Page county was reported yesterday when two members of the Du Page County Building Trades union obtained warants charging three others with assault and battery. The charges resulted from a fight in front of the union headquarters at Wheaton after a union meeting Monday night.

Thomas Humphries of Downers Grove, business agent, and Fred Klein of Westmont filed the charges. They said they were attacked by Bernard Johnson of Glen Ellyn, Charles Crider of Downers Grove, and George Walters of Villa Park. Humphries suffered a broken jaw. He and Klein insisted they knew of no cause for the attack, although there are rumors of internal dissension in the union. Both Humphries and Crider have been involved in Du Page county labor troubles before.

JUDGE ASKS BAR QUIZ IN DIVORCE CASE TRANSFER

Judge Oscar F. Nelson asked the Chicago Bar association yesterday to investigate the transfer of a divorce case from his court to the city court of Calumet City. Chicagoans are permitted under a new law to sue for divorce in Calumet City, but Judge Nelson said he was asking the inquiry because the action "sounds highly irregular."

The case was originally a separate maintenance suit brought by Mrs. Florence Hales of Western Springs against Ernest G. Hales, an undertaker at 3615 Cermak road. It was dismissed Sept. 25.

Yesterday Robert J. Millman appeared before Judge Nelson. Millman, who said he is Mrs. Hales' attorney, told the judge that the day after the suit was dismissed, a suit for divorce was filed by Attorney Bernard Mages in Mrs. Hales' name in the Calumet City court. Millman said Mrs. Hales did not know until she learned of the new suit that the first suit had been dismissed. He said Hales' attorney, Benjamin Black, had suggested a transfer to another court, but that Mrs. Hales knew nothing of the new suit when she signed papers authorizing the change.

WITNESS JAILED AS JURY ACQUITS BANDIT SUSPECT

A jury verdict last night freed Stanley Zurek, 28 years old, of a charge of robbery with a gun. But one of the witnesses who testified in behalf of Zurek was in the county jail, accused of perjury.

Zurek was tried before Judge Joseph A. Graber as one of three men who on July 9 held up a liquor store at 1001 North Damen avenue. The jurors deliberated from 1 p. m. until 8:15 before giving him his freedom.

Al Trock, 23, of 2016 Wabansia avenue, testified he was with Zurek in a tavern at Division street and Damen avenue from 9 p. m. until the 2 a. m. closing hour on the night of the robbery. Statements of other witnesses contradicted Trock's testimony and he was arrested by order of Assistant State's Attorney John M. Long.

Long termed the jury verdict a miscarriage of justice. He said Joseph Howard, tried for the same robbery, was sentenced to a year in the county jail in August.

TRANSIT NEGOTIATORS WILL GIVE TERMS FOR 7 CENT TROLLEY FARE

Representatives of the transit lines today will propose to the city the conditions under which they will accept an initial 7 cent street car fare in a unified traction franchise.

The companies' three man negotiating committee will meet with Mayor Kelly and the committee on local transportation, headed by Ald. James R. Quinn [50th]. Tomorrow the negotiators will report to the federal court, which has jurisdiction over the transit properties, on the progress of attempts to draft a unified franchise. The negotiators are Walter A. Shaw, traction adviser to the federal court; Guy A. Richardson, president of the Chicago Surface Lines, and Col. A. A. Sprague, trustee of the elevated lines.

It is expected the negotiators will tell the city representatives that an initial 7 cent fare will be possible only if the city agrees to postpone extensions, pension payments to employés, and payment of compensation to the city for the use of streets until the new company's earnings are high enough to support such expenses. The negotiators have expressed the opinion that an 8 cent fare will be needed to support these expenses and make possible a reasonable return to investors.

CHARMER GROWS ILL, AND SO DOES COAST VISITOR

Edwin L. Ostrander, San Francisco art dealer, who has been staying at the Stevens hotel for two months, met a stunning brunette in the hotel's Peacock room last night. She said her name was Miss La Verne. They talked of mutual west coast acquaintances. She suggested they have a last drink at another restaurant. In a taxi en route Miss La Verne became faint and clutched at Ostrander for support. When the cab stopped the girl sent Ostrander to a drug store for some pills.

"When I got back the cab and the girl were gone," Ostrander told central police. "And so was my wallet containing $104."

WOMEN JURORS ONLY LEARN THE A-B-Cs OF FIGHT

They'll Never Know What M Really Said to S.

What every woman ought to know about curse words can be limited to what she might have picked up playing with alphabetical blocks in childhood, according to the view of Judge Michael Feinberg.

The judge was faced with a delicate problem yesterday in deciding just how much of what Eckard C. Martz said to William B. Schaffner, and vice versa, should reach the ears of six women on a jury in his courtroom in unadulterated form.

Schaffner, a retired cashier, 56 years old, was suing Martz, who is 50 and lives at 6424 South Karlov avenue, because of abuse and physical indignities suffered in a fight six years ago.

Woman Kept from Telling All.

Martz, then living next door, was painting a fence and slopped some paint on the bushes growing on Schaffner's property at 3733 West 65th street.

Mrs. Anna Petracek of 3737 West 65th street, an earwitness to the altercation, was about to relate without compunction what Mr. Martz said to Mr. Schaffner when the latter objected to having his bushes painted when Judge Feinberg interposed:

"Mrs. Petracek, if you please. There are ladies present."

The judge then held a clean-up-the-language conference in chambers, producing a satisfactory set of symbols for the actual words exchanged.

A New Alphabet Society.

"We will use letters," he said. "There are so many alphabetical agencies now that I guess we can stand one more."

So, as the jurywomen heard it, Mr. Schaffner said:

"What the H business have you destroying my bushes?"

To which Mr. Martz retorted:

"To H with your C bushes! I've taken all I'm going to take from you, you X Y Z of a Q. Stand up and fight!"

Mr. Martz then vaulted the fence and began sending Mr. Schaffner up and down faster than a Halloween bobbing apple.

The jury directed that M pay S $650.

ENJOIN SEIZURE OF PORTER ART FOR UNPAID TAX

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday issued a temporary restraining order preventing Sherif Thomas J. O'Brien from seizing and selling property belonging to Washington Porter II., wealth art collector, to satisfy unpaid personal property tax obligations of $50,318 for the years 1934 through 1937.

The order was requested by Attorney Louis L. Cohen, representing Mrs. Dorothy Farwell Kolb of Beverly Hills, Cal., who has a suit against Porter in federal court for recovery of $8,300 and a $2,000 diamond ring which she says she loaned him. Mrs. Kolb declares in her bill that Porter gave her a mortgage on are objects in the Kiosk Sphinx museum, 4044 Oakenwald avenue, of which he is chief stockholder, in return for the loan.

The museum has asked the court to restrain Mrs. Kolb from foreclosing on the mortgage, alleging she was offered payment and turned it down. Attorney Cohen argued that if the county seizes the art objects for taxes Mrs. Kolb's mortgage will be worthless.

CHAIN LETTER COUPON BOOKS HELD ILLEGAL

The Illinois Appellate court, in a decision yesterday, held that a chain letter system of selling merchandise coupon books was an illegal lottery. The ruling reversed an injunction issued by Judge William V. Brothers restraining the city of Chicago from interfering with the sellers, the Consumer Coöperative Sales, 300 South Wells street.

Under the plan, books were sold at $3 each. Names of purchasers were moved up on the list as other books were sold and prizes were given to those who reached the top. It was figured that it was possible, in some cases, for buyers to get as much as $768.

In the opinion, drawn by Justice David Matchett, it was ruled that the lure held out to the customers was an uncertain prize, and that when the enterprise reached an end a large number of persons would lose all they had put into it.

DICK TRACY—Customer's Never Right

WOMAN, UNAIDED BY FROZEN SLEEP, DIES OF CANCER

Mrs. Sarah Frances Larson, 43 years old, of 1714 Greenwood street, Evanston, who several weeks ago underwent a five days' "frozen sleep" treatment for cancer, died yesterday in St. Francis hospital, Evanston.

The treatment, which has had a beneficial effect in some other cases, consisted of placing Mrs. Larson in a specially constructed bed, where she was surrounded with ice packs and a flow of cold water which reduced her body temperature from a normal of 98.6 degrees to around 86 degrees. The patient sank into a state of hibernation in which all bodily functions except those of the heart and pulse were stopped.

Attending physicians at first thought the treatment had brought a favorable reaction, but the progress of the malady was not arrested. Mrs. Larson, the mother of four children, was a widow. She is to be buried today at Halder, Wis.

627,205 RECEIVE JOB INSURANCE AID OF $7,529,357

The division of unemployment compensation has issued 627,205 unemployment insurance checks for $7,529,357 since beginning payments on July 24, Martin P. Durkin, state director of labor, announced yesterday. Unemployed persons who earned at least $225 from insured employers during 1938 became eligible to apply for the payments on July 1.

The payments range from $7 to $16 a week and are given for a maximum of 16 weeks in one year. Residents of Cook county have received about half of the checks distributed, Durkin said.

He added that 18 per cent of all claims are rejected, principally because applicant did not earn sufficient wage credits in 1938. Up until Sept. 16, the last count available, 106,750 persons had been given checks.

Robert C. Davis, 31 years old, and his wife, Ida, today will continue their interrputed flight to Salt Lake City from Curtiss airport at Glenview. The couple arrived for the first time in Chicago on Monday evening, and when darkness caught them with fuel dwindling they made an emergency landing in the empty automobile parking lot just south of Soldiers' field and west of Leif Eriksen drive.

Park district police ordered them to stay, but released the ship early yesterday morning. Davis, who spent Monday rolled in blankets underneath his ship, safely flew it out of the lot about 8 a. m. yesterday and headed for Curtiss field. Mrs. Davis and he spent yesterday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Davis, 416 Keeney street, Evanston. Robert Davis plans to open an airplane sales agency at Salt Lake City.

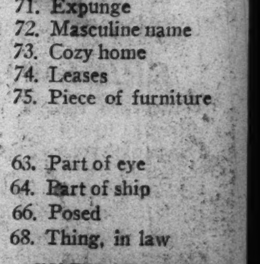
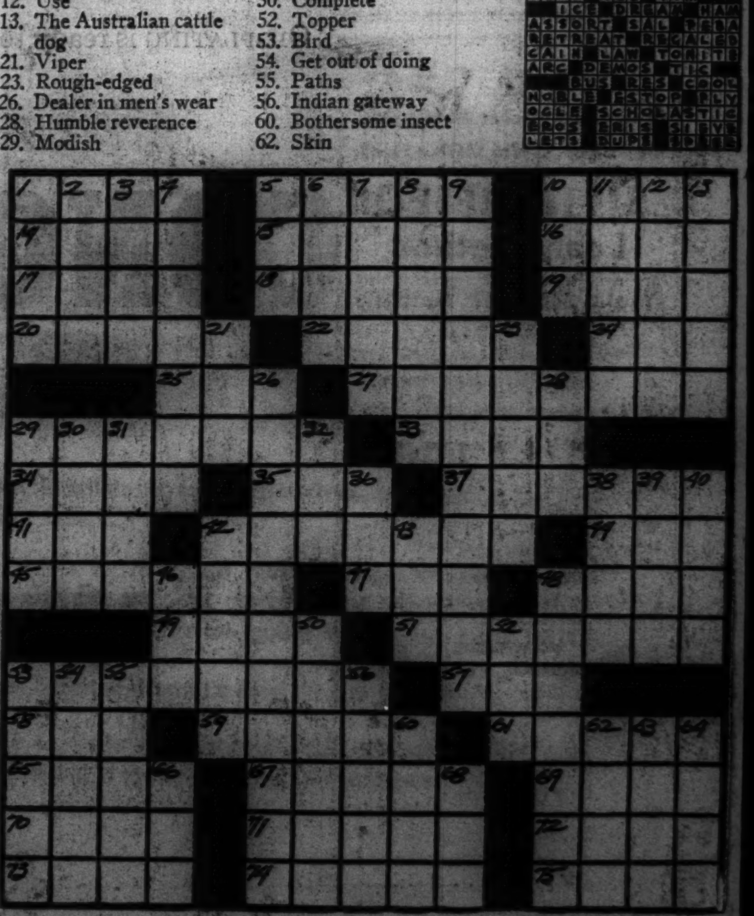
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





FILL JOBS OF ALL WHO DESERTED IN TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

Manteno Hospital Chief Tells Safety Steps.

Kankakee, Ill., Oct. 3 [Special].—Between 45 and 50 employés of the Manteno State hospital, who deserted their posts without warning when an epidemic of typhoid fever broke out in August, have been replaced, according to Dr. Ralph T. Hinton, managing director of the institution.

The hospital had 760 employés before the epidemic. Thirty-nine were stricken by the disease. Two of the 51 who died were employés. Between 385 and 390 patients and employés were ill.

Chlorination of water from hospital wells, the original source of infection, has checked the epidemic. Temperature of all patients is taken daily and those who have fever on two successive days are isolated in suspect wards, where they are kept until they recover or the typhoid becomes pronounced.

Traces Probable Cause.

State hospital wells easily could have been contaminated by a leaking sewer, Dr. Hinton explained, because the water table at Manteno is only 17 feet below the surface, in limestone. The hospital has miles of tile sewers. If a joint leaked the sewage then could follow fissures in the stone and reach the wells, he explained.

Charges that some state employés who contracted the disease were having to pay for medical care and in some instances not getting proper care were denied today by A. L. Bowen, director of the state department of public welfare, as well as by Dr. Hinton.

Bowen's denial was made in a letter to State Representative Robert J. Branston [R., Centralia] in reply to Branson's letter containing complaints of state employés.

Situation Is Being Remedied.

Bowen told Branson a survey is being made to insure the hospital a safe and permanent water supply, that the congested condition of the kitchen is being remedied by building an addition and that the state department of welfare will do all in its power to take care of the cost of medical services to all employés who had private medical attention.

Bowen's letter contained high praise for Dr. Hinton and his staff for the efficient way in which they handled the epidemic.

"The fact that the total number of cases has been held to within 6 per cent of the total population of 6,250," Bowen said, "is proof that the medical, nursing, and sanitation forces have done a very good job."

BABY SWALLOWS RAZOR; SUFFERS A SORE THROAT

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 3 (AP).—A 16 month old girl who swallowed three pieces of a razor blade appeared tonight to have suffered no greater inconvenience than a sore throat.

The child, Marilyn Yvonne Williams, found the blade while crawling on the floor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Williams. She put it into her mouth, where it was broken.

Surgeons at St. Mary's hospital used an esophagoscope to remove a centimeter-long fragment from the child's esophagus. The surgeons said X-ray photographs showed two more pieces in the stomach. They put the child on a special diet and expect these pieces to pass through the body.

RECKLESS DRIVER GETS FIVE DAY BRIDEWELL TERM

Edward Lawler, 36 years old, 2853 North Richmond street, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Joseph B. Hermes of the Safety court to five days in the Bridewell for reckless driving. He drove through a red light Monday at Ashland and North avenues and struck another car.

Garrett Welch, 33, 6512 Union avenue, convicted of driving while intoxicated, chose a $100 fine to 10 days in the Bridewell. His car collided with another Sept. 21 at 79th street and Merrill avenue.

Lincoln Park Zoo Arrivals

A Little Rhea.
[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Five little rheas, two hartebeests, and two Ellipsen waterbucks—no, it's not a bad dream; it's the roster of new arrivals on display yesterday at the Lincoln park zoo.

Señor and Señora Rhea, who are South American ostriches, became parents of a brood of five last week. They've named them Rita, Rhoda, Rosa, Robert, and Riley. Odd thing about rheas—the female hatches them, but Señor Rhea sits on them.

Jurors Award Damages of $8,000 in Trafic Crash

DRIVER SUFFERS HEART ATTACK; HAS CRASH; DIES

Apparently suffering a heart attack at the wheel of his car, Elmer Keedler, 46 years old, of 10512 South Campbell avenue, died in Englewood hospital yesterday a short time after his automobile collided with another at 69th street and Western avenue. The other driver, Harry A. Pinney, 1541 East 60th street, was not injured.

Harry Stuart, 13 years old, 431 West 59th street, died in St. Bernard's hospital early today of injuries suffered Monday when he was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile at 60th street and Wentworth avenue. The driver was Thomas Picciariello, 17, of 3528 Princeton avenue.

Frank Hababa, 54 years old, 4503 Fisherman's terrace, Lyons, a painter, died in Berwyn hospital of injuries suffered Saturday when he was struck by an automobile while crossing Harlem avenue at 39th street in Lyons. The driver was Miles Pezcher, 7922 45th place, Lyons. He told police Hababa stepped in front of his car.

At 4 p. m. yesterday Chicago had enjoyed twenty-four hours without a trafic fatality. At that time 637 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 491 were killed in Chicago, where 16,502 were injured in the same period.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests."—From the Farewell Address.

HOSTILE ACTS.

Photographs have been published of the Mauretania and a number of other British liners leaving New York harbor with naval guns mounted on their decks. The ships were permitted to sail for England without interference. Even before war was declared in Europe the German liner Bremen was held in New York for several days while a leisurely search was conducted, on orders from Washington, to ascertain whether the Bremen carried any armament. None was found and the ship was finally permitted to depart. It was clearly intimated that if guns had been found the Bremen would have been held in port, or at least required to post bond for its good behavior.

In further pursuance of its so-called policy of neutrality, our government has undertaken to patrol the waters several hundred miles off our Atlantic coast to prevent any commerce raiding in that area. This is something new in international law. It has generally been assumed hitherto that territorial waters extended only a few miles from the coast. Mr. Roosevelt has added a couple of hundred. The cash-and-carry policy has already been converted, as Senator Borah said, to a credit-and-carry policy and is on the way to becoming a credit-and-convoy policy.

These are all provocative steps, likely at any moment to produce retaliations such as the torpedoing of one of our destroyers, which, in turn, might lead to further provocations until we found ourselves again involved in a European war. It may be said that cash and carry is a step in the opposite direction, for it will tend to keep American ships and sailors out of the war zone where injury to them might become an excuse for war. Precisely for that reason there is little or no opposition, as Mr. Borah said, to the cash and carry plan, but it should not be forgotten that our merchant marine is small and, because of Stalin's influence among our seamen, none too reliable from the viewpoint of the allies, and in any event its removal from the European trade will have no appreciable effect upon the volume of our exports or imports.

The emphasis which the Pittmanites are placing upon cash and carry can be described as a bright little argument intended to distract attention from the fact that the repeal of the arms embargo will be looked upon by Germany as a hostile act. No one can foresee in detail the consequences in the months and years ahead of this and our other acts of partisanship, but it is altogether certain that they will be resented, and bitterly resented. We cannot expect to stay out of Europe's war by taking sides in it. If we allow our detestation of Hitler and Fascism to lead us into overt acts we must expect to face the consequences.

TIME TO BURY THE MISTAKE.

Of the three armies that started fighting on the western front in 1914, the French alone were unprovided with a field howitzer. Even at that date the British had a 4.5 inch howitzer, the Germans a 105 millimeter weapon, the two bores being approximately the same.

The French had no howitzers for two reasons. The army had been unable to get funds to purchase them, and exaggerated faith was placed in the 75 millimeter field gun. The 75 was the best field gun of the day. Battle experience proved, however, that the larger howitzer was a far superior weapon.

The French were so well convinced on this point that after the war they sold 3,000 of their 75s to the United States army. If they hadn't found a sucker in Uncle Sam they would have had to dispose of them to some second hand munitions dealer, who would have peddled them to the minor powers and revolutionists of the world. The guns were obsolete when we bought them.

The field gun had one advantage over the howitzer. It was lighter. This was an important factor when guns were drawn by horses. It is negligible today, with motor traction and transport.

The American army has spent millions of dollars trying to modernize the white elephants that the French sawed off on us. Its modernized 75 is a vast improvement over the guns we bought, but it is still far inferior to the 105 millimeter howitzer that the army has developed.

The latter outranges the 75. Because it has a higher angle of fire, it throws a heavier shell, with far greater destructive power. Also because of its higher angle of fire it uses a lighter propelling charge, with the result that it does not wear out as quickly. It can be fired as fast and moved as fast as the field gun.

European armies are shifting from the 75 and similar field guns to 105 millimeter or 4.5 inch howitzers. It is time that our own army buried the mistake of a board of generals long out of service, and followed suit. An inferior weapon should not be forced on our unfortunate soldiers to justify that mistake.

THE BUSINESS BOOM.

The steel industry this week is operating at 87 per cent of capacity. Allowing for the increase in capacity during the last few years, 87 per cent operation represents a greater rate of tonnage output than ever before. Since the outbreak of the war the operating rate has come up from 60 per cent.

Automobile production has risen to the best autumn level in history. The textile mills are the busiest in years. And so it is with a wide range of industry. Counting the orders already on the books, it is now forecast that the total amount of goods manufactured in this country this month will equal the best previous mark. The index is expected to hit 118, compared with 100 when the war broke out and 92 in June.

The war has given us a little boom. But the extra business has not come from the warring countries. The buying has developed in anticipation of soaring prices when the belligerents place their orders. Inventories had been allowed to run down to the lowest point in a long time. Domestic stocking up brought about the rise in business and prices. The larger amount of goods to be moved boosted the business of railroads, and they have been placing orders for equipment. Their purchases, on credit, have lifted business further. A pickup in business is always infectious for a time.

Since the big increase in business has been due to inventory replenishment because of the fear of a price rise, it may be expected that when inventories get back to where they were, say in 1937, production will taper off unless there is a new stimulation. To maintain the rate of expansion recently experienced, or even to continue at the attained rate of operations, there will have to be large orders from Great Britain and France. If the war is called off the relapse is likely to be swift and substantial. Hence, the stock market is paying more attention to the European diplomatic developments than to the bulge in the business indexes. A report of negotiations for settlement is referred to as a "peace scare." It just goes to show how a country can acquire an interest in keeping somebody else's war going.

HIGHWAY SAFETY IN THE PRO LEAGUE.

In connection with its truck rodeo at Peoria next Sunday which will pick the champion truck driver of Illinois, the Central Motor Freight association cites with some pride a recent finding of the National Safety council. Since 1927, the council reports, the number of motor trucks involved in fatal accidents has dropped by 29 per cent. In the same period the number of passenger cars involved in fatal accidents has increased 21 per cent.

That is something for the private driver to think about. In one respect, of course, he cannot compete with the trucker. The latter is a professional. His experience makes him a better driver than 99 per cent of the motorists behind the wheels of passenger cars. Private drivers might remember their shortcomings when they are tempted to press too hard on the throttle.

But that is only a minor chapter of the whole story. The truck driver doesn't take the risks that cause accidents because he has too much at stake. He not only risks his neck, he also risks his job and sometimes his livelihood. If he is found responsible for an accident his employer may fire him. If his offense is flagrant he may lose his chauffeur's license. Then he can't get another job.

The truck driver is a safe driver because he has to be to keep on earning his living. He is a ready pupil in the safety classes that almost all large trucking companies conduct. He knows the rules of the highway.

The private driver doesn't take the same precautions because he thinks it too much trouble. However, authorities in Illinois now have an instrument which can force the motorist to take the trouble to safeguard his own life and those of other highway users, by penalizing him when he doesn't. That is the drivers' license act.

This act provides for revocation of licenses for as long as a year following one or more convictions of serious driving offenses. Proper enforcement, bringing home to private drivers the same penalties that have undoubtedly contributed to the safety record of the truck drivers, should reduce materially the Illinois highway massacre.

Editorial of the Day

AVERAGE COFFEE.
[Hartford (Conn.) Courant.]

The Pan-American coffee bureau is one of those industrious little organizations that never take their fingers from the pulse of the long suffering average American. After a painstaking survey of that nonexistent individual's habits it has come forth with the breath taking announcement that he drinks exactly three cups of coffee a day. One's heart has bled before for the average American whose life is apparently just one investigation after another. But the pity of the past is small compared to the sympathy that is aroused by the news that he is condemned to drink three cups of coffee as it is prepared by his helpmate, the average housewife, who learned from the average mother how to make hot bilgewater and call it coffee.

Properly made coffee would tempt Zeus from his cups of ambrosia. Average coffee is the standing answer to those who argue that the country is ripe for revolution; a citizenry that can drink such stuff day after day without protest is not going to arise in defense of its rights. The fault isn't in the coffee; tastes vary from nation to nation, but the type that is preferred by the American market is as good as any in the world when it is properly brewed. Nor does the explanation lie in the brewing apparatus. The most intricate coffee making gadget on the market can turn out coffee that is as good as, but no better than, that made in a tin can and settled with an eggshell or splash of cold water. The difficulty isn't even with the recipe; the prescribed quantities of coffee and water in the hands of one cook will provide coffee, in those of another nothing but hot brown dishwater.

The difference between a good coffee maker and a brewer of dishwater is not reducible to words or figures. There is an inborn genius that makes great artists, great musicians and good coffee makers.

REMARKS ON AMUSEMENTS.

We have been invited to serve on the advisory committee for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the University of Chicago in 1941. We intend to advise the purchase of a tackling dummy, earlier than 1941 if possible.

The trend of outdoor sports toward night exhibitions finds us in our customary position among the conservative minority. In games our viking spirit craves the clear, open sky. The Cubs and White Sox can settle their differences under electric lights without ever charming a dollar out of our jeans.

The influence of the movies has been regarded as hostile to the reading habit, and it has been assumed that cinema patrons are allergic to books. Imagine our surprise, therefore, on discovering that neighborhood film theaters are giving away books as prizes to faithful customers. "Book night" is the successor to "bingo."

SUMMER CRUISE AFTERMATH.
(To A. J. T.)

But here you are—still walking in my dreams!
Still pounding with your fists upon my heart,
Still singing songs within my brain, it seems!
I hear a tune—a rhumba—and again
The Caribbean tumbles on the shore,
Hibiscus blossoms by the coral wall.
I hear a laugh like yours—and my poor heart
And all the charm of Martinique once more
Comes rushing back to smite me with its pain.
I hear a Spanish phrase, and presently
I see El Morro's battered turrets rise
Entwined in ivy and with ancient guns
To pierce the blue of Puerto Rico's skies.
We said good-by upon the ship, and now
I just pretend there are no thousand miles
Between us; I but close my eyes
To conjure up the vision of your smiles.
And I would rather have you far away,
Still loving me with all your heart, my sweet,
Than have us both within the city's pale

The Legion and the G. A. R.

"No historian of manners has yet undertaken to compare the behaviorism of the American Legion with that of the Grand Army of the Republic at equal ages. No psychologist has attempted to explain the former's bent toward comedy." [The Line, Sept. 28.]

Important to note is the seeming thwarting of their sacrifices in an armistice; a prolonged peace conference with ineptness on the part of our representatives; conditions imposed on the defeated too soon modified [as today's Europe shows]; and the "doughboys" returned to a changed homeland with the jazz era in full blast. Inevitable disappointment must be included at the failure of our associates in the war to pay their debts to us. And yet these are mere incidentals to the major point of failure to have accomplished the ends for which the war was entered—to "make the world safe for democracy," and, more to the point, to drive home to a people of whom Cæsar had said in his Commentaries that they were warlike tribes that lawlessness was not to be tolerated in an enlightened era.

Grand Army encampments were in the mood of reverence for all experienced, an expression of glory hallowed by a full triumph. A race was freed; a union proved indissoluble; a great President had expressed somewhat the compassion and tenderness of the Man of Galilee; and his addresses had shown the beneficence of acquaintance with the Scriptures. And government that was distinctly the people's was steadily proving itself after the civil war. A. Looper.

The Hunter's Moon Rides High.

The big Hunter's moon slipped up the sky, out of a tangle of gold rimmed clouds. Some of the little cloudlets followed, loath to lose that gay radiance. The broad, round face was wreathed in a hearty smile, as though the world he surveyed was his, and he found it good. And it was good, indeed. The whole sky was a cup, filled to overflowing with silver light, sprinkled with stars and frothy white clouds. And very close to the old Hunter himself there floated one big, bright star, as though a bit of that radiant smile had broken off and assumed a separate entity. Helene.

A Fine Point of Neutrality.

President Roosevelt has told the newspapers that he will be neutral in the world's series of baseball games, and therefore must refrain from saying what team he will bet on. We wonder if he will try to change the rules, after the games begin, to benefit the team he favors. Zlov.

WHY WE HAVE COLDS.

We must regard the nose—particularly its interior—as a busy place. Engaged as it is in warming, filtering, and moistening air of different temperatures, it must at the same time ward off infection. Fortunately, the inner layers of the nasal passages are able to maintain a powerful defense. If damaged, healing will occur in approximately a week—almost twice as rapidly as on the skin. The parts are so richly supplied with blood that repairs are made speedily. In addition, these cells produce a protective substance—a sheet of mucus which acts as a barrier to bacteria.

As most of us know, when a cold appears this exudate becomes thin and watery. In other words, the firmness of the coating is disturbed and, as a result, microbes are able to penetrate the external layers. This is one of the arguments against too much syringing—at least at the inception of a coryza. We may make a bad matter worse by washing away a much needed fortification. Promptly upon the appearance of pus, however, irrigations—conducted gently—may be helpful.

Another fact has been learned—namely, that the secretions at first are alkaline. Later the reaction swings to the acid side. This is the reason that fruit drinks sweetened with glucose are advised; in fact, they are greatly to be preferred to alkaline drugs such as sodium bicarbonate. Recovery comes quicker if the excess acid is counteracted without delay.

We can judge something of the sensitivity of this delicate tissue when we understand that cold applied to any area—the feet, for example—will bring about a marked lowering of the temperature of the lining of the airways. The drop occurs even before the rest of the body is able to sense that anything is wrong.

Of course, everybody wants to avoid the disorder, and there is no more certain method of introducing infection than by allowing the combat machinery [mucus] to dry up. First of all, then, we can avoid a dusty, germ-laden atmosphere, especially if it lacks moisture. Crusts are bound to injure the sensitive surfaces, and—through such avenues—germs find little difficulty in plowing a pathway.

Humidity for homes and offices which are artificially heated, therefore, is number one on the program of prevention. In addition we must shun every episode where overexposure will lead to a prolonged chill and hence a decrease in resistance. There is a limit to the amount of work that the nose can do in the way of filtering out noxious organisms. We can breathe so much dust and so much warm, stale air that the ability to fight back will be decreased appreciably.

We must not forget the rôle of diet. Only when the individual receives proper nourishment—with the blood at par—will the nasal apparatus work at optimum efficiency. Poorly balanced meals taken at irregular periods may affect nutrition. Curiously enough, the proboscis will recognize the deficiency quickly and succumb to disease. Lack of sleep and overfatigue are contributing factors.

Whether one should take drugs to prevent colds is open to question. Vaccines seem to be beneficial to many, although all will not react favorably. The use of a bit of sterile vaseline just within the nostrils will hinder drying, although oily sprays are rarely recommended. Such material interferes with the action of the cilia [tiny whips attached to certain cells] and may prevent the normal outflow of the discharges. Certainly strong solutions—such as picric acid and zinc sulfate—should never be employed for home use. If they are indicated a physician should administer them.

Sulfanilamide has been tried long enough to demonstrate that it will cut short an attack when given by mouth, but it will not be of the slightest value at the outset—in the so-called virus stage.

ON TAKING SNUFF.

C. S. writes: My father, 45 years old, keeps snuff in his mouth continuously. Is this habit harmful to his health?

REPLY.

There are many kinds of chewers—gum, tobacco, and snuff. The latter are usually called "dippers." The East Indians masticate a bit of betel nut rolled up with lime in a betel leaf. The effect upon the body is that of the substance employed. Possibly more nicotine is absorbed than from smoking. Perhaps he can be persuaded to use a harmless substitute, such as gum.

FOOT TROUBLE.

C. R. writes: I am having a lot of trouble with my feet. At times they feel as if the toes run right to the end of the shoes. I always make it a point to be well fitted. Also, I am getting a bunion. What would you suggest?

REPLY.

If a bunion is developing some abnormal pressure is present. Make it a point when purchasing shoes to allow plenty of room for the feet to spread. You may need the services of a skilled orthopedic surgeon.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO.—Japan is frantically seeking to improve its trade with the United States. Compared with 1937 there was a 125 million dollar setback in exports and imports in 1938. It results from American public antagonism to Japanese products arising from the hostilities in China, on the one hand, and to the recession in America, on the other.

While Japan is counting on cashing in its Asiatic conquests in a big way, its leaders realize that this is a matter of the remote future. For the present Japan's well being depends to a large degree on obtaining a steady supply of American raw materials for her industries and in selling raw silk, canned goods, porcelain, and large quantities of miscellaneous articles in exchange.

Japan in 1938 bought less scrap iron, pig iron, iron and steel mill products, lumber and passenger automobiles than in 1937, but bought more motor trucks, aircraft, metal working machinery, copper, and crude petroleum.

The drop of 77 million dollars in Japanese exports to the United States is attributed here to the recession early in 1938 and to the refusal of many Americans to buy Japanese goods because of the war in China. Most Japanese believe anti-Japanese sentiment has passed its peak and that American department stores can be persuaded again to stock products made in Japan.

Other than raw silk, in which trade last year totaled 120 million dollars, the principal articles exported by Japan to the United States are toys, porcelains, green tea, dried plants, insecticides, comestibles, novelties, and cheap manufactured products.

The American movement to boycott silk, Japan's main item of export, did not have much effect, it is stated. The miscellaneous articles, however, suffered considerably.

What worries the Japanese now is the improved artificial silk products that have recently been put on the market. The fact that American financiers have put millions into the new venture convinces most Japanese silk experts that there is trouble ahead. But they are not so worried as they were when rayon made its appearance.

At that time Japan had a nightmare. It soon developed, however, that rayon was not the threat to the silk industry that it had been feared it would be. Japan, moreover, turned rayon to its own ends and became a producer. Today she is racing the United States for supremacy in the production of rayon fabrics.

While Japanese industrialists are confident they can repeat with the new product what they did with rayon, they are not so certain that the new substitute will fail to replace silk in women's hosiery. This is where the bulk of raw silk goes.

Although Japan has forged ahead in the cotton textile industry, eclipsing England's Lancashire today, her cotton cloth exports to the United States in 1937 amounted to less than $8,000,000. Japan's imports of cotton from the United States have increased enormously.

Because of a gentlemen's agreement, there is no possibility of increasing cotton textile exports to the United States for some time to come.

Consequently, if the new silk substitute actually replaces silk in the manufacture of hosiery, Japan will find itself in dire straits. It may be able to dispose of its surplus raw silk on the domestic market but this will be of no help in balancing the country's international accounts.

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. IMPROPER EXITS.

Chicago, Sept. 26 [Legal Friend of the People].—The tenement building at 6911-'13 of our street is without exits for the four rear flats. It is an old stove heated structure, closely hemmed in. Does not the law require rear as well as front exits? S. A.

An investigation was made of this complaint and the owner notified to make alterations and to do all necessary work so as to bring the said premises into compliance with the requirements for exits of the city ordinance.

Failure to comply with our notice within the time allotted will result in the city proceeding as the law directs.

NEIGHBORHOOD REPAIR SHOP.

Chicago, Sept. 26 [Friend of the People].—I live in an apartment building which is in the residential district. A neighbor rents his private garage in the rear of his building for a repair shop. Our nerves are just about at the breaking point. We hear pounding and grinding and the screeching of brakes from early morning until late in the evening. Can't something be done about this? Are they allowed to rent the garage as a repair shop? We can't move as we can't afford to pay more rent than we are paying. I know from talking to others that we are not the only ones who would like to see this nuisance removed. Please do something about this if you can. A. G.

The premises complained of are located in a commercial district. Owner and tenant are notified to discontinue use of premises as an auto repair shop until frontage consents are filed with this department.

HOW TO STAY OUT OF WAR.

Robinson, Ill., Oct. 2.—Here's how one world war veteran suggests that we may easily be kept out of war. I served in the war as an enlisted man and also as an officer, and since 1919 have been service officer of the American Legion of Crawford county, Illinois. Here's my plan:

Have the war department issue a complete marching and trench outfit [buck private, infantry] to every congressman and senator in Washington, the issued clothing being a leaky raincoat, hobnailed shoes, rifle, belt, gas mask, tin hat, blanket, mess kit, and first aid kit with canteen. March each and every member ten miles with the full 90 pound pack on his back under a hot sun or in the mud, and double time the last mile back. Then when they return, shoot typhoid prophylaxis into one arm and antismallpox serum into the other.

That's all there is to it. Simple, isn't it? But if done, there will be no war! The vote after the march and the prophylaxis will be, for war, 0; against war, 10, the 10 being only those able to march back to the capitol building.

Why not save all this big speech making and adopt this simple, inexpensive plan which will guarantee that the United States will not ever go into this war? WILLIAM E. BRADBURY.

NO GOOFINESS IN THIS ART.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Too little attention is given the fine display of juvenile art in the north corridor of the Public library downtown. Every one, whether interested in art or not, should see the work of the grade school children, ranging from the kindergarten age to the upper grades.

The work the kids have done is a complete vindication of Mrs. Frank Logan's idea that most of the pseudo-modern art dabblers are silly frauds. The school art gallery showing the talent of Chicago youngsters is the best kind of proof of the correctness of the sanity in art group. It exposes completely that goofiness does not take the place of skill. Even the drawings by our young people are better than most of the stuff so learnedly prated about by the hobohemians and "artists."

The north corridor of the main library would be crowded daily if the drawings hanging on the walls were ballyhooed as being "modern" and the place would be jammed with people emitting "Ohs" and "Ahs" and sanctimoniously mouthing the sacred names Matisse and Picasso.

More power to the kids and their teachers. They have let in a healthy gust of sense where nonsense usually catches the biggest congregation. J. J. WILSON.

NEEDS A WORLD-WIDE "VOICE."

Des Plaines, Ill., Sept. 30.—There is only one thing wrong with this department of your newspaper: Its limitations. "The Voice of the People" could well be a world-wide publication, affording a means of expression, a voice, for the people of the world. The inability of the people to make their needs and wishes known to a mere handful of dictators, premiers, and presidents is largely responsible for the threats to world peace.

The world needs a voice so that all its people can speak with a clarity that cannot be confused and a determination that cannot be denied. CARROLL E. VETTERICK.

ONE GUARD; TWO ENTRANCES.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—I don't criticize any corporation for trying to retrench these days, but I think it is going a little too far to have but one guard on the L train taking care of two entrances. During the rush hours, after the car started, the unguarded door slowly opened, and if the party leaning against the door had been a child instead of a man he would have toppled out of the train to certain death. MARY A. O'CONNOR.

SEES REPEAL A ROAD TO WAR.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Members of the League of Women Voters who believe the repeal of the arms embargo provisions of the neutrality act is a direct step toward bringing the United States into the European war found themselves placed in a very false position last Saturday when a local newspaper announced in front page headlines "Women Voters Open Drive for Arms Embargo Repeal." The announcement said the president of the local league "had received official notice . . . that the national board had approved a resolution to support changing the arms embargo," and that "active support" would now be given to the movement for repeal.

I have been a member of the league since its organization nearly 20 years ago and I always had confidence in the wise policies of its officers until last spring when I was surprised to see newspaper reports indicating that the league was supporting the policy of so-called collective security, which, of course, for the United States, is not security at all, but the direct road to war.

I take the liberty of asking this opportunity to say there are members of the League of Women Voters who strongly disapprove the action of our organization in supporting one side of this highly controversial question of foreign policy and who deeply regret the action taken by the national board on this question at this time. I am sorry to be in such complete disagreement with the announced program of an organization for which I have had sincere respect for so many years; but this is a question on which wrong thinking and wrong action will so certainly lead to the most tragic consequences that it seems necessary for those of us who strongly disapprove this policy to make some record of that fact. EDITH ABBOTT.

WOMEN CAN STILL TALK.

Riverside, Ill., Oct. 1.—I note that Mrs. Roosevelt said at one of her press conferences that she was "amazed that any one should ask about clothes when more serious subjects confront the nation because of Europe's war."

Well, for goodness' sake, must the women of America not talk about clothes because there is a war in Europe? There is no war in the United States, is there?

We are not in Germany, where women are not allowed to buy new dresses or hats. We can buy any dress or hat we choose, even funny ones, providing, of course, that we have any money left from helping Europe in the last war.

Let us salute our own beautiful flag, which stands for freedom to talk about clothes, or politics, or even the wife of the President, who is a most amazing person herself when she becomes amazed that American women wish to talk about clothes when there is a war in Europe. L. P.

HITLER AS A BULLY.

Oak Park, Ill., Oct. 1.—Reading of Hitler's activities one is reminded of the neighborhood bully who goes about slugging cripples until a worthy opponent appears, and then this same individual delivers a brilliant discourse on the advantages of a peaceful compromise.

Certainly this demented egoist desires peace, but only until such time that his fighting machine has fully recovered from its last skirmish. All he wants is a few months to replenish his munition supply and mass his full strength on the western front, and then all the suggestions for peace will be conveniently forgotten—as before—and Europe will once again listen to the threats of this land grabbing ex-paperhanger.

Judging from all reports, England and France have decided to cease pampering this spoiled war loving monster. VINCENT V. LOTTS.

Sets His Affairs in Order, Then Kills Self.

John F. White, 83 years old, hanged himself yesterday on the back porch of his home at 3642 Magnolia avenue. He was an accountant. In preparation for death, he put his affairs in order with the same painstaking care that he had ordered his books in life.

He left a note to his widow giving the telephone number of the coroner's office, of the police, and an undertaker. He specified how much his funeral should cost. He wrote out the one prayer that he wanted read over his grave.

Writes His Own Obituary.

"I, John F. White, was born May 28, 1856, in St. Louis, Mo. Died October—, 1939.

"My parents came to Chicago in October, 1869, and my father opened a retail grocery at 209 Burling street, on the corner of Center street. My father died in 1875. His death disrupted our home, and my education was a neglected affair.

"My lack of schooling was a handicap. When my father was spoken to on this subject, he would say, 'You will learn enough before you die.'

Accountant for 40 Years.

"Having lost my best school years I therefore gladly accepted any kind of employment that would earn money to buy special training to outfit myself as a bookkeeper. The knowledge of accounting continued my employment forty years and gave me a good livelihood.

"Constantly ageing brought me to the death line of employment, and loss of employment then meant to me that there was nothing further but just to crawl along as best I could.

AT THE GRAVE.

"Almighty God, our heavenly Father,
We ask in Jesus' name
To be in our midst and witness our acts
While we are at the brink of the grave,
The last resting place of the departed.
Now in the name of God
We consign the remains to their last resting place
As earth to earth, and ashes to ashes—Amen."

And that closed out the account.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By HOMER NEISZ

Oct. 3, 1939.

Early Frost Nips Foliage.

A TRAIL of withered flowers and dead foliage was left in gardens and fields at the Du Page county farm by the season's first frost which came Oct. 1, three weeks earlier than last year. The first frost last fall was on Oct. 21. In 1937 there was a killing frost on Sept. 26.

Fields, fences, and barn roofs were white with frost Sunday morning. Thin sheets of ice formed on watering troughs and shallow pools. Thermometers stood at 30 degrees early that morning. There was a light covering of frost in some of the valleys the following morning.

Vegetables and flowers in the sample garden were the hardest hit. The garden is on low ground near a small creek. The frost killed squash, pumpkin, and sweet potato vines, tomatoes, green peppers, ornamental gourd vines, and all the vegetable soy bean plants that had not already ripened and dried up. Most of the annual flowers were ruined.

Peanut Plants Hit.

The top leaves on peanut plants turned black. Most of the leaves on the big sunflower stalks at the east end of the garden were killed. Seeds of the sunflowers are to be fed to game birds and poultry this winter.

There are no signs of frost damage on the carrots, beets, Swiss chard, celery, and celery cabbage. Late turnips also escaped injury. The plants have grown rapidly since the rains last week, but are not expected to be big enough to eat before cold weather. They were stunted by the September drouth.

Foliage on many of the grape vines in the farm vineyards is black and beginning to dry up. Some leaves on wild grape vines along fence rows were killed.

Most of Corn Unhurt.

Only a few scattered corn blades in one field of late corn were green enough to show any effects of frost damage. Foliage on most of the corn had been dry for a month.

There are piles of squash and pumpkins that the gardeners pulled off the vines as soon as the leaves turned black. Many of the squash and pumpkin vines dried up before the frost came.

Sweet potato vines were cut off early in the morning as soon as they started to wilt to prevent the frozen sap from passing down to the roots and injuring them. The sweet potatoes were left in the ground and are being dug as needed. None was injured.

The sweet potatoes, grown for the first time at the farm this year, did much better than was expected. There are from two to five fair size sweet potatoes in each hill. Most hills have several smaller ones, indicating that the crop needed a longer growing season to mature properly. The plants were not set out until May 31.

U. C. PROFESSOR DIES IN MYSTERY; INQUEST TODAY

Hyde Park police last night were investigating the death of Dr. Walter Petersen of the University of Chicago faculty. He was found unconscious on the floor of his office at noon yesterday by a colleague, Prof. Jacob Larson. Death followed shortly after Dr. Petersen was taken to Billings Memorial hospital.

The cause of death was believed at the time to have been cerebral hemorrhage. However, Dr. Harry Harris, a coroner's physician who examined the body, diagnosed the cause as traumatic hemorrhage. This is the rupture of a blood vessel from injury or shock.

Dr. Petersen, who was 58 years old, was an assistant professor of linguistics. Sergt. Lawrence Snedecker reported that Prof. Larson and others with offices near Petersen's told him they had heard no noise of a struggle. It was believed Dr. Petersen suffered a fainting spell and in falling struck his head against a radiator. He had been at the university since 1930. He was unmarried and lived at 5470 Woodlawn avenue. An inquest will be held today.

DILEMMA ENDS BUT BOTH SIDES LOSE THEIR JOBS

Chicago Heights, which has had two boards of fire and police commissioners for months, found itself with none yesterday. Voters authorized the creation of a three man board last April. Mayor Joseph Gannon appointed the board. The city commissioners ignored him and appointed another. Firemen and police, fearing one of the boards would dismiss them, brought court action to determine which board was legal. Judge Francis B. Allegretti found that the election was illegal because no place was provided on the ballot for negative votes. And so both boards are out of a job.

GOES TO SEE HIS BROTHER; DIES IN FUMIGATING GAS

Insect exterminators went to work yesterday in the upper floor of the garage at the home of Dr. H. C. Mock, 1616 Forest place, Evanston. They warned the doctor's chauffeur, Oliver McKinney, colored, to stay out. Then they sprayed cyanide gas, locked the doors and went away.

Late last night McKinney's brother, Lawrence, 35 years old, 1936 Darrow avenue, Evanston, called at the garage. It was dark. He broke in the door and went upstairs. A little later his body was found on the upstairs floor. The gas had killed him.

Aurora Borealis Thrills Chicagoans and Polar Bears

Before a delighted audience of Eskimos, polar bears, seals, reindeer, walrus, and Chicagoans, Mother Nature presented one of her free shows in her Sky theater last night. It was the aurora borealis or northern lights. Chicagoans enjoyed it most because they don't see it so often, it was brighter than usual, and their part of the theater was warm.

FAY TEMPLETON, OPERETTA STAR IN GAY '90S, DIES

San Francisco, Oct. 3 (AP).—Fay Templeton, 74 years old, one of America's favorite operetta singers of the '90s, died today. She had been ill for several months. She and Lillian Russell, the actress, were contemporaries, and when they were biller on the same program men jostled each other in the streets trying to buy tickets.

Miss Templeton's greatest asset was a throaty contralto voice. She made stage history of her day singing "Rosy, You Are My Rosy" when she was with Weber and Fields. She starred in George M. Cohan's "45 Minutes from Broadway" in 1905. At the age of 3½ years she made her stage debut in the rôle of cupid. Before she was 8 she appeared in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and at 15 was given a rôle in a juvenile company playing light operettas.

Miss Templeton was born at Little Rock, Ark. Her father was John Templeton, head of an opera company, and her mother, Alice Vane Templeton, was a singer. She lived under the name of her third husband, Ridgely Patterson, wealthy Pittsburgh, Pa., manufacturer, whom she married in 1906. Her first marriage was to Billy West, a minstrel, when she was 15. In 1885 she married Howell Osborn of New York. He died in 1895, leaving her $100,000.

BUSINESS IN FACE LIFTING LOOKING UP, SAYS DOCTOR

Face lifting has been booming for several years. Dr. G. Alexander Ward, a dermatologist, made this statement yesterday in a talk before the convention of the American Cosmeticians' National association in the Hotel Sherman.

"In the old days we couldn't talk a customer into it," he said. "Now we can't talk them out of it."

Dr. Ward said men frequently have plastic surgery performed. Theatrical performers or elderly gentlemen about town are the best customers, he said, and bartenders recently have shown a growing interest.

Dr. Ward said that not one man in 1,000 who is bald would be that way if he had used a comb and brush.

F. W. VANDERBILT GROSS ESTATE IS SET AT $76,838,530

New York, Oct. 3 [Special].—Frederick W. Vanderbilt, railroad director, sportsman, and grandson of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, who died June 29, 1938, at his Hyde Park home at the age of 81, left a gross estate of $76,838,530. Inheritance tax assessments totaled $41,272,109, of which $30,372,109 went to the federal government and $10,900,000 to New York state. This was disclosed today in an accounting filed in Surrogate's court by the United States Trust company, executor.

The accounting disclosed that in April, 1919, Vanderbilt transferred for the benefit of his niece, Rose A. Howard of New York, 4,000 shares of United States Steel corporation preferred stock, worth $420,500. Under his will the niece receives one-twentieth of her uncle's residuary estate.

The will, probated Sept. 1, 1938, named as principal legatee Margaret Louise Van Alen, a niece, of Wakehurst, Newport, R. I., who received property on 5th avenue, an estate of 673 acres at Hyde Park, and other realty appraised at $2,274,000, specific personal property valued at $343,926, and one-fourth of the residuary estate. Sheffield Scientific school at Yale university received one-fifth of the residuary estate and Vanderbilt university at Nashville, Tenn., received three-twentieths.

COUNCIL HEALTH GROUP TO URGE WAR UPON RATS

The city council health committee will recommend immediate steps to obtain WPA aid to eliminate rats. Ald. Joseph C. Ross, committee chairman, said he will introduce a resolution at today's council meeting, directing Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, to apply for the project.

The resolution to be submitted asserts that since February, 1938, when a WPA rat eradication project halted, Chicago has lost $11,660,000 due to rodents. The figures are based on a United States department of agriculture estimate. It also adds that rats carry the bubonic plague and are suspected of spreading infantile paralysis.

HODES WILL URGE $5 PRICE ON NEW CITY LAW CODES

A city code in every home—or at least in every law office—is the hope of Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel. Today he will ask the city council to put a price of $5 a copy on the new code compiled under his direction. He said the last code, published in 1931, originally sold for $15 and that only 128 copies were disposed of from 1931 to 1937. Since then it has sold for $5 and 137 copies have been sold.

"It will be a great civic benefit to Chicago if a popular price is established so that as many citizens as possible may be induced to possess copies of the code," he wrote council. The new code will have a loose leaf binding for the first time, and will contain 1,300 pages. It will be released to the public Oct. 10.

RUSH TO OFFER ONLY GRADUATE MEDICAL STUDY

Research to Be Emphasized After 1942.

Rush Medical college, oldest institution of medical learning in the middle west, will be closed as an undergraduate school in 1942. A graduate school will be established in its place.

This announcement was made yesterday by President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago. The university acquired the Rush Medical college buildings at 1758 Harrison street in 1924 and has since conducted the college in affiliation with its own medical school on the Midway campus.

Hospital Will Remain.

It also was made known that the Presbyterian hospital, which has been closely associated with Rush Medical college since 1842, when the college was founded, will remain in its present quarters at 1753 Congress street. John McKinlay, president of the college board, made this announcement.

The staff of the Presbyterian hospital now forms the faculty of Rush Medical college. All are active in practice and are part time instructors. Because of this connection the future of the two institutions often has been considered as a unit, and it once was proposed that the hospital be moved to the university campus and kept in close touch with the medical school founded there in 1927.

Plan Is Given Up.

This plan was dropped, however, largely because of the expense involved. Another consideration, important to the faculty, was that opportunities for clinical training of students would not be so great on the south side as in the present location, which is near the County hospital. Rush college alumni have opposed abandoning the college as a training place for undergraduates.

Under the new arrangement, all students who register for their last two years of work at Rush Medical college next fall will be graduated there. Plans for the new graduate school, which will emphasize research in medical science, will be made by a committee to be appointed soon, according to Dr. Hutchins.

It was said that Presbyterian hospital, which draws most of its interns from the Rush graduates, would have no difficulty supplying its needs from other colleges.

DISPUTE CLAIM RELIEF GETS 47% OF SALES TAXES

A claim that 47 per cent of the sales tax was spent for relief in the bookkeeping year ended July 1 was made yesterday in a report by S. L. Nudelman, state director of finance. It was immediately attacked as "figure juggling."

Elmer J. Schnackenberg, a Republican leader in the Illinois house of representatives who specializes in state finance, declared: "The Democratic administration is juggling figures to show that relief received 47 per cent of the sales tax. The political incentive is apparent in the obvious attempt to distort the facts."

Sales tax receipts totaled $81,516,538 for the year, an increase of $599,000 over 1938. The report shows that of this amount $38,440,235, or 47 per cent, went to relief. Inquiries at Springfield brought the admission that $11,563,365 of the $38,440,235 had been taken from the general revenue fund.

The following table shows the fluctuation of principal tax sources as compared to the previous year:

Tax—	Total.	Increase.	Decrease.
Sales*	$81,516,538	$ 599,000	....
Mot. fuel.	41,024,482	1,800,000	....
Veh. lic.	23,493,630	2,339,000	....

Pub. util.	9,202,008	....	1,329,712

Corp.	2,561,879	....	540,589
		$4,738,000	$6,127,501

Federal aid also showed a decline, dropping from $25,853,573 to $22,932,970. The federal funds are alloted for old age assistance and highway purposes, with a small amount included for the University of Illinois.

Battle in Court

RESTAURANT MEN ARE URGED TO GO OUT FOR LUNCH

It's no mere joke that restaurant owners eat in competitors' places. Sidney Hoedmaker of Los Angeles, Cal., speaking at the convention of the National Restaurant association yesterday in the Furniture Mart, advised restaurateurs to encourage their managers to eat in rival establishments.

"You should pay them for doing it," said he, "and have them take their wives along. They can pick up ideas and dishes you can use."

The convention was told that the average New York business man eats 33 restaurant meals a month and that the nation's 153,000 restaurants serve 5 billion meals a year—enough to feed 4,500,000 persons three meals a day for a year.

Cudahy Heir Tells Court He Has 'Only Good Name' Left

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 3 (AP).—Michael John Cudahy of the wealthy meat packing family, in court today, said he has "nothing left but my good name" and is "practically living off charity." He was summoned to court to explain why he was $1,650 behind in alimony payments to his former wife, Mary Jacqueline Cudahy, dancer known professionally as Jacqueline Roth. Under a court order he is supposed to pay her $250 a month. Cudahy said the $900 a month income he once received from a Chicago trust fund dwindled to $100 a month in 1937.

IRENE LOSES TILT OVER SCHOOL FOR HER DAUGHTER, 14

Judge Refuses to Approve Barbara's Removal.

One of the reasons Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin doesn't want her daughter Barbara to attend Ferry Hall school in Lake Forest is that "some of the girls there dye their hair."

Mrs. McLaughlin, who has a divorce suit pending against Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, gave her views yesterday at a hearing on her petition to remove Barbara, who is 14 years old, to an eastern finishing school. Judge Robert C. O'Connell ruled against her and the girl will remain at Ferry Hall.

Maj. McLaughlin, who is fighting a broader plea to give full custody of the girl to Mrs. McLaughlin, also testified. So did Barbara. She said she liked the school better than she did last year and preferred to remain there.

Tells of Visit to School.

"I visited Ferry Hall last spring," said Mrs. McLaughlin, "and was disappointed by the class of girls I found there. Some of them dyed their hair, and there were other objections I don't want to describe."

Questioned by her attorney, Mrs. McLaughlin said she found it increasingly difficult to see Barbara, who lives with her father. She said she wanted Barbara to have the same culture that she herself had had, and declared she considered the eastern school a necessity because Maj. McLaughlin had told her he would not be able to send her to college.

"One day recently," she said, "I asked Barbara to come and see me, and she said she couldn't because they were going to have steak for dinner."

Trust Fund Set Up.

Maj. McLaughlin said a trust fund for the education of Barbara and her brother William had been set up by their aunt, Miss Mary A. McLaughlin. Under its terms Barbara was to attend Sacred Heart college in Lake Forest.

"I haven't been able to qualify under the trust," he said. "The college won't take Barbara because of the publicity on the divorce."

Californian Talks; Clears Self of Contempt Charges

New York, Oct. 3 (AP).—Benjamin [Buggsy] Siegel of Los Angeles, once labeled a "public enemy" by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, was released from federal custody today after he purged himself of contempt of court by answering federal grand jury questions. The former New Yorker was placed in custody of a United States marshal last Thursday when he gave what Federal Judge John C. Knox termed "frivolous answers" to jury questioning. The grand jury is investigating crime in general and the alleged harboring of Louis [Lepke] Buchalter, industrial racketeer, while he was a fugitive from justice.

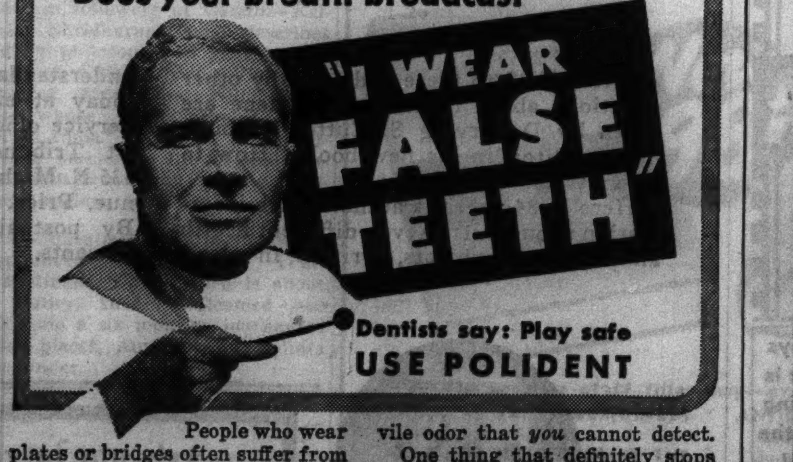
Does your breath broadcast



People who wear plates or bridges often suffer from a special kind of bad breath. Dentists call it—"denture breath."

You won't know if you have it—but it can spoil your happiness. Friends will shudder—people avoid you! And the worst of it is that ordinary brushing and mouth washes may not prevent it.

For the odor comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum soaks up germs and decay bacteria and causes a vile odor that you cannot detect.

One thing that definitely stops "denture breath" is daily use of Polident! This new brushless cleaner has won approval of thousands of dentists and users.

Polident not only purifies false teeth—but also removes all stain, tarnish and food deposits. Makes breath sweeter—plates look better and feel better. Costs only 30¢ at any drug store and lasts for many weeks. Money back if not delighted. Hudson Products, Inc., N. Y. C.

G. O. P. ENDORSEMENT ASSURES ELECTION OF JUDGE IRVING LEHMAN

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 3 [Special].—The election of Judge Irving Lehman, brother of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman next month to succeed Chief Judge Frederick E. Crane of the Court of Appeals, who is about to retire, was assured this afternoon when he was indorsed by the Republican state committee.

He previously had been nominated by the Democrats and the American Labor party. No other names were presented to the committee and there were only two votes against Judge Lehman. The court is the highest ranking in New York state. Judge Lehman now is associate judge in that court.

A powerful upstate group in the Republican committee had demanded the nomination of a Republican for the high court. They failed, however, to agree on a strong candidate. The result was that the leaders endorsed Judge Lehman, believing this would be better than to face the danger of a split in the party previous to the 1940 election, when the Republicans hope to carry New York state for President.

BROOKLYN JUDGE FACES OUSTER AS BILL DODGER

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 3 [Special].—Special Prosecutor John Harlan Amen charged before the state senate today that County Judge George W. Martin of Brooklyn squandered his money at the race tracks while merchants trying to collect "little bills for coal and things like that" were being turned away from the door of the Martin home.

He also charged that the judge, a Democrat, had violated every canon of ethics of the bar in accepting stock for which he did not pay as a return for helping in the promotion of questionable enterprises. Amen insisted that the judge had used every form of chicanery and trickery to conceal his true financial condition and had carried out a fraudulent transaction in changing the ownership of his Brooklyn home.

The accusations were made before the state senate at the opening of its hearings on the removal charges against the judge, which were submitted to the senate by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman with a recommendation favoring the removal. A two-thirds vote of the 49 members is necessary for removal.

Louis Bromfield Stories Full of Literary Delight

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"It Takes All Kinds" of tales to prove the literary dexterity of many fiction writers—one kind of story covering the deficiencies of another, like rags skillfully worn over rags, with paintings of ink camouflaging the bare spots that still show through. But, in spite of Louis Bromfield's excellent choice of title for this omnibus of tales about many of the all kinds of people that it takes to make a world, it takes only one of his pieces of fiction to prove that he has that most enviable of all qualities of a good story teller—the ability to make any story a good one in the telling.

Whatever the place in the history of American literature which these nine tales may assume, either collectively or individually, today they will give all of their readers pleasure. They will please many a reader solely because they are good stories, some better than others, all far better than the mine run. They will please others not because they are all about "characters" [as they are] but because they are told with that particular kind of brilliant skill that passes for supreme ease.

In a word, practically any one will find "It Takes All Kinds" a prize pages]. Although the three full length novels, the two novelettes, and the four stories have been published in magazines, they have never seen print in a book before, and if you meet them again with recognition, it will be a pleasurable reëncountering.

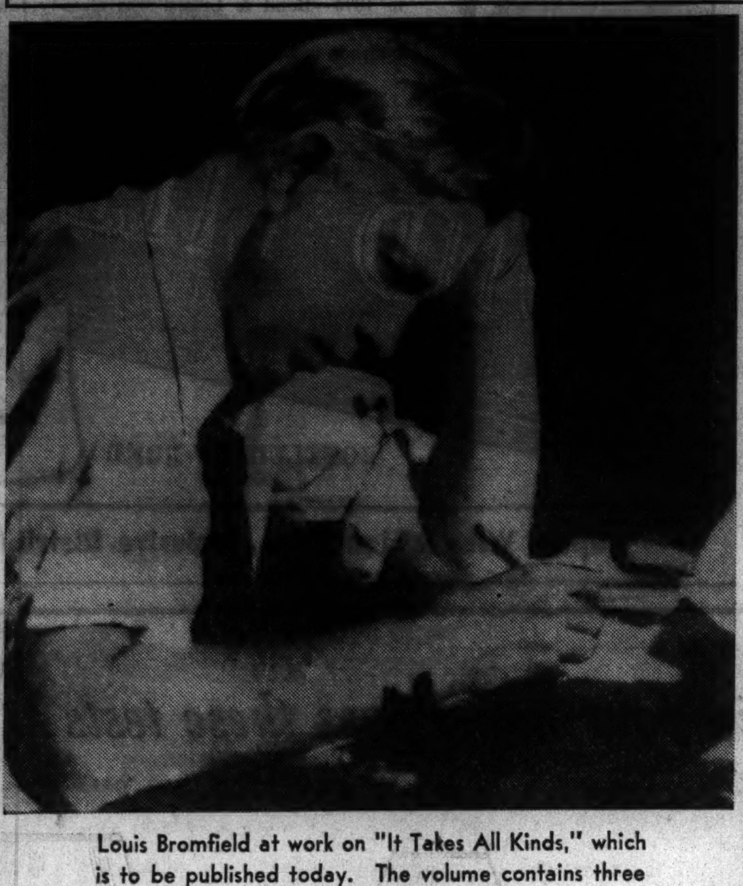
The most impressive of the novels, "Bitter Lotus," is, according to the author, "a technical experiment—that of taking three characters from 'The Rains Came' and allowing them to work out their destinies in a different way and a fresh background."

"Bitter Lotus" shows the tragic mask of Louis Bromfield the realist; "Better than Life," the comic. The latter novel is the story of a fantastic New York boarding house and its inmates [and inmates is the exact word for them, for they are all slightly mad, even the two "keepers"].

Of the three novels, "McLeod's Folly" is the least good, because everything comes out so "just dandy," but it is an amusing, if not wholly convincing, story of the success of a small town newspaper.

"The Hand of God" and "New York Legend" and "That Which Never Returns" are tales with a veil of mystery over them, though in no sense mystery stories. The other three shorter tales are about "The Girl Who Knew Everybody" and ironically nobody at all really; and two women who made men happy.

His New Omnibus Out Today



Louis Bromfield at work on "It Takes All Kinds," which is to be published today. The volume contains three novels, two novelettes, and four short stories.

Food for Thought in This Diagnosis of Our Moral Ills

"Morals for Moderns," by Ralph Habas. [Liveright, $2.50.]

Hendrik Willem van Loon has written a lively introduction to this logical, witty, understanding and constructive book by Ralph Habas, the associate leader of the Chicago Ethical society. Mr. Habas begins by showing us what a crazy world we live in, which is a not too difficult task right now! In chapters on "man or mouse," divorce, suicide, marital problems, democracy, and the profit system he discusses a few of the thorns in the flesh of modern civilization.

He pictures things as they are and then as they ought to be. In giving a diagnosis of our moral ailments he also prescribes simple but effectual means for recovery. This book, because of its directness, its understanding of human beings, and its logical reasoning, plus its amusing sense of humor, makes grand reading and leaves one with much food for thought. E. W.

Milne's Autobiography

"Autobiography," by A. A. Milne. [Dutton, $3.] Published Monday.

"It was inevitable," says A. A. Milne in his autobiography, "that the cynicism of the politician has matured into the pomposity of the cabinet minister," that writers write, and artists "art." "Nor is it surprising [nor particularly interesting]," he adds, "that any man moderately well known should meet other well-known people. . . . What we want to learn from the composer is how he came to compose an opera at all. Tell us why the boy became an apothecary and how the apothecary found himself writing Endymion, and let us guess for ourselves that the author of Endymion will meet Wordsworth and Shelley, and surprise neither of them with an 'Ode to a Nightingale'."

On that principle A. A. Milne has written a great deal about the sort of home and school life that made A. A. Milne and has scarcely peppered his pages at all with great names. The result is a delicious book, strangely humble [at times perhaps too much so], that reads more like a contemplative novel than like an autobiography. The eye that looks upon Alan Milne [even though it is written I] is a sharp and a humorously alert one. He sees his hero whole and frankly tells just as much about him as he wants to tell and no more, for, he says, "In this book, as in everything which I have written, I have humored the author. Whatever happens to the public, the author is not going to be bored."

The fabulous success of "When We Were Very Young" [published fifteen years ago this fall] and the resulting international publicizing of his son, Christopher Robin, made a good many readers worry about poor young Christopher Robin Milne's embarrassment when he came to years of discernment. Mr. Milne explains the disturbing problem in a paragraph so characteristic of the whole book, and so delightful, that I would like to quote it to you and let my case for the "Autobiography" rest there:

"In August of that year my collaborator produced a more personal work. We intended to call it Rosemary, but decided later that Billy would be more suitable. However . . . we had to think of two other names, two initials being necessary to insure him any sort of copyright in a cognomen as often plagiarized as Milne. One of us thought of Robin, the other of Christopher; names wasted on him who called himself Billy Moon as soon as he could talk, and has been Moon to his family and friends ever since. I mention this because it explains why the publicity which came to be attached to 'Christopher Robin' never seemed to affect us personally, but to concern either a character in a book or a horse which we hoped at one time would win the Derby."

Thomas Wolfe's Gems

"The Face of a Nation," by Thomas Wolfe. [Scribners, $2.75.] Published Monday. October choice of the Literary guild.

Readers of the enormously long, sometimes tortuous, novels of Thomas Wolfe have always found in them sudden breath-taking beauty of word and phrase arabesque, like streaks of invigorating cold in the warm waters of a Florida beach in the late spring. The gargantuan novels of Thomas Wolfe have indeed something of the quality of the sea. They are impressive and powerful, and, when they are beautiful, beautiful beyond other men's word fashionings.

Some one had the brilliant idea of extracting from Thomas Wolfe's novels the pages of sheer poetic beauty and publishing them as a separate book. Here is the result—a book of American lyric prose. Here one finds one paragraph which might be an epitaph for Thomas Wolfe the poet:

"Therefore, immortal fellowship, proud Death, stern Loneliness, and Sleep, dear friends in whose communion I shall live forever, out of the passion and the substance of my life . . ."

Timely Works Shed Light on World Events

"In Defense of France," by Edouard Daladier. [Doubleday Doran, $2.50.]

"Democracy Today and Tomorrow," by Eduard Benes. [Macmillan, $3.]

BY FRANKLIN STURDY.

These titles offer an excellent variety of book fare on the currently all-absorbing topic of Europe's latest effort to solve its troubles by the method which has made history such interesting reading, failure by failure.

"In Defense of France" contains the principal speeches of Prime Minister Edouard Daladier as he guided France through the hectic months from April, 1938, to May, 1939. The times were troublous for Daladier's land, internally as well as abroad. There is the address in which he notified the chamber of deputies that his government wanted virtually dictatorial powers over finance, industry, and every phase of the lives of the citizenry. Daladier won his point, but there is sad mockery in the fact that his government took away from Frenchmen the "liberty and justice for all peoples" which represent his professed political ideals. Perfect realism rings in the words of his address to his party's [the Radical-Socialist] executive committee in January, 1939:

"It [the government] wants to spare French blood, but it is watchful of the interests of France. It will devote all its energy to prevent the outbreak of a war that would mark the end of Occidental civilization. But it will not allow the position and the interests of France to be imperiled, either by force or cunning."

In a brief foreword, Daladier does not disguise his intention to win sympathy in the United States.

"Step by Step" represents a courageous maneuver by England's Winston Churchill, in that this statesman publishes his writings after events have had an opportunity to prove him wrong. The inference is that Mr. Churchill was right, and in case any one misses the point, the author makes it in a foreword. The volume is a compilation of fortnightly commentaries written between March, 1936, and May, 1939. Churchill advocated fast rearmament for Great Britain and a "stop Hitler" bloc of nations throughout the period. In his foreword he says all the letters were put into the book without alteration. One of the last, that of May 4, 1939, discusses the importance of Russia in the then materializing German drive on Poland, and urges that Britain, France, and Poland make a deal with Russia. The note is quite free, however, from any hint that Stalin and Hitler would be trading valentines by now.

"Democracy Today and Tomorrow" is based on Eduard Benes' series of lectures at the University of Chicago last winter. An exile from the Czecho-Slovakian republic, of which he was once prime minister and later president, it is little wonder that his work is heavy with both personal and intellectual bitterness. He sees Europe as in a state of disintegration which can only be arrested by growth of new political morals. The process, he predicts, will require more years than is pleasant to contemplate.

Despite this attitude of pessimistic realism, he affirms that democracy will survive all attacks because it is the finest and highest expression of the human spirit in politics.

Current Mysteries

"The Case of the Rolling Bones," by Erle Stanley Gardner. [Morrow, $2.]

Perry Mason is at it again in the latest of the prolific Mr. Gardner's detective tales. The lawyer sleuth, as usual, has a client whom the police believe guilty. So the contrary Mr. Mason proves the police are wrong. A study of restaurant menus and some slick deduction as to who ate what and when are contributing clews. The finale comes in a courtroom cross-examination, with Mason skating dangerously close to the edge of the law. S. M. K.

"The Dragon's Teeth," by Ellery Queen. [Stokes, $2.]

In one of the breeziest of his mystery yarns the seductive Ellery Queen acquires a business partner, loses an appendix, finds a criminal, and finally in a burst of very hard-headed sentiment, deprives himself of his partner. Never one to leave loose ends around, Mr. Queen has woven even more tightly than ever the strands of this corking tale about death at sea and the scramble for a fabulous estate. Its good humor and fast pace make unraveling its intricate plot a recreation rather than a chore. W. D.

"Red Gardenias," by Jonathan Latimer. [Crime Club, $2.]

Again the ubiquitous, whisky bibbing Bill Crane drinks his way through a maze of murder, aided by his Man Friday, Doc Williams, and a newcomer, Ann Fortune, as tempting a morsel as ever befuddled a detective. Crane and Miss Fortune, posing as a married couple, go to Marchton to discover why two of the wealthy March men have died mysterious deaths as the result of carbon monoxide. Midst Crane's carousing, they meet the mystery of another gas murder, the strange gardenia perfume, the crimson cat, a tennis addict, a plagiarising gunman, and the husky voiced night club singer. J. Important New Books

A Life of News Gathering

"News Is Where You Find It," by Frederic William Wile. [Bobbs Merrill, $3.75.] Published Monday.

At the age of 13, in his native La Porte, Ind., Frederic William Wile started his first newspaper venture, The Wile Evening Journal, for family consumption. This exposure to newspaper life proved chronic. The disease never left him through his years at the University of Notre Dame, and a brief try at bank clerking and stenography. It was as strong in 1898, when he was given his first assignment on the old Record, as it is today in Washington, where he writes editorials and a tri-weekly column.

Here in this autobiography is the record of 40 years of news gathering at home and abroad, the observations of a seasoned reporter, the events of great personal and world importance, and some of his reflections on the world scene. Now in his mellow middle 60s, Mr. Wile retains the same exuberance and enthusiasm with which he covered his first 2-11 fire. J. H. T.

A Domineering Woman

"The Captain's Wife," by Storm Jameson. [Macmillan, $2.50.]

This is the story of a stubborn, selfish, and fiercely domineering woman, the wife of an ungainly, ill-bred English sea captain. Married at 18, Sylvia Russell accompanies her husband on his voyages until, at 26, she bears their first child. Then the captain goes to sea without her, and his prolonged absences become an increasingly welcome relief to her.

As the alienation grows, Sylvia's sense of aloneness and frustration deepens. Unconsciously she lives always under the spell of her more affluent mother, against whom she measures everything and every one. She can never forget the glowing future her mother planned for her and is passionately determined that her children shall fulfill her own lost dreams. She plans for them, schemes for them, binds them to her violently and possessively, finally enslaving them to her emotionally as she herself had been enslaved to her mother.

The delineation of Sylvia, from youth to old age, is done with fidelity and precision. Storm Jameson is adept at the use of significant detail and has a knack for making the unpleasant seem pleasantly real. J. C. B.

Two Novels of the Desert

"Abel Dayton," by Flannery Lewis. [Macmillan, $2.50.]

"Arizona," by Clarence Budington Kelland. [Harpers, $2.]

The youthful understanding of youth that made "Brooks Too Broad for Leaping" a sensitive masterpiece and the strangely mature understanding of old age and past generations that gave charm and vitality to "Suns Go Down" combine to make "Abel Dayton" the best thing Flannery Lewis has done in his brief and promising career. It is the story of a boy's reaction to the rough existence of a desert way station, the adventures of school, the challengingly simple wonders of nature, and, finally, a crippling and frustrating calamity. Lewis' style has the same forceful beauty as a performance by an actor who depends not on histrionics but on understatement.

Clarence Budington Kelland's "Arizona" is the story of a very feminine Calamity Jane named Phoebe Titus. It is a rollicking, exciting, and human yarn of the old Tucson days when it was possible for a lady of spirit to acquire a strong, not too silent husband and a highly profitable freighting and mining business by the brilliant, if simple, expedient of making the best, dam' pies on a pastryless frontier. A book that will take its place as the standard life of a great writer and a great man. It re-creates, for the first time, a cantankerous, witty, shrewd, uncompromising individualist who lived sanely, thought deeply, and wrote the most racy and vigorous prose of any American author. Here is an American tradition and an American man, never more alive, never more important than in a time of world crisis. GUIDE to READING — BOOKS — NEWS and REVIEWS

World's Great Art Treasures in One Gallery

"A Treasury of Art Masterpieces," edited by Thomas Craven. [Simon & Schuster, $10.] Published Friday.

The most beautiful picture book and the most comprehensive popular art anthology of recent years is "A Treasury of Art Masterpieces," which contains 144 reproductions in full color of the great paintings of the western world. It is a book about which a reviewer can only relate the facts, for its value is so obviously not a matter for criticism. Here, in a vast book [it weighs eight pounds and can no more be held in the hand than can an unabridged dictionary] are reproductions of the best of what the museums of France, Italy, England, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Austria, and even Australia, as well as the United States, have to offer eager eyes.

Twenty technicians and color photographers were assigned to take new photographs directly from the original masterpieces especially for this book, and new plates were made from the photographs. Included are some things which have never before been photographed directly in color—the Michelangelo frescos in the Sistine chapel at the Vatican, for instance. It all entailed an enormous amount of work and accounted for a good part of the six years which "A Treasury of Art Masterpieces" has been a-making.

Thomas Craven, author of "Men of Art," has written an introduction, and, to accompany each plate, a brief comment on its artist and his work, which in itself is an outline of art from Giotto and the primitives to the contemporary European and American painters. The plates are grouped by schools and chronologically from the Renaissance to the present.

As far as bookmaking is concerned, this is said to be one of the largest undertakings in publishing history and 100,000 copies were printed before publication. More than 700,000 pounds of paper were used in the manufacture of the first editions. Nearly 14,000,000 plates were examined separately by color experts, of which nearly 2,000,000 were discarded as below the standards of reproduction set for the volume. Any plate may be removed from the book without damaging the binding.

Paintings by Americans

An Artist's Own Story

"An American Artist's Story," by George Biddle. [Little Brown, $4.] Published a week ago Monday.

If it were not for a pen deliciously personal, George Biddle's autobiography would be of interest primarily to artists, for he is one of the best known of "The American School." Naturally he writes about his job and his fellow workers, just as politicians write about politics and authors about writers and the Boni de Castellaines of the world about society when they write their autobiographies.

But George Biddle has that rarest of gifts—the "gift of gab." His pages about his childhood are incomparable. I defy any one to read the first paragraph of this book and stop there.

It starts: "When I was about four and a half years old and Francis three, we decided at the latter's instigation to kill the baby. A sequence of events led up to this resolution. Francis had stolen the baby's rubber doll. The doll was forcibly expropriated from Francis by Irish Mary and returned to the baby. Francis snatched the doll back and slugged the baby in the face with it. For this he was formally punished. We talked things over later and decided that the easiest way was to drop him out onto Spruce street. We got the cradle as far as the third floor window and were working on the latch when Irish Mary again intervened and we were spared a further humiliation."

What it was like to be a boy in Philadelphia between 1885 and 1898, what life was like then at Groton and Harvard, what it was like to ride over the southwest, what it was like in the Paris Latin quarter before the war—all of these experiences Mr. Biddle makes so vivid and so enchantingly amusing that the first half of his book might be a period piece for a literary museum.

But when he goes to war something happens to the brilliant, exciting chronicler's pen. War, of course, is a serious business, and so is art [much more serious than the family business of being a lawyer, about which he is extremely amusing]. Where the first part of the book is as bubbly with gayety and satire as champagne, the last part, except rarely, is serious and just a little sad, like the eyes of the author which look out from his self-portrait on the book's jacket.

For Mr. Biddle's picture of his mother, of his whole childhood environment, "An American Artist's Story" is one of American literature's delights. Read the first part of it, and if you don't thank me for calling it to your attention you haven't any gratitude in you. But don't blame me if you find the last half no match for the first. F. B.

Tells Colonial Tale

Authors and Their Work

Pierre Van Paassen has just returned to America after four months abroad. He is the author of the best seller, "Days of My Years," of which to date the unusual number of 210,000 copies have been printed.

Did you see the news reel which showed a clerk at Foyle's of London stacking copies of Adolf Hitler's "Mein Kampf" as a protection against Nazi air raids?

If a smart order clerk had not read aloud a telegraphed order for "fifty copies of mystery manual," Louis Golding, author of "Mr. Emmanuel" [Viking, $2.50], would have missed some royalties.

Thomasine McGehee writes not of her family, from Alabama, but about the family of her husband, a Virginian, in "Journey Proud" [Macmillan, $2.50].

Frederic F. Van de Water, author of the newest popular "father book," "Fathers Are Funny" [John Day, $2], which tells of the travails of paternity, intended to wait until his son had reached 21 [a year from now] before writing what might prove a controversial book in the Van de Water family. But when Junior reached the height of 6 feet and weight of 195 pounds, Senior decided to write it at once before the hazards became any greater.

Francis Brett Young's newest, "The City of Gold" [Reynal & Hitchcock, $2.75], a continuation of his saga of South Africa, was really fathered by the first world war. He was stationed there as a medical officer in the British army.

Perry Miller, author of "The New England Mind" [Macmillan, $4], was asked by his publishers whether he had any special hobbies. None that seemed appropriate to the subject of his book, he replied, because he was "addicted to baseball and swing music." Maybe that's why he is popular at Harvard, where he is associate professor and tutor in history and English literature.

Mahatma Gandhi was 70 years old yesterday. The authors of two recent books are followers of Gandhi—Krishnalal Shridharani, who describes Gandhi's philosophy of peaceful resistance in "War Without Violence" [Harcourt, $2.50], and Nilla Cram Cook, whose autobiography, "My Road to India" [Furman, $2.75], climaxes a passionate life of individualism with conversion to the "authentic modern saint."

The publication of Faith Baldwin's latest novel, "White Magic" [Farrar & Rinehart, $2], which is about Sun Valley, Idaho, welcomed her home from a six months' journey to farther places, Australia and points down under.

Stories of Two Famous Actors Show Parallels

"The Last Tragedian," by Otis Skinner. [Dodd Mead, $3.]
"Kean," by Giles Playfair. [Dutton, $3.50.]

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

Their times of greatness were apart, but in many respects the American actor, Edwin Booth, and the English actor, Edmund Kean, were alike. Both were among the immortal tragedians of the theater and both had their private lives clouded by tragedy. Both made famous their portrayals of Shakespearean characters.

In "The Last Tragedian" Otis Skinner does not attempt a definitive biography of Booth. He is concerned with the events of Booth's life which the actor interpreted through his own letters. Booth was a voluminous correspondent in the years he flourished before and after the civil war.

The book contains excerpts from letters Booth wrote to his friends, David Anderson, Richard Stoddard, and Lawrence Barrett. They reveal him as a vibrant spirit, almost prodigal in the bon mots he scattered through his letters.

Three tragedies were his lot. One was the infamous action of his brother, John Wilkes Booth, the assassin of Abraham Lincoln. A second was the untimely death of Edwin's first wife, the lovely Mary Devlin. The third was his unhappy second marriage—to Mary McVicker. That Booth rose above all this misfortune to be the epitome of acting greatness to the America of his time is the profoundest tribute to his genius.

Kean, in his heyday in the early years of the nineteenth century, a generation before Booth, was superb as an actor. But he was a failure as a man. He was moody and extrasensitive and had fits of ugliness. He was successful on the American stage, but his greatest ovations were at historic Drury Lane theater in London.

It is said that his Shylock has been imitated but probably never improved on. Kean's approach to his rôles displayed a new technique—a sympathy and amazing depth of interpretation.

In 1816 at Drury Lane theater he acted Othello to the Iago of Junius Brutus Booth, Edwin's father. Some critics said the elder Booth had only lost on points in the performance, others that he had been "mercilessly slaughtered" by Kean.

The tragedy of Kean's life was that his storms of character were never abated by an understanding woman. He died in his early forties, the spark burned out.

Ethel Vance—?

Readers' guesses as to the identity of Ethel Vance, author of "Escape," show I. A. R. Wylie to be the favorite, with Nora Waln, Erich Maria Remarque, and Phyllis Bottome riding neck and neck just behind; Vicki Baum, Erika Mann, and Daphne du Maurier following, and Thomas Mann, Klaus Mann, Dorothy Thompson, Kay Boyle, and Willa Cather coming in last. In most cases excellent and interesting reasons were given for the choices, but Ethel Vance is not yet discovered. Keep on guessing.

What They Are About

NONFICTION.

France and Munich, by Alexander Werth [Harpers, $3.50], subtitled "Before and After Surrender," describes and analyzes the negotiations which preceded that fateful conference, and the widening circles of disaster, and its inevitable climax, from the point of view of France especially. Labor, her internal and external financial status and economics, as well as French national problems, are discussed. John Gunther says of the author: "No other commentator on France can rival him for insight and authority."

The Economic Bases of Peace, by Ernest Minor Patterson [Whittlesey, $2.50], president of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, advocates not one panacea for the world's present disease and one plan for peace but the several approaches of economic nationalism, autarchy, internationalism, intranationalism, regionalism, and a world economy to the peace which will have to be built out of the wreckage of this war.

Chaos in Asia, by Hallett Abend [Washburn, $3], not only describes it from first hand knowledge but explains its causes and the personalities as well as the economics involved in the "undeclared war" raging in China. The author also shows how acutely that chaos affects and can affect the rest of the world.

Southern Lights, by John Rymill [Harpers, $5], is a popular account of the first British expedition to winter in the antarctic in the last 25 years. It tells how 16 young men spent two years there and brought back surprising information which will drastically change the existing maps.

Partner of Nature, by Luther Burbank, edited by Wilbur Hall [Appleton-Century, $3], contains the cream of what that famous naturalist wrote about his revolutionary experiments in plant breeding, edited from the voluminous and enthusiastic records of a man who almost literally performed miracles.

Free Speech and a Free Press, by Giles J. Patterson [Little-Brown, $3], records man's fight through the ages to speak and publish according to his conscience. The author is chairman of the American Bar association's committee on coöperation between the bar, press, and radio.

FICTION.

Manka, the Sky Gipsy, written and illustrated by Denys Watkins-Pitchford [Scribners, $3], is the life story of a wild goose.

The Desert Road to Shani-Lun, by Rita M. Hanson [Binfords, $2], spins a story of adventure in the Gobi desert.

Someone Shall Love Me, by Ethel Owen [Furman, $2], chronicles the romances of a girl and her attractive aunt.

Strange Gods, by Constance Dodge [Penn, $2.50], portrays a brilliant but crippled young scientist.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Democracy's Norris, by Alfred Lief [Stackpole, $3.50], is a definitive biography of Senator Norris of Nebraska.

From Crate to Clipper, by William Stephen Grooch [Longmans, $2], tells the story of Eddie Musick, pioneer pilot.

Henry George, by Albert Jay Nock [Morrow, $2.50], analyzes the historical, political, and social aspects of Henry George's varied life as a gold prospector, journalist, orator, and social philosopher.

Lark Rise, by Flora Thompson [Oxford, $3.50], gives an exact picture of life in an Oxfordshire hamlet in the '80s, in her childhood reminiscences.

Things Used to Be Different, by Alonzo Clark Robinson [Longmans, $2.50], brings back an era now passed in reminiscences of Yale undergraduate life in '98, travels, and famous contemporaries.

POETRY.

Two Volumes About Surgery and Medicine

"The Story of Surgery," by Harvey Graham. [Doubleday-Doran, $3.75.]
"The Hospital," by Kenneth Fearing. [Random House, $2.]

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

These two books are about surgery and medicine, the first a weighty tome of 411 pages penned by a British physician using the pseudonym of Harvey Graham; the second, a slender volume in rapid fire fiction of the realistic school, written, oddly enough, by an American poet, Kenneth Fearing.

From the foreword by Oliver St. John Gogarty to the last page, "The Story of Surgery" is a fascinating book to any one at all interested in the history of medicine. Although the subject is a tremendous one, the author handles it in easy, readable, highly informative style. Most of it is as lively as an adventure tale.

Flint knives, the first scalpels, were used in crude operations on the human skull before the dawn of history. Adhesive tape was in use in 1600 B. C. Anesthesia as we know it today was not discovered until the 19th century, but 'way back in 300 B. C. patients were given a "toxic drink" which drugged them and helped them to bear the agony of a surgical operation. The great names of Hippocrates, Hunter, Cooper, Semmelweis, Lister, Pasteur, and Morton are only a few that cast the radiance of the white light of science along the dark pathway of man's struggle against disease down the centuries.

"The Hospital" is a story of one day in the lives of doctors, nurses, attendants, clerks, and patients in a big city institution. Each person is so real you will not soon forget him after you've followed him about mentally as well as physically in the maze of departments that makes up the hospital. There is comedy, tragedy, humor, and pathos and not one dull page in the book. True, it lacks a sense of unity, but so does a hospital, and if the story is not rounded off neatly at the end, neither is the life it portrays.

EUROPEAN WAR HELPS AMERICAN TOURIST TRAVEL

New Ships Put in Service for Trips South.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

As far as travel is concerned, war-torn Europe's loss is the gain of the peaceful Americas. The Americas—North, South, and Central—stand to reap a heavy crop of tourist dollars that otherwise might have been gathered in overseas.

Anticipating this trend in fall and winter vacations, one of the largest operators in the South American field has placed a fleet of six new freighters in service to augment the service of its three passenger liners running south from New York. The new schedule went into effect Thursday.

Travel by freighter appeals mainly to those who wish to go places economically and with a minimum of companions. Persons romantically inclined dream of sailing away on a small ship that knocks about from port to port, picking up cargo here and landing it there.

12 Passengers Taken.

Sometimes the dreamers actually make the trips, and sometimes they return a bit disillusioned. Not all of the cargo vessels have all the comforts of home—or of the luxury liners.

In this instance, however, it is claimed that the freighters bound for the east coast of South America combine the informality of cargo carriers with the comfort found in the latest passenger carriers. The twelve passengers taken on each voyage are accommodated in six cabins. All cabins are outside and all have private baths.

The ships are so spacious that, on recent trips from Scandinavia to return American citizens stranded in the war zone, one of them handled 206 passengers and another 212. This was achieved by using cargo space as dormitories.

Ships to Fly American Flag.

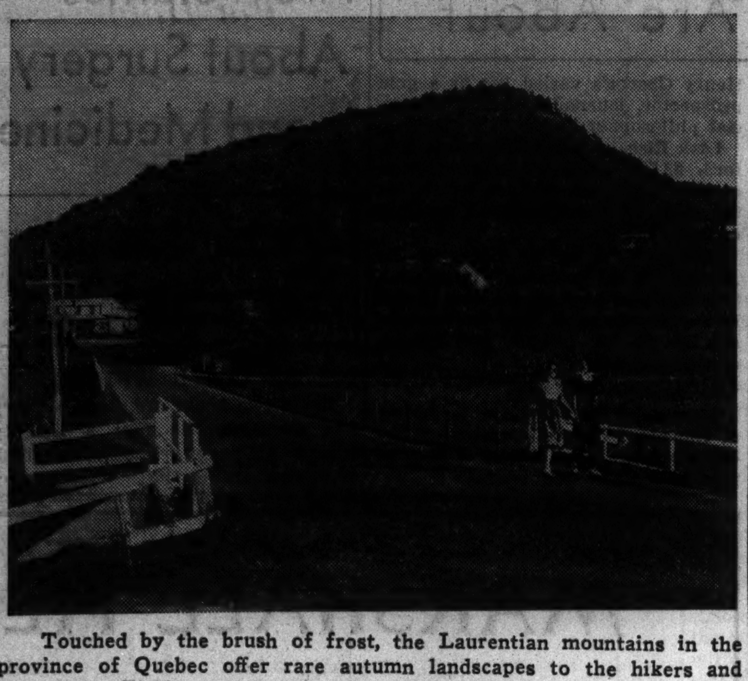
An American steamship company is to operate the freighters. The vessels will fly the American flag and will steer clear of blockaded waters or waters otherwise considered dangerous. No trouble as a result of the war on the other side of the Atlantic is expected.

Ports of call will provide about the same opportunity for sightseeing as is afforded persons on board the company's passenger ships. The latter take 38 days for the voyage to Rio de Janeiro, Santos, Montevideo, Buenos Aires, and return. The freighters will take 41 days.

In Rio the travelers will go on jaunts up Sugar Loaf mountain and the Corcovado and to the surrounding beaches and the Tijuca forest. The program in Buenos Aires includes visits to El Tigre, the cathedral, the Colon theater, and the home of the president. At Sao Paulo [reached by rail from Santos] the tourists will see the famous snake farm, one of the largest of its kind in the world.

[For the name of the steamship company operating these journeys, or further information concerning them, call The Tribune Travel bureau, Superior 0200, local 707, or write to the bureau at 1 South Dearborn street, Chicago.]

Canadian Colorings



Touched by the brush of frost, the Laurentian mountains in the province of Quebec offer rare autumn landscapes to the hikers and motorists. Fishing and hunting are other attractions.

TELLS THRILLING STORY OF 2 RAIDS BY NAZI U-BOAT

Morse code with a blinker light: 'Please follow me.'

"None of us could guess what was in store until the U-boat signaled: 'Just sank a ship. Want you to pick up two life boats.' Capt. Zacharias, the master of the Ida Bakke, and all of us felt better."

An hour later, guided by the submarine, the Ida Bakke came on the 42 members of the crew of the English tanker Influence, which had been carrying 6,000,000 gallons of Diesel engine fuel on its first voyage in the Anglo-Arabian oil trade. The torpedoed oil tanker had gone to the bottom, and the crew had been in lifeboats four hours.

"But the crew bore no animosity toward the U-boat," said Boyd. "Capt. Michaels of the tanker told me the submarine commander had treated them well. When we asked them how they felt, the Britons shrugged and said that the Germans had a job to do and had done it.

Submarine Stands By.

"The U-boat stood by the Ida Bakke, two boat lengths away, until the last of the tanker's crew had been hauled aboard and the two lifeboats were on deck.

"As the submarine started to move away all those on our deck joined in giving the Germans three cheers. The Germans waved back and shouted, 'Heil Hitler.' Then the U-boat submerged."

The Ida Bakke then put back to Ireland. The freighter arrived at Kinsale, near Cape Clear, on the morning of Sept. 15. A coast guard cutter took off the British tanker's crew and the Ida Bakke resumed her westward voyage.

"Toward evening, when we were in about the same place where we had left the submarine, we received a radio message from a U-boat," Boyd continued. "Later we learned it was the same one that had sunk the British Influence.

"It instructed us to go west 75 miles, where it said we would find the crew of the torpedoed Anglo-American tanker, Cheyenne, in two life boats. We followed instructions and found Capt. Kerr, the master of the Cheyenne, and the 37 members of his crew.

Seamen Bail With Hats.

"Their life boats apparently never had been in the water before and were leaking badly. The men were bailing with their hats and shoes."

The tanker's crew members said they had been in life boats for two hours. Their boat was carrying 8,000,000 gallons of gasoline.

"We could see the Cheyenne outlined against the horizon," said Boyd. "She was broken in two. Capt. Kerr said he had refused to heed the U-boat's first commands to stop. The submarine then fired several warning shots and finally dropped one into the tanker's galley. Capt. Kerr then stopped his ship.

"Kerr said he told the German he thought he could escape, but that the latter replied: 'You couldn't get away. I could have sunk you any time, but I did not want to kill any one. Get into your life boats.

Fires Two Torpedoes.

"'I'll come back in an hour or two. I'm going to find a ship to pick up your men. If I can't find one, I'll tow you to Ireland. If that is necessary, I'll give you a cup of tea first on my deck.'"

Then the submarine fired a torpedo at the tanker. It missed. A second one was fired. It cut the big oil carrier in half. Then the submarine submerged.

"It was after that," Boyd continued, "that the submarine directed us to the tanker's lifeboats. After we got there the submarine reappeared and stood by.

"Just then a British destroyer steamed over the horizon. It circled the Ida Bakke, then spotted the submarine, and opened fire.

"The U-boat opened fire on the destroyer at the same time. Both were some distance away, but we followed the course of the battle by the gun fire. Bright bursts of yellow fire split the darkness. Finally the sub submerged. We learned later that neither had scored a hit.

"Then the destroyer finished the job on the Cheyenne. It fired two shells which set two halves of the hulk afire."

The Ida Bakke landed the survivors at Kinsale, Ireland, and started west again. This time the trip was uneventful. Boyd left the freighter at Havana, Cuba, took another boat to New Orleans, La., and came to Chicago by train.

WITH EUROPE CLOSED, MANY TOURISTS LOOK TO PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

Now that Europe is virtually closed to American travelers, many of them are looking to the Philippine Islands as one of the places to visit this winter.

F. J. Garay.

So said F. J. Garay, chief of the passenger department of the Compania Maritima, largest interisland steamship line in the Philippines, following his arrival in Chicago last week.

Mr. Garay is touring the American mainland in an effort to acquaint tourists with the scenery and vacation possibilities on the islands. In this city he was the guest of Leo Mathews, general passenger agent of the American President Lines.

Dog Lovers to See Field Trials Next Week-end

BY JUDITH CASS.

LLOYD L. BATEMAN'S farm in Barrington and Dr. Paul Magnuson's pheasant preserve in Dundee, near Barrington, will be the destination of lovers of sporting dogs on Saturday and Sunday, when the annual field trials of the English Springer Spaniel Field Trial Club of Illinois will be held.

Sunday will be the big day, for then the open all-age stake will be held. In this stake, mature dogs will be competing for championship points, and the finest springers of the east as well as of the middle west will take part.

Three dogs recently imported from England by James Simpson Jr. will make their debuts on Sunday, competing against the foremost field trial champion springer of the east, Finglen Johnnie of Strawberry Hill. Johnnie is owned by the Frazier Horns of New York, who are expected to be here for the event. Mr. Horn is entering four dogs in the stake.

Other easterners here for the trials will be Mrs. Walton Ferguson Jr. of Fairfield, Conn., who will be the senior judge of the open all-age stake, and Eltinge F. Warner, publisher of Field and Stream, who will be one of the official guns. Mrs. Ferguson and Mr. Warner will be house guests of Dr. and Mrs. Magnuson for the week-end.

Magnusons Will Give Luncheon.

The Magnusons are giving a luncheon on Sunday at their home for the judges and out of town springer fanciers. Mr. Simpson is entertaining at dinner at his home in Wadsworth Friday night for Mrs. Ferguson and Mr. Warner. Mrs. Simpson is expected to return from New York tomorrow or Friday. The George F. Henneberrys are keeping open house for their friends among the competitors and spectators on Sunday in their beautiful new home in Barrington.

It is probable that Conway Olmsted will have an entry in the trials. He just recently has gone in for training springers. Among other north shore residents who undoubtedly will be on hand to see the Sunday trials are the Gaylord Donnelleys, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kelley, the junior Charles S. Deweys, the Hugh Johnstons and Hulburd Johnston, and Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hutchins. None of them trains springers, but all are interested in sporting dogs. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchins are not year round country residents, for after the hunting season they will move into Seasonal Phenomena.

October, and a new Chicago season comes to life. The stores are crowded with autumn shoppers; students riding the elevated have their noses in their textbooks; the early morning milkman has donned his heavy sweater, and in nearly every vacant lot the lads are playing football and touchball. The drinking fountains along the beaches are being covered against the coming frost, the trees in the parks are being trimmed, and the flower bulbs are being taken up for their winter's rest. There are little curbside bonfires in the residential districts, and the smell of burning leaves gives the final incontestable stamp of the season.

The amber and amethyst elegance of the Casino club drawing room on East Delaware place, and its silver pillared dining room, are enlivened with activity. The Arts club's baroque dining room, with its pale blue plaster draperies and fuchsia satin chairs, is again a background for autumnal reunions. The handsome head waiters of the town—the urbane Fred at the Empire room, suave Louis at the Key club, courteous Larry and Gallic Camille at the Pump room, and tall René at the Yar—are bowing to patrons in new clothes, with new figures and new complexions. There was a theater opening this week, and theatergoers are humming Ethel Waters' Jail House song.

Typed but Not Tried.

A "peace" cocktail is being served by Louis of the Columbia Yacht club. Two of these would make even Hitler's heart melt, it is said. The recipe:

⅓ jigger brandy
⅓ jigger cordial
⅓ jigger pure cream
½ teaspoon of vanilla extract
1 teaspoon 100% American bourbon.

Shake well, serve in cocktail glass, shake nutmeg on top.

Card Divertissement.

Victor Elting, who is in town visiting with old friends this week, has a new card stunt which is diverting: Deal six piles of cards, putting as many in each pile as it takes to count eleven, starting with the number of the first card in the pile. [Thus, if the first card thrown down is a seven, deal four more for the pile; if the first card in the second pile is a three, deal eight more.] King, queen, and jack count as ten if they appear as the first card in one of the piles, but they count only as one thereafter. When the six piles are completed, take up three piles and put them with the remaining cards in the pack. Count off sixteen and put these aside. The number of the cards remaining in your hand will be the same as the sum of the three top cards in the three rows remaining.

Personal.

That tall, gray haired man who went backstage to greet Ethel Waters after her superb performance in Mamba's Daughters the opening night was J. D. Heyward, brother of Author Du Bose Heyward. "Tell Mr. and Mrs. Heyward I still love them," said Miss Waters. . . . And the tall, handsome young man with the brown eyes who applauded Doris Dudley when she modeled gowns at the fashion show at Jacques' French restaurant yesterday was her husband, Jack Jenkins of Los Angeles. . . . That was a full blooded Indian, Princess Red Rock, who was singing at Riccardo's the other evening. . . . And the blonde girl in a pink frock with black accessories at the Panther room the other night was Betty Grable, with her mother.

Protestant Women.

The Protestant Women's Service club will begin the new season with a luncheon meeting at 12:30 o'clock today in the Wedgwood room of Marshall Field & Co.

Winter Coats Please Most Exacting Buyers

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Early coat shoppers are gloating over the most distinctive collections ever unpacked. Winter coats are models that should please the most exacting and demanding buyers. Sleek, distinguished affairs for the sophisticate are made of handsome fabrics in dull textures, trimmed with luxurious furs. There are all kinds of dull black superslenderizing winter coats trimmed with frosty silver fox, and plenty of dull blacks trimmed with cinnamon brown flat fur such as mink, kolinsky, sable dyed marten, and others. These unquestionably are the most subtle of black and brown combines.

Some of the most exciting finds are the black wool coats lavishly trimmed with fur. . . . An entire front of gleaming black, flat, silky caracul. . . . A top half of caracul or curly tight Persian, or the glamorous looking coats with entire sleeves and shoulder yokes of fur. Other more fur-than-wool coats feature entire circular flared skirts of fur and then repeat the fur in tiny collars and small neat cuffs.

Colored coats are fascinating and subtle contrasts of fabric and fur this season. . . . As examples, a stunning deep carbon blue wool that is trimmed with beautiful gunmetal gray moleskin; a deep olive green wool contrasted with the entire front of tawny gold leopard skin; the eye blinding orange red topcoat with a deep hood trimmed with a band of silver fox together with many smooth gold colored coats trimmed with exceptionally lustrous sheared beaver. The most unusual coats are the dark colored green wools trimmed with moleskin dyed in a deeper shade of cypress green. Whatever need for winter weather comfort in the shape of a coat, it's here now!

Methodists of Area Meet for 100th Time

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, head of the Methodist church in the Chicago area, presided yesterday over the opening sessions of the 100th annual Rock River conference in St. James' church, 4600 Ellis avenue. The meeting today will become the first conference of the recently merged Methodist church.

The meeting at St. James was attended by representatives of the old Rock River conference, which includes most of northern Illinois and a few churches of the former Illinois conference of the Methodist Protestant church. There are no parishes of the former Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in the prescribed area. The two old conferences will be disbanded today and a new Rock River conference will be immediately convened.

Probably the most important business at this conference, which will last through Sunday, is the election of delegates to the general conference in 1940. The general conference is held quadrennially.

Two months after the general conference will be held the jurisdictional conference. Delegates to this also will be elected at the present Chicago meeting. The office of delegate to either of these conferences is highly regarded because there will be members of founding sessions of the church's governing bodies.

The conference adopted a resolution praising Cardinal Mundelein as a "great Christian and great citizen" and expressed condolences to the Catholics of Chicago.

Pot Holders and Dish Cloths

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Pot holders and dish cloths might well match the color scheme of every well regulated kitchen. Handmade dish cloths and pot holders are the simplest of crochet jobs, and can be created for virtually nothing. The waffle stitch holder is finished with a contrasting shell pattern. The block pattern holder is edged in the same way. Two colors for the dish cloth provide added charm to an otherwise commonplace article.

For instructions in crocheting the pot holders and dish cloths, No. X-135, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Looking at Hollywood By Ed Sullivan

Column on Raymond Massey.

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 3.—Raymond Massey, who played them both, believes that there is an amazing similarity between the characters of Abe Lincoln and Hamlet. . . . "Both were strongly metaphysical," he points out. . . . "Both were absorbed with death. Both feared reality, and both feared responsibility, though both were impelled to discharge responsibilities.

"Both were melodramatic in their conceptions of many things. Both were fine athletes. Both of them lived lives that were strongly colored by tragedy. Both of them were introspective."

Lincoln's attitude toward life, Massey believes, can best be summed up in Hamlet's soliloquy in Act I., scene 11, when he thus comments:

"O, that this too too solid flesh would melt,
Thaw, and resolve itself into a dew;
Or that the Everlasting had not fixt
His cannon 'gainst self-slaughter.
O God! O God!
How weary, stale, flat and unprofitable
Seems to me all the uses of this world!
Fie on't! Oh fie, 'tis an unweeded garden,
That grows to seed: Things rank and gross in nature Possess it merely."

"Lincoln several times thought of suicide," points out Massey, "as his writings reveal. Sensitive, introspective—the clamor of the world depressed him, and perhaps the greatest tragedy of all was that this type of person should have been forced by circumstances beyond his control to lead your country when the civil war was resulting in thousands of deaths, and tens of thousands of sorrows.

"That he performed a magnificent job is the greatest tribute to his greatness. He was, in every sense, the finest exponent of democracy."

I commented on the fact that Britisher Charles Laughton, in "Ruggles of Red Gap," had delivered Lincoln's Gettysburg speech more tellingly than any American actor ever had rendered it, and that Canadian Massey's interpretation of Lincoln in Illinois had hit a new high water mark. . . . The conclusion, I ventured, was that Britishers were more sensitive to Lincoln than Americans.

Massey smiled: "That is flattering but not entirely true. My background is American. Our family were in the first Salem settlement in Massachusetts. While I'm English, my entire life has had a Yankee coloring and my approach to Lincoln was an American approach, despite what has been written."

Director John Cromwell broke in to recall that in London Drinkwater's Lincoln was played by an Irish actor, William Ray, with a brogue so thick that you could cut it with a mashie-niblick.

Massey's Lincoln has excited tremendous interest and comment on the RKO lot, and Max Gordon and Harry Goetz, out from New York to keep an eye on their star and their property, believe that Massey's portrait will be one of the fine things of the cinematic year. . . . "You know," enthused Gordon, "on the screen he is so much like Lincoln that at times he scares me." . . . Commented Goetz: "If he didn't remind us of Lincoln, he'd scare me."

Lunching with Massey, it is difficult to conceive of this figure, dressed in a Lincoln makeup, as a world war veteran. . . . Yet he saw service from the third battle of Ypres on.

Massey does not believe that England and France will launch a frontal attack on the Siegfried line. . . . "The attackers lose three men to every one defender," he pointed out. "The loss of life would be enormous in a frontal attack. I think, and of course this is only conjecture, that the allies will rely upon a blockade to starve Germany into a rebellion against the Hitler clique."

With some difficulty, I steered the conversation away from the war to Massey's interesting comparison of Hamlet and Lincoln.

"Do you know, from your study of Lincoln, if he realized the similarity between him and Hamlet?", I asked.

"Perhaps he did," said Massey, "but his favorite Shakespearean play was 'Macbeth'."

Good Morning!

The Garrick has an interesting double feature bill this week.

Most of the scenes are laid in the Central High school. Here you find the lovable kid who's always getting into hot water, the bad boys who keep it boiling for him, the flip girls who help them make life miserable for him, the ugly duckling who turns out to be a swan girl who worships him hopelessly for quite some time, and assorted teachers, etc., who fulfill their vocations most engrossingly.

Henry Aldrich is big, lovable, and sort of dumb, excepting as to his drawing. Along this line he's a whiz. His caricatures of his dear teachers further his downward progress in the school. The boy's inferiority complex, brought about principally through his failure to live up to the high expectations of a father who had stood high in classes and fraternity, keeps him constantly in an apologetic state and finally leads to cheating during an important examination, and lying when he's found out. Because of this he's suspected of a theft of which he's innocent.

Fortunate for Henry that the assistant principal is a young fellow who knows the workings of a kid's mind. The manner in which Henry is "gentled" and helped to get on top of himself is most interestingly detailed.

The audience just loved "What a Life"—and with reason. The acting's all swell, the dialog's immense, situations are credible and often awfully funny, and direction was tops.

"U-Boat 29" is a gripping little programmer dealing with war and tragedy war brings at sea. Characterizations are excellently drawn and a chill air of suspense and hopelessness pervades the whole.

The principal rôles are in the capable hands of Conrad Veidt, Valerie Hobson, Sebastian Shaw, and Marius Goring. Bit portrayals are colorful. Direction by Michael Powell was splendid.

See you soon.

They Hunted a Fox

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1939: by Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Alison Young and her fiancé, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, are guests at Cheneys, the English country estate of Tom Boldre, to attend a fox hunt and ball. Wynn Marchmont, sister of Tom's wife, Pat, is engaged to Tom's brother, Derek, a veterinary. Alison overhears a love scene between Pat and Arthur Kingsclere. Cheneys is mortgaged to the hilt. Gregg, Tom's agent, urges him to accept an offer made for the estate, but Tom refuses to sell. At the hunt, from a far off hill, Alison and Colin see Tom thrown and a man bending over him. When they reach the accident they find Derek stooping over Tom's prostrate form. A farmer, Glover, happens along and helps them. Tom, revived, is surprised that Derek, rather than his neighbor, Maj. Fitts, had been with him. Three weeks later Tom is again thrown and dies soon after. Alison visits Wynn at Cheneys. Riding near the scene of Tom's first accident they find the dead body of farmer Glover. Official verdict is that Glover was killed by a shot from a passing car. Kingsclere, Derek and Maj. Fitts all drove that way. Inspector Headcorn from Scotland Yard investigates. He finds the murder weapon. It belongs to Maj. Fitts, but was stolen the afternoon of the day Glover was shot—after Kingsclere and Derek had called. Dr. Blount, who'd attended Tom and pronounced his death due to a heart attack, suffers an apparent stroke while the inspector questions him. His colleague, Dr. Cox, says he can't be disturbed for three weeks. The inspector sends for Dr. Colin Ladbroke, who knew Tom's heart was sound.

INSTALMENT XXI.
CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS.

Headcorn consulted the superintendent's report on the three original suspects. Yes, Dr. Blount had been with the man Larch till just before 6 o'clock, and Larch's home was situated only half a mile from this village. Eagerly the inspector examined his chart of tire prints. The one set as yet unidentified revealed clear portions, carefully annotated.

"I doubt if that hand of his could have taken sure aim from a moving car. We'll have a look at his bus all the same."

The cinder path beside the house led to an unlocked garage, in which stood the dirty two-seater.

"The same right enough—and the tracks it made lay immediately under Kingsclere's." Headcorn repocketed his torch. "Still," doubtfully—"it's not all plain sailing."

"Meaning you'll have to establish he pinched the major's revolver?"

"That, yes, but even tougher things. Well, one move at a time."

At ten of a bright morning, Colin Ladbroke pulled Dr. Blount's jangling bell, and doing so cast a sneak thief glance over his shoulder at the placid village street. He had no wish to advertise this flying visit to Sompton. Whichever way the cat jumped his meddling must place him in an invidious position. Though longing to see Alison, he meant to get this job over and catch the first London bound train.

"Yes, sir?"

A sturdy maid servant, grubby with black lead, was holding open the door. Colin nodded, strode authoritatively past her and made for the stairs.

"I know the room," he said firmly. "Don't bother to show me up."

The black bag and the professional manner had worked like a charm. The girl never doubted he was a partner deputizing for Dr. Cox. Alone on the cramped landing he shed both manner and bag. He tapped on a partly-open door and pushed tentatively into the room.

"Well, doctor!" he said heartily. "What's this I hear about your being crocked up?"

His entrance had caused no flurry. The occupant of the bed lay very still, a mountainous hump under the covers. Had he been smoking? Around his head hung a bluish fog. His muddy eyes had slewed around, a queer gleam at the back of them. His unshaven jaw dropped.

"Just passing," breezed Colin. "Thought I'd call in and see how you were. Remember me, don't you? We met, you know, at Maj. Fitts' breakfast party some few weeks ago."

The nonplussed expression altered to mild gratification. It made the coming task even more dastardly.

"Um, yes." Blount's deep rumble was fairly distinct. "Some girl with you, eh? Saw her the other day. Take a pew, Mr.——?"

So both name and medical connection had failed to register. Relieved, Colin drew an armchair close to the bed and sat down. His foot kicked over a quart bottle shrouded by the overhanging blanket. He righted it.

"And what's your damage, sir? Another sporting event?"

Mentally Colin said, rotten color. Shot to pieces with drink. Damn it, the old ragamuffin may be paralytic. . . .

"No. No." Laboriously Blount moved his shaggy head. "Little seizure. Right side. Pass off in time."

"My hat, I didn't realize! Bad show."

"Tongue went for a bit," continued the sufferer, adding with sardonic humor, "bad handicap, that. Have to swear at my patients."

"O, rather!" Colin grinned. "Mind if I smoke?"

Reaching the matchbox, he saw it—a blackened pipe bowl, propped against the bedside lamp, hot fumes spiraling from its charred dottle. It lay on the doctor's useless side. To deposit it here would have been no mean feat. . . .

"I was about to say . . . God, doctor, look out!"

With a squib explosion the match box, aflame, had dropped full on the deadened arm. There came a ripped oath, a vast vigorous upheaval of bedclothes.

"Whew, I'm sorry!"

The blunderer had swept the firebrand to the carpet and was stamping on four extinct matches. He took shrewd observations, reseated himself, and spoke in an altered tone.

"Quick recovery, that. Torn it a bit, haven't you, doctor? Now, then!" Colin's eye had turned steely. "Shall we have the truth concerning this neat little dodge?"

A ferocious glare. "What the blazes—?"

"Well, haven't I called your bluff? You'd forgotten I myself was a doctor. Forgotten, too, that I was Tom Boldre's friend. What you can't have known is that I had occasion to test his heart—and that I found it entirely normal, with a strong, regular beat. No, let me finish!" Colin went on with rapid incisiveness. "Here's what happened. Correct me if I'm wrong. Boldre went phut directly you gave him—very properly—that little squirt of anti-tetanus. You neglected, I assume, to make sure he'd been desensitized?"

"No!" roared the doctor. "I did ask. He swore to me he had after the last injection. What blasted right—"

"Then why—but no matter. You saw at once what had happened?"

"I—I couldn't be certain."

"Doctor, you were certain. All your behavior goes to prove it. Here in a hunting country you've been used to administering this anti-toxin, so you knew all about it. Boldre's had it before?"

"Twice. Not lately."

"And the last occasion?"

Tormented silence. As though flayed on the raw the old man mumbled, "I hadn't the record with me. I was hunting too, don't forget. Had my bag sent over."

"So you merely took Boldre's word. You can't be blamed for doing that, but why, in God's name, didn't you instantly give him a dose of adrenalin? It would have saved his life."

"Bottle empty," groaned Blount. "I tried to rush some over from the Cottage hospital. There wasn't—time. . . ."

"Quite." Grimly Colin stood up. "That's all, doctor. Inspector Headcorn is outside and will take any statement you may see fit to give him." With a curt nod he quitted the room.

On the doorstep the inspector met him eagerly.

"Did the storm tactics work?"

"O, yes! Not that I'm feeling exactly proud. Poor devil! I doubt if he bothers to keep records—and his memory of course, lets him down. He's been on the rack and he deserves it—chiefly for criminal carelessness in the nonreplenishment of drugs."

Right Training Makes Girl a Charmer

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Take another look at that pigtailed youngster of yours. In ten years, points out Arthur Murray, she will be ready to step into adult social life. You won't have to worry about her staggering the stag line, for her teeth will be a milky row due to a brace worn during adolescent years, her hair a gleaming coiff [150 brush strokes nightly since she was 8].

How about her social manners? She may attract men through her beauty of form and face, but will she be able to hold them? Will she be able to mingle graciously at parties? Many girls, even well into their twenties, suffer from the agonies of self-consciousness.

The contacts and courtesies of the dance floor give girls a sureness that carries over into the years, says this ballroom dancing authority, who adds:

"I have noticed that people who learned to dance when they were children have ingrained manners when they grow up. When people's manners are worn so easily that they seem 'second nature' to them, more likely than not they date from dancing class days."

If you are planning to start your daughter early, here are the points to stress:

1. How to receive party guests.
2. How to present guests to each other.
3. How to acknowledge introductions.
4. The duties of a hostess.
5. Fitting her dancing to the environment.
6. How to accept a dance partner.
7. How to refuse graciously.
8. How to make conversation during the course of the dance.
9. How to follow the leader in the latest dance steps.

Casserole Dish Is Short Cut in This Dinner

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Sweet potatoes, balls of sausage, and a little pineapple juice for flavoring make a delicious oven casserole for a short cut dinner. The sausage drippings season the potatoes just enough to make them unusually savory. Canned sweet potatoes shorten the baking time, of course. Or fresh sweet potatoes may be boiled the day before or morning of the dinner so that no time will be lost when it comes to putting the quick meal together.

SHORT CUT DINNER.
Casserole of Sausage and Sweet Potatoes
Creamed Celery with Pimiento
Apple, Carrot and Raisin Salad
Whole Wheat Rolls [bakery]
Chocolate Pudding [prepared mix]
Coffee

Casserole of Sausage and Sweet Potatoes.
[Serves four generously.]

1 can sweet potatoes or 4 medium cooked sweet potatoes
1 pound bulk sausage
2 teaspoons brown sugar
¾ cup pineapple juice or one small can crushed pineapple

Split the potatoes and arrange them in greased casserole. Sprinkle with the brown sugar. Shape the sausage into small cakes and brown on both sides in a skillet. This process will allow some of the fat to cook out, which is a good idea, for we don't want the casserole supersaturated with fat. Now place the sausage cakes on top of the potatoes, pour over the combination the pineapple juice or crushed pineapple and bake in a moderate oven until the meat is done, about 30 minutes. You needn't cover the casserole.

Creamed Celery with Pimiento.
[Serves four.]

2 cups diced celery
1 pimiento, cut in pieces
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons melted butter
1½ cups milk and liquid in which celery is cooked
Salt, pepper

Boil celery until tender in salted water. Drain and use the liquid with enough milk to make 1½ cups for the sauce. Combine flour and butter, add liquid gradually, and cook until smooth and thickened. Add celery and pimiento, seasonings to taste, heat through, and serve.

APPLE, CARROT AND RAISIN SALAD.

Combine diced apples with half the amount of slivered crisp carrot and raisins. Add enough mayonnaise or cooked dressing to moisten. A sprinkling of sugar may be added to the dressing if it is tart.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Have you seen the hairbrush made with synthetic bristles? It's rather exciting, and after a good deal of careful experimentation with it we've decided that as a hair groomer it would be hard to top.

It has a composition back and handle, either transparent or in soft colors, and the man-made bristles are as strong and elastic as any honest-to-goodness bristles you've ever seen. They practically never wear down and they keep their elasticity.

When you use the brush you have a feeling that it doesn't pull or get down to the scalp surface the way brushes with regular bristles do. But this feeling is all wrong. The brush is light weight and feels, as some one remarked, "like nothing" when you draw it through your hair. But you'll notice, after just a few strokes, that it brings up luster beautifully and tames the hair perfectly.

We tried it on our own unruly locks and had several other people, all with thick, sprightly hair, give it a workout, too. The unanimous report was that the sensation was deceiving. You stroke your hair hard but it doesn't feel like a hard stroke. Then, when you look in your mirror, you see the looks of your hair improving before your very eyes.

These brushes aren't expensive and we think they're very, very good. It may be, what with wars and such, that the synthetic bristles may be universally used eventually. If that comes to pass we'll have nothing to complain of. If all synthetic bristles are as good as these we shan't mind in the least.

October 4, 1939.

An expansive day, but with feelings running high. For those in a 9-year, including today's birthday children, October is the beginning of a freer period when they will be able to look ahead hopefully to a calmer and more aggressive year in 1940. These last few months are still charged with emotion, but they can plan ahead for the future in this month.

Twenty Good Reasons Why Baby Won't Eat

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If one of those survey or research people were to ask me, "What kind of behavior in children troubles parents most?" I would say instantly, "Well, it's about fifty-fifty between how to gain obedience and how to make their children eat."

If you're one of the latter and are quite put to it to see a way out, take a pencil in your hand, carefully consider each of the following twenty causes of the mealtime blues in your family, and check the likely ones:

1. The child may be too tired or too excited from play to eat.
2. He may have had too little exercise or fresh air to induce a normal appetite.
3. Too little time may have been allowed him to leave his interesting and engrossing play or other activity and to accommodate himself to the idea of eating.
4. There may be discomfort due to wrong chair and table. The young child's feet need support at the adult's table and his chair should be right as to height. Or he should have his own low, broad chair and table.
5. Eating utensils may be too difficult to handle.
6. Table accidents — broken china, spilled food, and so forth may be associated with unhappy emotions of dismay or fear of grownups' disapproval.
7. There may be irregularity of mealtimes.
8. Expecting a child to learn too quickly the skill of feeding himself. [Failure and disapproval lead to discouragement.]
9. Giving a child too little help. [This leads to weariness.]
10. Expecting him to eat too much. His appetite and hunger vary, like ours. Also, he may be overtired or coming down with a cold or other illness and have a distaste for food.
11. Too much excitement or distraction while at the table, particularly in the early stages of learning.
12. Too many new foods added too fast.
13. Difference in consistency as food becomes more solid—quite a factor, by the way.
14. The mother trying for good manners in the young child.
15. Being made to sit still too long.
16. Tasting grownups' more highly seasoned food or seeing it on the table.
17. Hearing talk of food dislikes.
18. Too interesting conversation at the table, and similar distractions.
19. Punishing or scolding because of failure to eat.
20. The child being allowed to dawdle too long.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

The philosophy of the duplicate player must be vastly different from that of the rubber bridge player. The latter, when on defense, keeps only one objective in mind—to defeat the contract, come what may. He does not bother his head about possible overtricks. If a desperate defense goes wrong and results in overtricks for the declarer, said defender can console himself with the logical reflection that "at least he tried." At duplicate, desperation defenses are taboo. Unless there is a very fair chance of defeating the contract, the defenders should make no effort to defeat it. They should fall back to their second line of trenches and stave off overtricks. Note how East, in today's hand, applied this philosophy.

West, dealer.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 heart	Double
Pass	2 diamonds	Pass	2 no trump
Pass	3 no trump	Pass	Pass
Pass

North should have answered the take-out double with one spade, rather than two diamonds but, in this particular case, the two diamond bid turned out very well.

West opened the seven of hearts. East played properly by putting in the ten spot. Declarer won and cashed the ace and king of clubs, then led the club nine. On the second club lead, declarer discarded a heart from dummy, and on the third, deliberately threw off a good spade. There was method in this madness. Declarer wanted to create the impression in East's mind that the spade suit was not solid and, in that way, coax a spade or heart return, rather than a shift to diamonds. Obviously, declarer could not know that the diamond suit offered no danger, that it was blocked by reason of the single guard for East's ace. East, however, on winning the club queen, took a very suspicious view of the proceedings. He knew that declarer still had a heart stopper. He also was virtually sure that declarer had started with a six card club suit which now was established. If East were to attempt to establish his own heart suit, retaining the diamond ace for stopper and entry, and depending on West to stop the spade suit, and if it developed that West had no such spade stopper, declarer would take in all five club tricks, two hearts and three spades.

Theoretically, there was an equal chance that if declarer lacked either the diamond or the spade king, it would be the latter, but there was declarer's peculiar discard of the spade from dummy to take into consideration. Why should he have let go a spade from four, rather than a low diamond from five? Could there be any other reason except to trap East into believing that he need not fear the spade suit? Perhaps declarer had had no such deep-dyed intention, but East thought otherwise. He finally concluded that he would not try to defeat this particular contract, but would cash whatever tricks he could. To that end, after winning with the club king, he cashed the heart ace and the diamond ace, then when West signaled with the diamond ten, continued the diamond deuce to West's king.

The fact that these defenders had held declarer to his contract returned them a better than average match-point score.

Ryerson Makes Plea for Public Support of City's Symphony

With the opening of the Chicago Symphony orchestra's 49th season only nine days away, Edward L. Ryerson Jr., president of the Orchestral association, yesterday made an appeal to all Chicagoans to support the organization.

He pointed out that the city is indebted to past generations of public spirited people for the establishment and maintenance of the orchestra's high musical standards. Nothing is asked now but that the public purchase tickets to the concerts and, when possible, season subscriptions.

Although the cost per ticket is well below the cost of production, the difference has in past years been made up by endowment funds and by income from Orchestra hall. The present financial difficulties are the result of shrinkage in endowment income, and only increased patronage on the part of the general public will make it possible to maintain the quality of the orchestra.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Two teams which finished fourth in their leagues; two teams that tied in defensive strength on the basis of regulars' fielding averages; two teams hungry for the winner's share to supplement their equal shares of the world series pot; and two pitchers, each of whom won 15 games and lost 8 in their respective leagues. That'll be the set-up in Comiskey park at 8 o'clock tonight when the White Sox and the Cubs launch their 22d fall series for the major league baseball championship of Chicago before an estimated crowd of 40,000.

The Sox will be defending the title which they now hold and which they have won in 15 series. The Cubs will be after their sixth championship, their first since 1930.

John Rigney.

Larry French.

Cubs Gained Toward End.

Larry French will be the Cub pitcher. He beat the Sox twice in the last city series, in 1937, though the Cubs lost, four games to three. John D. Rigney will pitch for the Sox. John has won his spurs since the last city series, in which he made only one appearance, as a reliever. He won eleven straight this season, including three night masterpieces.

Though the White Sox choked piteously in the closing fortnight of their American league season, they will enter the series favorites, mostly on the basis of precedent. They never have any tonsil trouble in competition with the Cubs. The Cubs improved late in the season over their early form. They are well rested as a result of the most unsuccessful season the Cubs have experienced since 1927.

Sox Lose Batting Punch.

The Sox were outhitting the Cubs by a wide margin until they wilted on their last eastern trip, a trip on which they won eight of their first nine games and lost seven of their last eight visits to ball parks. They made more hits during the season, 1,451 to 1,407, but the Cubs had them skinned on long range smacks.

The Sox have one man, Gee Walker, who drove in 111 runs, whereas the Cubs' top run batter-inner was Hank Leiber, with 88. But Walker has been doing a big nose dive for a month, while Leiber didn't really strike his best gait till September. Leiber knocked 24 home runs, more than a third of the Sox's team total. The top homer knockers on the Sox were Joe Kuhel with 15 and Walker with 13.

Sox Can Run Those Bases.

The Sox are faster than the Cubs and usually hustle. The Cubs rarely hustle and are slow, even when they are trying to speed. Mike Kreevich, for instance, stole 23 bases. The best base thief on the Cubs was Stan Hack with 17. The next man to Stan was Bill Herman with 10. Eric McNair and Kuhel each stole 18 bases for the Sox; Walker tied Hack, and Appling stole 16. All the Sox speedsters are better base runners than the Cubs, aside from the stealing

The Mother.

Her day was filled up with a thousand cares
Within the little household where she reigned,
She scrubbed and cooked and taught her babes their prayers
While others went abroad or entertained;
And yet her life seemed radiant with joy,
Ana everybody loved her happy smile;
Her golden heart was free from all alloy,
A valiant mother she, who knew no guile.

She reared no marble monument for time
To crumble silently into the dust;
She penned no sagas in immortal rime
Nor laid up riches for the moth and rust;
But ere they placed her still form in the sod
She raised a host of children up to God. —T. E. B.

It occurs to me that I ought to send it to Chairman Dies and make known to him that since Jazbo, Hilary Haw, T. E. So I wrote a pleading letta to my wandering Henrietta.
Here's my Henrietta letta which should getta back to me.

WALDORF BUILDS UP STRONG CASE FOR OKLAHOMA

N. U. Coach Is Fearful of Saturday's Result.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

"We thought we had a better than fair defense last year," Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern coach, said yesterday, as he talked of the opening football game Saturday with the University of Oklahoma, "but according to the figures, Oklahoma was twice as good. Oklahoma permitted only an average gain of 41.3 yards by rushing for each game. It's no wonder that all of Oklahoma's Big Six opponents failed to score.

"Northwestern allowed an average gain from scrimmage of one hundred and ten yards last year. It remains to be found out whether our line will function as well. Oklahoma should be as good, for the Sooners have five regulars from last year's line and the replacements are veterans."

Invaders' New Backs Speedy.

Other points in favor of the invading Oklahomans, says Waldorf, are the weight of the team and the speed of the two sophomore backs, Jack Jacobs and Orville Matthews. The Oklahoma line will outweigh Northwestern's, and the back field also will average more except when Don Clawson, the sophomore full back from Kankakee, Ill., is in the lineup. Then the weights are equal.

Oklahoma had a forward passing mark last year of more than .600. Jacobs is the ace of this year's squad and his excellent kicking and running mark him as one of the outstanding new men in any section. Matthews can run 100 yards in 9 6-10 seconds.

Waldorf believes that Oklahoma has the finest squad of ends of any team in the country. All six of their men range between 195 and 205 pounds and are at least 6 feet 2 inches tall.

Guard Weighs 237 Pounds.

Oklahoma's eight tackles weigh from 203 pounds to 220 pounds. The guards start at 185 pounds and reach 237 pounds with Ralph Harris, a sophomore from Stroud, Okla. The centers are the lightest men, none weighing more than 180 pounds.

There is considerable similarity between the formations of Oklahoma and Northwestern in the unbalanced line and single wing backs.

Waldorf believes his squad needs more drill on offense. He criticised the second half of Saturday's game when the varsity teams met after the freshman game. No varsity team scored.

Yesterday's practice began with a half hour of individual work on blocking. At 4:30 the squad was split into teams. Two varsity elevens worked for a half hour against freshman teams on interference and passing scrimmage with down field blocking. This meant scrimmage for the ends and backs.

The other varsity teams held line scrimmage at the same time.

Bob Feller Loses Game, 7-1, to Cousin Harold

Van Meter, Ia., Oct. 3 (AP).—Bob Feller, who won 24 games for the Cleveland Indians this season, went down to defeat before a cousin from the minors before 12,000 today at the Bob Feller homecoming celebration here. Feller pitched five innings, but was charged with the loss as an Adel, Ia., team defeated Van Meter, 7 to 1. Pitching for Adel was Harold Manders, Bob's cousin, who hurled for Beaumont in the Texas league this season, but will go to Detroit next spring.

Ruffing Hopes for Warmth to Help Sore Arm

New York, Oct. 3 [Special].—"I hope it's nicer than this tomorrow," observed Red Ruffing as his teammates limbered up on the gooey ground beside the tarpaulin covered infield in the Yankee stadium today. "This sore arm of mine [with which he won 21 games this season] is likely to behave in warmer weather. Also remember, it was a day just like this that saw me go down to my only world series defeat three years ago. Carl Hubbell beat me, 6 to 1. And I was in bed with a sore back for a month afterward."

The big question mark, the Yankee ace's right arm, felt O. K. after 15 minutes of flinging through today's chilly mist; but, of course, Red could not bear down all the way.

"In case it starts to hurt tomorrow," Ruffing said, "you'll be able to tell it all the way up in the press box. It'll hurt to throw a fast one, and my control will wane. If I throw bum curves it means bum arm—and good-by."

Derringer Chides Odds.

Big Paul Derringer, Cincinnati's pitching selection for the opener, snickered at a newspaper headline quoting him a 2-7 underdog. "Say, those fellows are going to bat against me one at a time, aren't they? We're going to play under the same rules used in the last All-Star game here, aren't we?" he asked. "Well, then, I just can't work up the quakes a 2-7 short-ender should feel."

Lefty Gomez, throwing for the first time since his release from the hospital, said: "This special belt takes care of my strained side. I feel great—except when I sneeze."

Earl Combs Is Modest.

Coach Earle Combs sounded as modest as Joe Louis' manager with his observation: "Sure we'd like to win in four straight. But you've got to be lucky to do that—it's something that happens once in a lifetime."

Reminded it happened three times in his playing lifetime, Combs conceded the point.

Joe DiMaggio huddled in a corner of the dugout and exclaimed: "This darn weather freezes the feelings out of your ears."

Some Random Comments.

Gene [Junior] Thompson, Cincinnati rookie hurler, whistled, "Whew, this is a big stadium!" Teammate Billy Werber, young veteran who wore a Yank uniform nine years ago, hummed a nonchalant, "Heigh ho, heigh ho." Cincinnati's relief catcher, Willard Hershberger, observed: "When I was a Yankee farmhand I always dreamed of getting into a world series with the Yanks. I'm finally making it—though I'll be in the other corner of the ring."

"This rainy weather is nothin'," observed Joe Page. In the 1911 series, he recalled, having seen it and all since, there was a seven day lapse between the second and third games because of snow. Small wonder Gotham isn't working up a fever over this classic; this is the 23d world series to be played in New York.

UMPIRES—William Summers and William McGowan of the American league; Beans Reardon and Babe Pinelli of the National league.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 3.—The New York Yankees, those boisterous fellows who at times don't know their own strength, will stroll nonchalantly onto their own play ground tomorrow, discover there are trespassers present and immediately proceed with an attempt to chastise them, weather permitting.

The trespassers will be Cincinnati's Reds, who, after battling themselves threadbare to capture the National league pennant, will be snooping around Yankee stadium seeking the first victory toward the first world's championship the parent major has won since 1934.

But the Yanks are accustomed to handling ambitious folks. For three years now they have given the bounce to the National league's best. So, even if the admirable Reds win the world series inaugural tomorrow, Gen. Joe McCarthy's army will not be disconcerted. The longer the fight goes, the more menacing the Yankees will become.

Tickets? There Are Plenty.

World series have been going on regularly here for so long that tickets have ceased to be coveted. The man on the street figures it is just another series of ball games such as he pays anywhere from 50 cents to two dollars, plus tax, for during the season. The claim is made that all reserved strips calling for a third game here, if necessary, have been sold. But there are 34,000 unreserved to be disposed of immediately prior to each New York game and it will be interesting to watch the results. Present indications are that the weather man will not do his part to help fill the spacious stadium.

Late tonight it was doubtful whether the series could be opened tomorrow. It has been raining in New York since Saturday. Commissioner K. M. Landis, who has jurisdiction over such matters, will decide tomorrow morning after he sees the skies and inspects the field. The weatherman has promised that it would be cooler but cloudy.

Yankees Are Confident.

The attitude of the Yankee players is supposed to be much like that of the world series gorged Broadwayites. Not that the Yankees don't want the winning end of the purse. They are human and a ball player's career is short. But they are quite confident they'll do the Reds as they did the Giants twice and the Cubs once in the three previous autumns. Hence their nonchalant attitude. The Reds, well up on recent world series history and still shaking from the close call with the St. Louis Gas House Gang in the National League race, will lack that supreme confidence.

The Yankees took the lead in their own league way back in May, the same month in which the Reds acquired the driver's seat from the Cardinals, and remained there. The Yankees had one bad break thereafter. They dropped a series to Boston's Red Sox and a couple games at Detroit. Despite this slump they won by a wide margin. The Reds had better than twelve game lead at one time, but not much of it remained when the race was determined. The Yankees' slump extended only over week and they recovered the lost ground. The Reds staggered through the last two months.

Reds Need a Southpaw.

This doesn't mean the Yanks cannot fall into another slump for the week starting tomorrow. Or that the Reds cannot acquire some of their early season nonchalance. But in the last analysis a short series becomes a matter of man power, and the Yanks have it on the bench awaiting an emergency. The Yanks have this extra strength—pitching, hitting, running, and fielding—for every department of play. The Reds cannot boast a similar blessing.

There are not many people around predicting four straight for the Yan-

EBONY BOY WINS FIFTH VICTORY IN LAST SIX STARTS

Beats Holl Image by Two Lengths at Sportsman's.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The consistent Ebony Boy yesterday scored his fifth victory in six starts, getting home more than two lengths ahead of Holl Image in the Calumet City purse, which headed the ladies' day program at Sportsman's Park. Sweet Adeline was third.

Under a well judged ride by George Oros, Ebony Boy followed the pace set by Honey Seat for three-quarters of a mile. Then he got through along the rail to take the lead approaching the far turn. Continuing with good speed he saved ground all the way in and held Holl Image at a safe distance when that veteran performer closed boldly in the last furlong.

Ebony Boy, which hadn't been out of the money in seven consecutive starts, drew enough backing to make him second choice, Uneasy being the favorite by a slight margin. The winner paid $6.80, $4, and $3.

Double Is Worth $236.

The daily double was worth $236.60, Fluke accounting for the first half and Jack Alex for the second. Good prices were paid all across the board in the opening race after the three most popular horses — Calculator, Chimney Top, and Sis Lottie—finished out of the money. Fluke returned $22.00, $11.20, and $7.00. Miss Oak paid $19.60 to place and $10.20 to show. Doctor Tim's show price was $18.80.

In winning the second race, Jack Alex upset the 3 to 5 favorite, Arched. This 2 year old colt started out as though he were going to win as easily as the betting indicated he should. Jockey T. P. Martin sent him out fast from the No. 6 post position, crossed over to the rail in the first sixteenth and urged him out to a lead of five lengths.

Arched Fades in Stretch.

Arched didn't have enough stamina to survive the five furlongs of this race, however. On the last turn he began to tire but he was still three lengths ahead as they turned into the stretch. Then Jack Alex came up swiftly and caught him, winning by half a length. Reigh Dear was third.

Another well backed choice, Tomye, ran out of the money in the third. After getting away badly, this 2 to 1 shot used so much energy reaching a contending position that he tired badly in the last sixteenth. Meanwhile Grand Waters was taking first place, Mere Blaze second, and Dr. Menendez third. The winner returned $11.80, $5.60, and $4.40.

Oros Set Down.

It was Lady Arlington's turn to overthrow a favorite in the fourth race. She got up in the closing strides to take it away from the 8 to 5 choice, Earlsboro, which had set the pace from the start of the seven furlong dash. Bunny Rabbit was third. The winner returned $13.20, $5.20, and $4.00.

Jockey George Oros was the first boy to incur a penalty for rough riding that often goes on in the battle for position on the sharp turns at Sportsman's park. The stewards set him down for five days for crowding Sis Lottie in the first race.

SUNDAY'S RUGBY VICTOR TO CLAIM TITLE HONORS

Although no official national championship is awarded in American Rugby football, the Chicago and Hollywood, Cal., teams that clash Sunday night in Soldiers' field put forth strong arguments why they should be recognized as the best in the land.

Chicago, in winning nineteen consecutive contests over a three year stretch, numbers the strong New York, St. Louis, Winnipeg, and Toronto clubs among its victims. The Hollywood team, operated by Victor McLaglen, movie actor, and called the Light Horse club, has captured eleven straight games against the strongest opposition on the Pacific coast.

The Hollywood squad of sixteen players and Coach Ernie Butterworth will leave the coast today and arrive at 8:45 o'clock Saturday morning. McLaglen has made plane reservations and will reach Chicago late Saturday unless he is detained by movie work.

DAVE DAY LOOKS OFF STRIDE IN GYM WORKOUT

But He's Confident He'll Defeat Angott.

Davey Day, rangy Chicago lightweight and welterweight challenger, yesterday looked none too impressive in a four round drill with two different spar mates as he prepared for a 10 round elimination bout with Sammy Angott in Chicago stadium Friday.

Barney Ross.

Says He's Saving Energy.

"I'm saving my energy for Angott," Davey explained. "I'm not going to leave my fight in the gymnasium."

On Monday Angott expressed confidence in his ability to stretch his unbroken series of victories to 14 at Day's expense and earn a title match against Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong or Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers.

"Day is a better boxer and better puncher than Angott," Pian asserted. "If we didn't think so we'd never have accepted the match."

Both men will continue training chores this afternoon.

Barney Ross on Hand.

Barney Ross, who fell heir to Leonard's title and then added the junior welterweight and welterweight championships to his collection, has been in town since Monday. He came to second Day, a stablemate, before Barney's retirement from the ring.

Promoter Bill Rand has added a six round event to the supporting card, involving Verle Davis, Kankakee welterweight, and Augie Kluberg of Milwaukee. This will increase the program to 46 rounds. Other contests:

Leone Efrati, Italy, vs. Eddie Dempsey, Moline, Ill. [10], 130; Altus Allen, Chicago, vs. Alex Kettles, South Bend, Ind. [6], heavyweights; Tony Motisi, Catholic Youth organization, vs. Johnny Durso, Louisville, Ky. [6], 147; Tony Zale, Gary, Ind., vs. Sherman Edwards, Chicago [6], 160; Jack Jersey, St. Paul, Minn., vs. Johnny Janis, Brighton park [4], heavyweights.

In addition to the regular handicap event, blind bogey play also will be held.

All arrangements for the intercity team match between members of the Chicago District and St. Louis District Golf associations were completed yesterday. 'Doggy World Series' Opens on Saturday

BY BOB BECKER.

Although baseball fans all over the country have their eyes on New York where the world's series opens tomorrow, field trial fans are going to turn their attention to Chicago this week, where a doggy "world's series" will be held by the outstanding springer spaniels of the country. The occasion is the annual field trial of the English Springer Spaniel Field Trial Club of Illinois, which will be held Saturday and Sunday on the F. L. Bateman farm and Dr. Paul Magnuson's pheasant preserve near Barrington.

Officers of the club announced yesterday that they expected the east to send its foremost field trial champion springer, the well known Finglen Johnnie of Strawberry Hill, to compete in the open all-age stake. Johnnie is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Frazier Horn of New York.

Other Champions Entered.

At least two other field trial champions will compete in the open all-stake Sunday. Both are from Chicagoland and will represent this section in the competition between the east and the middle west. They are F. T. Ch. Dahlshangan Pomme de Terre and F. T. Ch. Alskeith Grant, both owned by David Silberman of Chicago. Dalshangan Pomme de Terre tied for third in the 1938 field and stream competition won by Finglen Johnnie.

Mrs. Walton Ferguson Jr. of Fairfield, Conn., America's for most woman judge of field trials and sporting breeds, will serve as the senior judge of the open all-age stake on Sunday and will be assisted by Arthur Welch of Milwaukee and Glen Dundore of Plainfield.

SUN EGRET WINS LAUREL OPENING DAY HANDICAP

Laurel, Md., Oct. 3 (AP).—A. C. Compton's Sun Egret won the $7,500 capital handicap today before an opening day crowd of 7,000. Capably ridden by Al Shelhamer, Sun Egret got up in the closing strides to win by two lengths over L. H. Smith's Clodion. Yancey Christmas' Rough Time, winner of the event for the last two years, was third. The victory was worth $6,725 to Sun Egret. He covered the six furlongs in 1:13 2-5.

PICARD LEADS IN VARDON TROPHY RACE, EARNINGS

Wins $10,000 in Tourney Prizes.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Henry Picard, the lanky Yankee who came into his own in July by winning the national professional golf championship, holds the lead both in money earned and points won in the Vardon trophy competition for the year, according to figures released yesterday by Fred J. Corcoran, tournament manager of the Professional Golfers' association.

In the Vardon trophy race, however, Picard is still having the same close fight with Byron Nelson, national and western open champion from Reading, Pa., which has endured since early in the summer. Henry has collected 459 points since Jan. 1, but still is only five points up on Nelson, who is second with 454, and therefore still in position to overtake Picard, what with several fall and early winter tournaments still to be held.

On cash earnings, Picard's margin is a trifle more comfortable. He has collected $10,002 since the first of the year. Second in money winnings is Ralph Guldahl of Madison, N. J., 1937 and 1938 national open winner, who has earned $9,377. He is followed by Dick Metz of Chicago, $8,600; Nelson, $8,386, and Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., $7,212. Snead won the 1938 Vardon trophy with 300 points and was the leading money winner of the year with $19,600.

Henry Picard	459	Denny Shute	166
Byron Nelson	454	Paul Runyan	162
Ralph Guldahl	329	Victor Ghezzi	146
Dick Metz	311	Craig Wood	146
Sam Snead	300	Harry Cooper	144
Harold McSpaden	239	Jimmy Thomson	132
Ben Hogan	202	Jimmy Hines	120
Horton Smith	192	Gene Sarazen	108
E. J. Harrison	187	Ed Dudley	103

Leading money winners since Jan. 1:

Henry Picard	$10,202	Jim Thomson	$4,100
Ralph Guldahl	9,377	Harry Cooper	3,250
Dick Metz	8,600	Gene Sarazen	2,775
Byron Nelson	8,386	Paul Runyan	2,688
Sam Snead	7,212	John Revolta	2,520
H. McSpaden	5,554	Lloyd Mangrum	2,350
E. J. Harrison	5,350	Ed Dudley	2,300
Denny Shute	5,150	Craig Wood	2,140

DERRINGER AND RUFFING TO HURL SERIES OPENER

kees, as was the case in the challenge by the Cubs last fall. Neither are there many, in a Yankee stronghold, willing to admit the Reds have a chance. The few Rhineland enthusiasts point to the amazing records of their pitching "staffs"—Paul Derringer and Bill [Bucky] Walters. Bucky won 27 and Paul's 25th was the 14 hit game in which the Cardinals finally dropped from the race. There always can be surprises in baseball, but records reveal that two pitchers seldom have been able to complete a world series job. If the Reds could dig up a competent southpaw the outcome might be different.

The Yankees have won other series with such ease that it was necessary, in the interest of a sellout for the first game, for Manager Joe McCarthy to resort to what seemed to be a bit of press agentry. This was possible only in connection with his pitching choice tomorrow. The pitcher, just as everybody suspected right along, will be Charles [Red] Ruffing, but this conclusion wasn't reached until after McCarthy was the doctor and the big sorrel top from Nakomis, Ill., the dying patient.

Big Red Has Warts.

Ruffing, reports indicate, is the victim of a right arm on which elbow warts have sprouted these last few weeks. So today, while the Yankees were just throwing the ball because the safety cover on the infield permitted no more extensive preparation, Ruffing tossed for about ten minutes. When he returned to the clubhouse he informed Dr. McCarthy the arm felt pretty good. So the doctor announced Ruffing would pitch.

It is possible, of course, that McCarthy, who ordinarily is too matter of fact to lead the baseball writers into speculation, was sincere. But it seems to us we heard of Ruffing's ailment way back in May and he kept on winning. However, after Ruffing does his job, win or lose, McCarthy may have to break away from an old custom. His desire, naturally, would be to start Vernon [Lefty] Gomez in the second game, but the Castilian also is an alleged cripple. If Gomez doesn't recover, Monte Pearson undoubtedly will pitch.

Reds' Plans Unchanged.

Bill McKechnie, who took his Reds to the Stadium today but rushed them out of the place before the Yanks could be tempted to put on one of their batting practice warnings, hasn't changed the pitching plans he announced several days ago.

The Reds' pitcher will be Derringer, not as good a pitcher in total victories as Walters, but, nevertheless, the man for a tough job. Derringer is a more versatile workman and versatility might keep the Yanks in check.

Late this afternoon McKechnie said he might have to open tomorrow without Wally Berger, his left fielder. The ex-Giant, and prior to that a member of the Boston Bees, played the last week of the season with an infected toe. Today, as the result of his own remedies, the toe had taken on alarming proportions, thus eliminating him, for the time being, from anything more exciting than a pinch hitting rôle.

Simmons Or Gamble.

In Berger's place McKechnie will have to employ either Al Simmons, who has been bothered by a twisted hip, or Lee Gamble. On batting averages there isn't much to choose between them. Simmons' mark for the year, most of it compiled with Boston's Bees, was .272 against Berger's .264. Gamble hit .269. But Berger carried the home run threat, which the Reds undoubtedly will need.

NO RUSH FOR NO. 1 PLACE IN LINE FOR SERIES SEATS

New York, Oct. 3 [Special].—The No. 1 place at the head of the Yankee stadium bleacher line for tomorrow's opening game of the world series was won without a struggle today.

The honor went to Sherwood Bower, 27 years old, of Allentown, Pa. He arrrived this morning and faced a 21 hour vigil until opening of bleacher ticket sales tomorrow. Bower kept warm by jogging back and forth without fear that some one would usurp his place.

MOON MULLINS—POOR SERVICE

Sox to Open Title Defense Against Cubs

business, excepting Walker and he's so erratic he's disconcertingly effective many more times than he makes a chump of himself.

Both managers are happy. Manager Gabby Hartnett is joyous in the ending of a season which fell far below his expectations Manager Jimmy Dykes is just naturally effervescent. He never is a drizzle puss except when he finds or thinks umpires are giving him the business. He gets along fairly well with the two umpires, Steve Basil and Joe Rue, assigned to the series by President Harridge of the American league, though both are on the touchy side. Dykes should have no trouble with the National league umpires, Larry Goetz and Lee Ballanfant They are touchy but efficient.

Sox Vote 32 Full Shares.

The Sox held a meeting yesterday in which they voted 32 full shares of the players' end of the city series and fourth place money in the world series pool. Twenty-four players, including Manager Dykes, received full cuts. So did Traveling Secretary Joe Barry, Trainer Ad Schacht, Coaches Billy Webb, Muddy Ruel, and Monty Stratton and Sharkey, the clubhouse boy, whose legal name is Ephriam Colledge.

At the meeting some of the hungrier bonus contract boys expressed surprise when told total home attendance for the year was 592,000. Two or three who were promised bonuses, based on 600,000, claimed they had counted customers as they came through the stiles and that thousands more than 600,000 had rushed in to see them play. These attendance luring glamor boys were told they could check the total attendance on certified attendance statements in the office of the American league president, Will Harridge, with the collector of internal revenue, and with each visiting club, all of which were given certified stile and ticket readings for all their series.

JOHNNY BLOOD QUITS AS COACH OF PRO PIRATES

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 3 [Special.]—The Chicago Bears' 32 to 0 victory last night delivered the knockout blow to Johnny Blood's term as coach of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Blood, who became coach in 1937 after playing eight years with the Green Bay Packers, resigned today. The Pirates have lost three games this season and have a losing streak of nine straight.

Kiesling will make his debut tomorrow night when the Pirates appear in an exhibition game at nearby McKeesport. He immediately announced the trading of Frank Souchak, former University of Pittsburgh end, to the Chicago Cardinals for Coley McDonough, a half back, who played with North Carolina State and Dayton university.

REDS ANNOUNCE THEIR DIVISION OF SERIES CASH

FULL SHARES.

Wally Berger, Tony Bongiovanni, Stanley Bordagaray, Harry Craft, Paul Derringer, Lonnie Frey, Lee Gamble, Ival Goodman, Lee Grissom, Willard Hershberger, Eddie Joost, Ernie Lombardi, Frank McCormick, Lloyd Moore, Billy Myers, Lew Riggs, Les Scarsella, Gene Thompson, John Vander Meer, Bucky Walters, Bill Werber; Coaches Harry Gowdy and James Wilson; Manager Bill McKechnie, Gabriel Paul, traveling secretary, and Trainer Richard Rohde.

Milburn Shoffner, John Niggeling, Henry Johnson, and Assistant Trainer Larry McManus all received half shares, and Al Simmons a quarter share. The following amounts in cash also were awarded: Joe Hurst, bat boy, $750; Park Superintendent Matty Schwab, $500, and Dick West, $1,000.

If You're Short a Series Ticket, See Mr. La Guardia

New York, Oct. 3 [Special].—The mayor of Cincinnati is going to see the first world series game tomorrow between the Reds and the New York Yankees, after all. Mayor James G. Stewart had planned all along to attend the game, but it suddenly dawned on him today that he did not have a ticket. He tried and tried to get a choice ticket, but to no avail. And then, by chance, New York's mayor, Fiorello H. La Guardia, heard of Stewart's plight. Said La Guardia: "He'll see the game as my guest."

Fight Decisions

At White Plains, N. Y. — Oliver White knocked out Joey Green [2].

2 Notre Dame Cripples Join in Hard Drill

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 3 [Special]. Preparations for Saturday's Georgia Tech game here, the first of five successive intersectional games on the Notre Dame schedule, consisted today of line scrimmage, blocking, tackling, and passing for the backs. The freshmen used the Georgia Tech offense for the linemen, and the reserves pitted their defensive skill against the forwards.

John Gubanich, starting right guard, took contact work for the first time in nearly two weeks. Ed Sullivan, sophomore left guard, also was removed from the casualty list today.

ILLINI BEAT FROSH.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 3 [Special].—The running of John Kirschke, senior quarter back, and George Rettinger, junior full back, and the first freshman touchdown of the year against the varsity were highlights of a 1½ hour scrimmage between the Illinois varsity and first year men today.

The varsity scored its first touchdown in three plays, Dave Miller taking a pass from Jimmy Smith. Rettinger accounted for the second touchdown with a thirty-one yard sprint off tackle and Johnny Thistlewood scored the third from the one yard line after Kirschke and Rettinger had combined to advance the ball from the fifty yard stripe. Kirschke gained all afternoon on power plays through center.

TEACHER, PUPIL OF REDS' STAFF TO FACE YANKS

New York, Oct. 3 [Special].—Paul Derringer and Gene [Junior] Thompson, teacher and pupil on the Cincinnati's Reds' pitching staff, may figure in an ironic twist of fate on the mound against the Yankees in the world series.

Some fans point out that Derringer, the teacher, may be battered down by the Yankee bats and Thompson, the pupil, make those same bats behave. Derringer is to pitch the opening game tomorrow and Thompson is scheduled to work in the third.

Thompson is from Decatur, Ill., which also is the home town of Chuck Dressen and Derringer. Some years ago Dressen was conducting a baseball school at Decatur and Thompson was one of those trying to show he had the makings of a pitcher.

Sacramento Triumphs Over Los Angeles in Playoff Final

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 3 (AP).—Sacramento, fourth place team in the Pacific Coast league race, won the President's cup final playoff series tonight, defeating Los Angeles in the sixth game, 8 to 0.

Russell Busk Wins Place in Iowa Lineup

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 3 [Special].—Coach Eddie Anderson today gave the University of Iowa football team its first look at Indiana plays and at the same time began polishing up the offense for the conference opener here next Saturday.

Nile Kinnick.

BROCK STARTS PUNTING.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 3 [Special].—Lou Brock, Purdue's veteran right half back who has been handicapped by a wrenched ankle since the start of practice, today tried out his kicking foot for the first time. Although he essayed only a few attempts, he got off several nice kicks, leading to the hope that he will be back in shape as a triple threat performer in time for the Big Ten opener with Minnesota at Minneapolis a week from Saturday.

Brock's return as a kicker would materially bolster the Boilermaker punting department, for it was his consistent punts last year that pulled Purdue out of more than one hole and set up scoring rallies, notably against Ohio State and Fordham.

PETERSON MOVES UP.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 3 [Special].—Bob Peterson, sophomore full back from Aurora, Ill., whose play was one of the bright spots in Wisconsin's victory over Marquette last Saturday, was on the first team today as the Wisconsin varsity scrimmaged the freshmen in preparation for the University of Texas game here Saturday.

George Paskvan, regular full back, is suffering from a hand injury and may be withheld from the starting lineup. Otherwise the first string lineup probably will remain unchanged.

Every high school student in the state has been invited to be a guest of the university for the Texas game.

SEE HUSKER PLAYS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 3 [Special].—Minnesota's Gophers got their first look at Nebraska formations today as the reserves, after two days of preparation paraded them before the regulars.

COLONELS TAKE 3-2 SERIES LEAD; BEAT WINGS, 5-2

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 3 (AP).—Big Jim Weaver pitched the Louisville Colonels of the American association into a 3 to 2 lead in the little world series tonight by setting down the Rochester Red Wings of the International league, 5 to 2.

Rochester [I. L.]	000	000	002—2	8	2
Louisville [A. A.]	020	100	02*—5	8	0

Batteries—Johnson, Raffensberger and Beal: J. Weaver and Lewis.

St. George Seeks Second Straight; Faces St. Patrick

St. George of Evanston, which moved into title consideration when it defeated St. Mel, 20 to 0, last Sunday, will seek its second victory in the north section of the Catholic High School league Friday night against St. Patrick in St. Philip stadium, Van Buren and Albany streets. St. Patrick lost its opening game to Fenwick, 27 to 0, last Sunday afternoon.

Mount Carmel of the south section, defending champion, faces Leo in its second game. The titleholders triumphed over St. Rita in the opening contest on a third period touchdown, 7 to 0.

Donald [Flash] Griffin and his Fenger eleven make their second start in the south division of the Public School league Saturday afternoon against Parker in Pullman Tech field. . . . Kelly's team this season is being coached by Al Herman, who formerly coached at Central school, Glencoe, Ill., and Senn High. . . . George Walczak, quarter back, is captain of the squad. . . . Kelly meets Hyde Park Saturday morning in Normal park, 61st street and Racine avenue.

Ed Jankaus, star full back at Harrison Tech last season, is a member of the freshman squad at Notre Dame. . . . Harry Wilk, Bill Gawron, and Ed Souhrada, also members of the 1938 Harrison eleven, have enrolled at Illinois Wesleyan. . . . Two South Suburban league games are scheduled over the week-end. . . . Bloom plays at Kankakee Friday night and Saturday afternoon Calumet City meets Blue Island on the latter's field. . . .

Morton of Cicero opens its Suburban league schedule against Proviso Friday night in Maywood. . . . Waukegan meets New Trier in Winnetka Saturday afternoon in another league contest. . . . Coaches rate Jerry Maresh, captain and center of the Farragut team, one of the outstanding linemen in the Public School league. . . . Maresh, a senior, weighs 205 pounds and is 6 feet tall. . . .

PABSTS DEFEND LEAGUE LEAD IN CLASSIC BOWLING

The Wednesday division of the Classic league will bowl at the Sportsman's club, 3204 West Armitage avenue, tonight at 9 o'clock. This will be the league's first appearance at Ralph Olsen's recreation.

The Pabsts, who are leading the league by one game, will face the champion Monarchs, who now are in third place, only two games behind the Pabsts. The Prager Beers bowl the second place Ambrosias, the Power House Candies meet the Michelobs and Schlitz opposes Koenig.

FT. WORTH WINS DIXIE SERIES IN 7TH GAME, 6 TO 0

Forth Worth, Tex., Oct. 3 [Special].—Ray Starr, veteran right hander who opened the Dixie series by pitching the Fort Worth Texas league club to a 6 to 2 victory over Nashville of the Southern association, ended it tonight when he yielded only two hits, Fort Worth winning, 6 to 0.

Fred Trosko, Michigan Star, Is Ineligible

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 3 [Special].—Freddy Trosko, senior Michigan half back, today was declared ineligible for football until he makes up an incomplete in psychology and is virtually certain to be out of the season's opener against Michigan State here Saturday.

Fred Trosko.

Trosko, a senior from Flint is this year's number one replacement for Left Half Back Paul Kromer and was being counted upon heavily by Coach Fritz Crisler in his plans for the Michigan State game. Trosko does not expect to finish his back work in the deficient course until some time next week.

The first string Michigan eleven faced the freshman squad today as the frosh took the rôle of Michigan State, using the Spartan formations and plays. After the freshmen had run through the varsity defense twice the regulars settled down. For the first time in more than a week the line showed the charge of last year.

SPARTANS SEEK OFFENSE.

East Lansing, Mich., Oct. 3 [Special].—The three days of practice remaining for the Michigan State football squad before their encounter with the University of Michigan next Saturday will be spent in attempting to perfect an attack that might function against the Wolverines. State displayed defensive power against Wayne last Saturday but its offense failed to click.

Parsons Permits Maroons to Make Wasem Half Back

Coach Clark Shaughnessy of the University of Chicago is looking for another Eckersall this week, although he would settle for another Crisler.

Wabash college, which invades the Midway Saturday, has been beaten by Maroon teams twice, but the first occasion was in 1905 when Walter Eckersall led a conference championship team to a 15 to 0 victory and the second was 1920, when the Little Giants were vanquished, 41 to 0, by Bob Cole's passes to Fritz Crisler.

Discovery of star possibilities in Russ Parson, hitherto a reserve end, who caught the three passes with which Chicago almost beat Beloit last week, may release Co-Capt. Bob Wasem to the back field post he was slated for last spring.

HOOSIERS TUNE DEFENSE.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 3 [Special].—Indiana's defensive forces, which, as motion pictures showed, missed many assignments in the Nebraska game last week-end, received attention from the coaching staff today as the Hoosiers were warned of the triple threat prowess of Nile Kinnick, the Iowa half back whom they will meet in person at Iowa City Saturday.

Defensive mistakes, one of which gave the Cornhuskers a touchdown, were checked. The Hoosiers also drilled on their running attack, which was not as consistently effective as their aerial game. Mike Dumke and Archie Harris alternated at the left end position vacated temporarily by the injured Russ Higginbotham.

OHIO FEARS MISSOURI.

Columbus, O., Oct. 3 [Special].—Sufficiently impressed with Missouri's strength by the Tigers' large margin of victory over Colorado, Ohio State's football squad has settled down seriously to the task of building a defense to stop Paul Christman in the Buckeyes' opener Saturday in Ohio stadium.

WHEAT SLUMPS; TRADERS WARY OF WAR EVENTS

Selling Wave Late in Day Topples Prices.

Wheat prices tumbled as much as three cents a bushel in the last hour yesterday as a sudden wave of selling swept the market. December wheat closed at 80⅝ cents a bushel, the first time that this contract has fallen below 81 cents since Sept. 2. Corn also closed lower. Closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade showed losses of 2⅛ to 2⅜ cents on wheat and ⅞ cent on corn. Soy beans were ⅝ to 1 cent lower.

Traders attributed the late selling to uncertainty concerning the European situation. Some trade sources regarded the speech of Chamberlain, British prime minister, as indicating some sort of peace deal might be possible. Most traders held back from the market in anticipation of Hitler's speech later this week.

Winter Wheat Seeding Delayed.

Only 10 per cent of the Illinois winter wheat acreage was seeded by Oct. 2, it is estimated by A. J. Surratt, state and federal crop statistician. This compares with 33 per cent seeded at the same date during the two preceding years. The season is said to be the most backward since 1925.

Export sales of about 500,000 bushels of Canadian wheat and moderate amounts of Canadian rye and barley were reported yesterday. The continent is said to have been the purchaser. About 100,000 bushels of American corn also were sold abroad and there were intimations that a good business had been done in soy beans with northern Europe.

Corn Crop Estimates Today.

Chicago statisticians will issue reports today giving their Oct. 1 estimate on the corn crop. Operators generally expect that the yield will show little change from the 2,510,000,000 bushels indicated a month ago.

Hedging pressure against the steadily increasing movement of the new corn crop had some effect on the market. Purchases of 148,000 bushels were made for deferred shipment from the country. There was some buying of futures by brokers who frequently act for exporters.

AIR LINE ORDERS 22 SHIPS; WILL SPEND MILLIONS

Pan American Plans Vast Expansion.

New York, Oct. 3 (AP).—Purchase of 22 huge aircraft was announced today by Pan American Airways corporation. The orders were placed as part of a program to speed up and double the capacity of the air line's trans-Atlantic and South American services and to inaugurate new passenger services between California and Mexico and to Alaska and Australia by next summer.

This rapid and farflung expansion of the American company's air routes, to be financed by a $6,000,000 common stock issue, would take advantage of the disruption of foreign services across the Atlantic and in South America.

In announcing a five year program, C. V. Whitney, chairman of the board, urged that "America should proceed with a real determination not to become involved in the present European war" and to build up its own civil aviation.

48 Hour Service Is Goal.

Whitney said a night and day flying service eventually would bring Buenos Aires and Santiago, Chile, within 48 hours of New York.

But the first changes in schedule, by next summer, would cut the time to Buenos Aires from six days to four days. The time to Santiago would be cut to three days. The present service of two trips a week to each coast of South America would be increased to three each and larger planes would double capacity.

Trans-Atlantic service would be increased from two round trips weekly to three next summer "if required." Here, too, larger planes would practically double the passenger service.

A Seattle-Fairbanks' route connecting with the company's present trans-Alaskan line would be opened in the summer if government airports are ready and mail contracts granted.

Mexico City Line Scheduled.

A Los Angeles-Mexico City line is expected to begin operation this winter and the weekly service from California to New Zealand by next summer.

Three 33 passenger Boeing "stratosphere type" land transports, to be delivered soon, will inaugurate the Los Angeles-Mexico City line. Next summer, Whitney said, two of them would be transferred to the Seattle-Fairbanks' route and one to the trans-Atlantic route to Ireland.

The other new aircraft are six B-314 flying boats for service to the orient, and 13 Douglas 21 passenger land transports for South American routes.

FSCC WILL BUY SURPLUS APPLES FOR RELIEF USE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3 (AP).—The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation announced today that because of a prospective large surplus it will buy apples from growers for distribution among relief families.

The FSCC did not indicate the quantity it plans to buy. The minimum grade to be bought is combination United States No. 1 and United States utility or an equivalent state grade. Producers will divert less desirable grades into commercial byproducts.

Commercial production of apples this year is estimated at slightly more than 103,000,000 bushels, 25 per cent more than last year's production and 7 per cent more than the average production for the last ten years. In recent years an average of 11,000,000 bushels has been exported, but it is expected that exports this year will be curtailed because of the war and good fruit crops abroad.

PLAN LOANS TO AID TRADE WITH LATIN AMERICA

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3 (AP).—President Roosevelt indicated at a press conference today that wider powers might be sought for the Export-Import bank in order to facilitate trade with Latin America.

He said at the regular session of congress in January he probably would recommend that $100,000,000 already provided to the bank for trade expansion be increased substantially. He had recommended originally that the bank be given $500,000,000. The Export-Import bank, the President said, is already scraping the bottom of the barrel on its original $100,000,000 and would not have enough to finance an augmented trade with Latin America.

A group of business men and foreign trade experts proposed that an American financial representative be stationed in every important commercial center in Latin America to promote trade with the United States.

Telephones in service in Illinois outside Chicago totaled 465,606, an increase of 2,868 over the number at the close of August. The American Telephone and Telegraph company reported a gain in September of 93,800 telephones in service in its principal telephone subsidiaries in the Bell system. The New York Telephone company reported a gain of 4,860 instruments in September.

Court Holds Steel Wage Ruling Illegal

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3 [Special].—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today held the department of labor had "illegally and arbitrarily" exceeded its authority under the Walsh-Healey act in fixing minimum wages for the iron and steel industry.

The court reversed a decision of the federal District court here and ordered it to act on the complaint of three steel companies against the wage rates fixed for iron and steel manufacturers executing government contracts in fourteen states and the District of Columbia. The lower court had dismissed the complaint.

Companies Sue Perkins.

The suit was brought by Lukens Steel company, Alan Wood Steel company, and South Chester Tube company against Secretary Perkins and others.

The companies protested against a determination by which the government on Jan. 16, 1939, fixed minimum wages of 62½ cents an hour for iron and steel workers.

The Walsh-Healey act requires government contractors to pay workers on public supply contracts not less than the prevailing minimum wage as determined by the secretary of labor in the "locality" in which the supplies are produced.

Cites Limit on Power.

The Circuit court ruling, reached by a 2 to 1 vote, reviewed the history of the law and said the action of the department of labor was "not only unwaranted but incongruous." The court held that the power of the department under the act is limited to setting minimum wages in "localities, or local centers of manufacture."

"To permit the secretary [Madam Perkins] to establish a minimum wage scale for the area embraced within 14 states and the District of Columbia would be to defeat rather than accomplish the purpose of the act," the ruling continued. "The secretary is not authorized to impose upon local industries 'the predominant minimum wage practice' of the industry viewed as a whole over broad regional areas. The determination in this case goes so far beyond any possible proper application of the word [locality] as to defeat its meaning and to constitute an attempt arbitrarily to disregard the statutory mandate."

LAKE ORE BOATS RACING AGAINST SEASON'S CLOSE

The Lake Superior Iron Ore association reported yesterday that September shipments of iron ore, climbing to 7,865,007 gross tons, were more than double the 3,284,800 tons carried on the lakes in September, 1938, and were the largest for any month in two years. August shipments were 6,954,580 tons.

The jump in shipments, which was contrary to the normal trend, brought shipments this year since navigation opened to 30,360,774 tons, compared with only 14,157,290 tons in the corresponding period last year.

Brown Brothers Harriman Assets at New High Mark

New York, Oct. 3 [Special].—Total assets and deposits of Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., private bankers, reached the highest level on Sept. 30 since the firm began publishing statements in 1934, its latest report showed today. Assets rose to $118,168,903, compared with $105,644,031 on June 30. Deposits were $90,994,312, against $79,200,988 on June 30.

BUTTER, EGG TRADING RISES TO NEW RECORD ON WAR BOOM BUYING

The Chicago Mercantile Exchange reported yesterday that war boom buying of butter and egg futures contracts last month swelled the month's total transactions in egg futures to an all-time record for September.

Sales of egg futures, totaling 105,132,000 dozens, were also the third largest for any month in the history of the exchange. In September, 1938, sales totaled about 82,000,000 dozens, and the 10 year average is approximately 60,000,000 dozens.

Sales of butter futures, amounting to 68,870,000 pounds, were the largest for any month in three years and for any September in nine years. They compared with August sales of 13,344,000 pounds and September, 1938, sales of 12,057,600 pounds.

Traders yesterday placed a bearish interpretation on Prime Minister Chamberlain's speech, and egg futures mostly canceled early gains. Closing prices were unchanged on all deliveries except October, which gained 0.05 cent a dozen at 17.05 cents. Cash eggs were up as much as ⅛ cent. Butter futures lost 0.15 to 0.25 cent a pound.

RAILS, UTILITY SWELL ORDERS FOR EQUIPMENT

Santa Fe Will Spend 10 Mililons.

Equipment costing many millions of dollars was added yesterday to the flood of capital expenditures which industry is making at the fastest rate since 1929. Additional large purchases of equipment are in prospect as the result of the war-stimulated expansion in industrial operations.

The Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe railway announced a $10,000,000 equipment and improvement program involving the purchase of 1,800 box cars, 200 ballast cars, 250 gondolas, 450 refrigerator cars, and 100 flat cars.

Rock Island Asks Permit.

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway petitioned Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson for authority to spend about $3,500,000 in the purchase of new freight cars and locomotives. A hearing on the petition is scheduled for today.

Trustees for the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad filed a formal petition with Judge Wilkerson asking permission to spend $299,000 for two streamlined electric trains capable of speeds of 100 miles an hour. Hearing on the petition was postponed until next Tuesday on the request of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, a large creditor of the North Shore line.

The Public Service Electric and Gas company announced it has placed orders for generators and equipment costing $7,500,000 for installation at its generating station in Jersey City, N. J.

The Pere Marquette railway invited bids on the construction of a new car ferry to augment its fleet of seven which transport freight cars across Lake Michigan and between Detroit and Windsor, Ont.

The navy department at Washington, D. C., announced the award of a $263,825 contract for locomotive cranes to the Orton Crane and Shovel Company of Chicago.

Oil Parleys with Mexico Still Kept Open, Hull Says

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3 [Special].—Negotiations concerning the expropriation of American oil properties by Mexico are being kept open and attention is being given to various phases of the problem, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said today after conferring with Patrick J. Hurley, counsel for the Sinclair Oil companies. Hull denied that the negotiations had fallen into a deadlock.

Frank S. Cunningham, chairman elect of the board of Butler Brothers, announced yesterday that George A. Brazier, vice president, will take charge of the wholesale firm's dry goods merchandising in addition to home goods, which he has supervised for 10 years. He will take the place of Frederick Quellmalz, whose retirement recently was announced.

A. S. Hatch has been appointed manager of the Ford Motor company's Chicago branch to succeed H. C. Doss. Hatch has headed the Lincoln and Lincoln-Zephyr divisions of the company's Detroit office for 11 years. Doss, former Chicago manager, will head the Dearborn branch office.

FEDERAL DEFICIT 976 MILLION IN THREE MONTHS

Piling Up at Nearly 4 Billion a Year.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—The federal government ended the first quarter of its fiscal year with a deficit of 976 million dollars, going into debt at an annual rate of nearly 4 billion dollars, according to the official treasury statement of Sept. 30, issued today.

The statement reflected a decline in receipts and a substantial increase in expenditures during the quarter as compared with the corresponding period of the last fiscal year, which ended June 30. Rising national defense costs were particularly noted in the first quarter activities, reflecting the huge rearmament program outlined for this year.

Public Debt 40.8 Billions.

On Sept. 30 the government's gross public debt amounted to 40 billion 858 million dollars, or a debt of $310.91 for every man, woman, and child in the United States. This figure does not include more than 5 billion dollars in contingent liabilities consisting of obligations of federal agencies guaranteed by the United States. On Sept. 30 these amounted to an unmatured principal of 5 billion 356 million dollars and a matured principal and interest of 106 million dollars, for which cash has been deposited with the treasurer of the United States.

In the first quarter of this year government receipts amounted to 1 billion 447 million dollars, compared with 1 billion 509 million in the first quarter of last year.

Income Tax Revenue Drops.

Income tax collections dropped to 408 million from 577 million dollars. Miscellaneous internal revenue amounted to 715 million, against 636 million a year earlier. Social security taxes accounted for 153 million dollars this year against 140 in the first quarter of last year. Customs receipts rose 8 million dollars to 88 million.

Expenditures for the first quarter totaled 2 billion 423 million dollars against 2 billion 210 million in the corresponding quarter of last year. The difference between receipts and expenditures left a deficit of 976 million dollars, against 701 millions a year ago. The deficit for the full 1940 year was estimated by the President in his budget message at 3 billion 326 million dollars, but indications are that this will be greatly exceeded by appropriations in the last congress, which overran the budget estimates.

1 Billion 645 Millions for Defense.

The last congress appropriated 1 billion 645 million dollars for strictly national defense purposes in the current year, with an additional 500 million for purposes associated with national defense. National defense appropriations this year were 65 per cent above last year.

In the first quarter the navy spent 192 million dollars and the army 202 millions. Agriculture expenditures amounted to 340 million dollars, loan agencies spent 5 million, security agencies 203 million and public works agencies 569 million. Interest on the public debt, now estimated at more than 1 billion dollars per year, amounted to 185 million dollars in the first quarter, against 176 million in the first quarter of last year.

UTILITY TO BUILD PLANT AFTER TVA LIMITS ITS AREA

New York, Oct. 3 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie, president of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, today announced plans for immediate construction of a $4,000,000 generating plant at Macon, Ga.

That plant and the one in Mobile, Ala., announced several weeks ago, were said to be the first major utility construction developments in the south since the begining of Tennessee Valley Authority electric operations.

Both resulted, it was said, from the "recent limitation of the area of TVA's operations and the generally more favorable attitude on the part of legislative bodies towards business and the utilities," and also "steadily increasing demands for electric service."

Lawyer Fees Third of Shut Banks' Costs

Attorneys' fees have constituted more than one-third of the expense, thus far, in the liquidation of Cook county's closed banks. The lawyers have collected $6,032,826, an average of more than $43,000 per bank.

Some banks have paid more than the average. Figures furnished by Charles H. Albers, general receiver under State Auditor Edward J. Barrett, show that the firm of Nash and Ahern collected $296,249 for handling the legal affairs of two banks, the Cosmopolitan State and the West Side Trust and Savings.

Cooke, Sullivan & Ricks, it was reported, got $268,417 from five banks. Schuyler & Hennessy were listed as having been paid $553,757 by five banks.

Fees Depend on Complications.

The firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green, Martin & Ellis, which handled fourteen banks, including the involved Bain chain, was reported to have collected $631,230.

Albers said that the number of banks was not related directly to the compensation, which depended on the legal complications encountered in different institutions. He added that sometimes fees are based on an attorney's hourly rate, sometimes on the amount of work done.

"In any event they are subject to question by me," the receiver said. "I have often objected to lawyers' charges and have appealed to the courts to reduce them. Results varied. Sometimes I got a reduction; at other times the courts upheld the attorneys."

Many Lawyers Are "Holdovers."

He said that he had appointed some of the attorneys, but that most of them were holdovers already engaged before he took the office in 1936, after the death of the former general receiver, William L. O'Connell.

An immense amount of legal work necessarily had to be done in connection with the receiverships. Large numbers of depositors claimed they were entitled to the status of preferred creditors, and there were court fights over this. There have been foreclosures, with resultant litigation and preparation of papers.

Collections alone have involved tremendous legal activity. According to Albers, routine collections are now being handled by a law staff attached to his office.

Staff Headed by Barry.

This staff is headed by Norman C. Barry, whose salary is $6,000 a year. The outside firms are getting smaller fees as the main work is accomplished. In the first six months of 1939 all of them collected about $110,000 in Cook county.

Albers said the affairs of the various banks have been brought before practically all of the judges of the Superior and Circuit court for orders.

Attempts to collect double liability from stockholders is a task not assumed by Albers. Special receivers did this work. In some cases they turned over their receipts to him for disbursement to depositors; in others they made their own distributions. Their expenses are not included in the general receivership figures.

GERMAN BANK'S ISSUE OF NOTES AT 15 YEAR PEAK

Note circulation of the Reichsbank, Germany's central bank, on Sept. 29 reached the highest level since the revaluation of the German mark following the post war inflation of 1923-'24. The bank issued a statement yesterday showing a gain in note issue of 693,000,000 marks [about $257,000,000] over the total for the week ended Sept. 22.

Total note circulation of the Reichsbank at the end of the latest week was 10,995 million marks [about $4,398,000,000], compared with 10,302 million marks [about $4,120,000,000] a week earlier.

Note circulation of the bank has been watched closely for any signs of monetary inflation in Germany.

Increased demand raised the value of the British currency in terms of the dollar at New York. Sterling closed 1¾ cents higher at $4.03½. The French franc was 0.00¾ cent higher at 2.28¾ cents, and the Dutch guilder rose 0.01 cent to 53.29 cents.

Gold imports of $7,244,000 from Canada were announced by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

The price of silver at New York was raised ¼ cent an ounce to 35⅛ cents. An increase of ⅜ pence in the price of bar silver at London lifted the price of 21⅝ pence.

UTILITY'S BOARD WILL MEET HALF TIME IN CHICAGO

Directors of the Cities Service Power and Light company will meet here Oct. 13 and thereafter will alternate their meeting places between Chicago and Jersey City. Three Chicagoans were elected directors of the Cities Service Power and Light company following the transfer of stock control. They are Guy A. Richardson, president of the Chicago Surface Lines; Gen. Robert E Wood, chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., and Charles M. Thomson, trustee of the Chicago and North Western railroad.

Stocks Decline; Trade Follows Peace Moves

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 3.—After holding quietly in a narrow range for most of the session, the stock market encountered increased selling in late dealings today and slipped fractions to about 2 points lower. Nearly all sections were affected by the selling, with standard industrial shares proving most vulnerable.

Except for the late burst of selling, trading was dull. However, the market was broad, with 849 issues traded. In all 1,002,750 shares changed hands, against 837,890 yesterday.

Market Follows Peace Moves.

Observers were of the opinion that the market continues to reflect the peace moves reportedly taking shape in Berlin, Moscow and Rome.

The prospect of a long debate in congress on prospective neutrality legislation was another dampening influence, it was generally asserted.

Steel shares were hardest hit by the reaction, with losses running to more than 2 points appearing against Republic, United States Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Crucible and Bethlehem.

Motor Group Also Lower.

Motor shares also were forced lower. Chrysler, General Motors, and Yellow Truck converted early gains into fractional losses. Aviation issues were relatively quiet.

Pivotal rubber shares closed fractionally lower.

BRITISH VESSEL'S SINKING CAUSES INSURANCE BOOST

New York, Oct. 3 (AP).—Sinking of the British steamship Clement in the South Atlantic was followed today by an increase in war risk insurance rates for shipments aboard belligerent vessels plying between the United States and South Atlantic ports.

Underwriters here raised rates on such shipments to 3 per cent of cargo value, from 1 per cent. On United States and Latin American ships, the rate remained unchanged at ¼ of 1 per cent. The rate for other neutrals held at ½ to 1 per cent.

The war brought another increase in the form of a 33⅓ per cent hike in passenger fares on eastbound Cunard White Star line vessels. Officials said the line will maintain regular North Atlantic service, but that sailing dates will vary week to week.

Britain Cuts Rate.

New York, Oct. 3 [Special].—War risk insurance was offered to American shippers today by the British government at a rate of $1.50 per $100 valuation on cargoes carried in ships of any registry traveling to the United Kingdom from America. The rate has been $2.

PONTIAC INVADES LOW PRICE FIELD WITH SPECIAL SIX

Adds 'Torpedo Eight' to Luxury Line.

The Pontiac division of the General Motors corporation enters the 1940 automobile year with a new "special six" aimed at the low price field, the company announced yesterday. Pontiac will offer seventeen body models on four separate chassis in its bid for the widest market in its history, company officials said.

At the luxury end of its line, Pontiac announced a new "Torpedo eight." With this car Pontiac plans to invade the upper bracket market.

The special six will be available in five body models on a wheelbase increased two inches to 117 inches. The bodies will be four inches lower for easier entrance, and windshields will be wider and deeper, increasing the glass area 11 per cent, company engineers said.

Front Seats Widened.

The Torpedo eight, however, has received the company's accent on rakish styling. The car comes in two body styles—a four door touring sedan and a sport coupe. The Torpedo eight has a 122 inch wheelbase. The front seat of the sedan is 60 inches long.

Offers "Elbow Room."

The designer of the Torpedo asserts that three people may sit in front and still allow the driver 11 inches for elbow movement. The sedan rear seat is 49¼ inches long.

Included in the general changes which have been made are the sealed-beam headlights and improved safety glass, the company engineers said. The new headlights raise illumination 60 per cent and reduce glare. The head lamps are sunk and half-concealed in the front fenders.

ILLINOIS OUTPUT OF OIL SETS NEW HIGH LAST WEEK

Oil production in Illinois during the week ended Sept. 30 climbed to another peak of 344,267 barrels daily, compared with the former record of 340,116 barrels established the preceding week, the Oil and Gas Journal reported yesterday.

A total of 68 new wells in Illinois was completed last week. This increased to 2,664 the number of wells brought in during 1939, compared with 1,156 during the corresponding period last year. The number of Illinois wells in operation at the end of the week was 4,099.

Crude oil production throughout the country decreased 29,028 barrels daily to an average of 3,647,404 during the latest week, the oil publication said. Besides Illinois, an upturn in production was reported for Michigan, with a gain of 1,113 barrels for a daily average output of 68,362 barrels, and the Rocky mountain area, with a gain of 1,900 barrels for a daily average output of 83,890 barrels.

EDISON BOOSTS DIVIDEND TO 45 CTS. QUARTERLY

Justified by Profit, Directors Say.

Directors of the Commonwealth Edison company, utility operating and holding company serving Chicago, yesterday raised the quarterly dividend on the capital stock from the 40 cents paid recently to 45 cents. The dividend is payable Nov. 1 to stockholders of record Oct. 13.

James Simpson, chairman, told stockholders that the directors considered the increase justified in view of the results for the year to date and "the expectation that the earnings per share for 1939 will be about the same as the 1938 earnings of $2.40."

Many Debentures Converted.

Simpson said that of the $129,500,000 in convertible debenture 3½s, due 1958, more than $41,000,000 has been converted into capital stock. This increased the outstanding number of shares by about 1,900,000, making a total outstanding of 10,200,000 shares of 16,000,000 authorized.

The increase in the dividend rate brings the annual payment to stockholders close to the $8 rate paid from 1914 to 1931, inclusive. On Aug. 14, 1937, the old $100 par stock was changed to $25 par, at the rate of four new shares for one old share. In terms of the old issue, the 45 cent quarterly rate on the $25 par stock is equivalent to $7.20 annually.

In 1932 the annual dividend rate was lowered to $5 when the present management took control of Commonwealth Edison. In 1933 the rate was further lowered to $4 and maintained at that level through 1936. At the end of the latter year a $1 special was also paid.

Rate Raised Since 1937.

A $5 annual rate was established in 1937, and was maintained [on the basis of the old stock] when the new $25 par stock was introduced. A special of $1.25 per four $25 par shares was paid in December, 1937. Late in 1938 the rate was again raised to $6.40 per four shares, and was maintained until the present increase.

Michigan Gas and Electric company, controled by Middle West corporation, declared dividends of $3.06¼ on the 7 per cent prior lien stock and $2.62½ on the $6 prior lien stock, payable Nov. 1. The payments will reduce arrearages to about $18.28¾ on the 7 per cent issue and about $15.67½ on the $6 prior lien stock. Total 1939 payments will amount to $7 on the 7 per cent issue and $6 on the $6 issue.

United corporation declared 85 cents payable on the arrears on the $3 cumulative preferred stock. The payment will reduce arrears to $1.05 per share. It is payable Oct. 24.

Loan to Colombia Delayed for Nonpayment of Debt

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3 [Special].—The Export-Import bank has informed the government of Colombia that it is delaying a loan of $8,000,000 to that country because Colombia, although in a position to do so, has made no service on its foreign debt, officials revealed today. Sumner Welles, assistant secretary of state and head of this country's delegation to the current Pan-American conference, cabled the state department from Panama City recommending the loan.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, Oct. 3 (AP).—United States government issues accelerated their recovery pace in today's bond market, emerging with fresh gains ranging to 23-32ds of a point.

Top flight corporate liens firmed in quiet trading, but leaders of the speculative division, including second grade rails, moved further away from recent highs after selective moderate strength in early trading. This downward drift followed an increase of selling in stocks to the accompaniment of more peace talk.

Foreign dollar bonds shifted unevenly in the face of the predicted early "peace offensive." Italian 7s, Milan 6½s, and Rome 6½s were buoyant leaders of the forward push, with gains running from 2 to 3 points.

Treasury issues acted as if able to stand on their own without reserve board support. Further institutional buying was reported by dealers.

Chicago Stocks.

Losses outnumbered gains in light trading yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Commonwealth Edison, volume leader on a turnover of 7,500 shares, worked against the trend of most issues. It closed ⅛ point higher at 29¼.

Fractional declines were shown by Marshall Field, Armour, Zenith Radio, and Bendix. Chicago corporation, Aviation and Transportation, and Rollins Hosiery finished unchanged.

A total of 110 issues changed hands. Of this number, 57 declined, 28 advanced, and 25 closed unchanged. Volume was 32,000 shares.

Bank Stocks.

Continental Illinois bank stock was bid ½ point lower and First National was 1 point lower yesterday. Northern Trust was bid 2 points higher.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Pork and hogs sank again yesterday at the Chicago Stock Yards despite an abrupt decrease in receipts throughout the country. Losses of 50 cents a hundred pounds in pork brought wholesale markets to new lows for recent weeks, with some cuts bringing little more than half the prices of early last month.

Chicago received only 14,000 hogs, including direct shipments to packers, compared with 21,609 a week earlier and 19,526 a year ago as farmers held back shipments because of the break in prices on Monday. The day's average price went down 5 cents to $6.45.

Packers carried larger orders for steers and yearlings and these maintained a mostly steady basis. Other classes were irregular. Better action featured the trade for fat lambs, but prices were off mostly 10 to 15 cents for the day.

Commodities

Sugar prices declined sharply yesterday on reports that the Cuban legislature was considering a bill to remove all restrictions on the production and exportation of sugar.

New York sugar futures came under selling pressure when the news reached the trade, and world contracts closed as much as 0.15½ cent a pound lower, or within less than 0.10 cent of the limit fluctuation allowed. Domestic futures, protected to some extent by the tariff of 1.50 cents a pound on Cuban sugar, lost only 0.06 to 0.09 cent.

Both raw and refined sugar prices were quoted unchanged, the former at 3.70 cents and the latter at 5⅛ cents.

The trend in other commodities was generally lower, with rubber, silk, hides, coffee, zinc, and cottonseed oil declining. Wool, tin, and copper were irregular.

Cocoa moved slightly higher. Cash rubber cracked the 20 cent level for the first time since it had moved above that price during the war boom, and sold at 19.95 cents.

LIFE INSURANCE FIRMS MAY CUT WAR PAYMENTS

Change Would Apply Only to New Policies.

Benefits to be paid by life insurance companies on deaths due to service in the European war are to be limited under recommendations made yesterday for adoption by companies in writing new policies.

The restrictions are to apply also to civilians performing war service and to deaths resulting while traveling in war zones. None of the limitations, it was emphasised, will apply on policies already in effect.

The recommendations were made by the committee on life insurance of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, meeting in the Edgewater Beach hotel in connection with the annual meeting of the American Life convention, which represents 151 life insurance companies of the United States and Canada.

Three Limited Classifications.

The committee, headed by John A. Lloyd, insurance commissioner of Ohio, adopted the report after hearing suggestions from representatives of the life convention, the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, and the National Fraternal congress.

Specifically, the classifications for limitation of benefits are:

1. Persons "who may serve in the military, naval, or air forces of any foreign country at war."
2. Persons "who may serve in civilian units auxiliary to the armed forces of any foreign country at war."
3. Persons "who may travel within geographic limits specifically designated in the policy."

War Zone Deaths Defined.

The latter limitation, it was explained, applies to deaths occurring in areas designated as war zones. Spokesmen for insurance companies explained that in the event of death in any of the three classifications, the beneficiaries under future policies would receive the amount of premiums paid by the assured, plus dividends or interest accrued to the credit of the policy, but not the face amount of the policy.

This practice was followed by most of the companies during the world war, it was said. Individual companies, however, may vary the procedure.

Insurance officials said the program was one of neutrality, asserting no restrictions are placed in policies of Americans remaining at home. It was said the program would be adopted by many, but not necessarily all of the insurance companies.

The recommendations are to be submitted to insurance commissioners of the various states, nine of whom collaborated in drawing up the report.

CANADIAN BONDS.

I hold some Canadian bonds which have been declining in price lately. Can you tell me what has caused this?—I. U.

Answer: The Dominion of Canada has never defaulted on interest or principal of any of its obligations. Payments were made regularly throughout the world war. Canadian bonds have always deserved a sound rating.

The decline in these issues over the last month or so may be attributed to these factors:

1. War is expected to create an increase in interest rates. Canadian securities in the high grade class, like high grade American securities, have declined because of this fact. They had been selling at a level returning a low yield. The decline raises the yield on current purchases in line with the anticipated upturn in money rates.

2. Canada is at war. This naturally imparts some element of uncertainty into its obligations.

CERRO DE PASCO.

Please send me information on Cerro de Pasco corporation.—U. D.

Answer: Largest mines of Cerro de Pasco Copper corporation are located in Peru, South America. Copper, lead, zinc, and silver are produced in large quantities. Small amounts of gold also are mined. Because of high American tarifs, copper, lead, and zinc are sold mainly to European nations. From 1930 to 1933, inclusive, the company operated at a deficit, but since that time has reported earnings in each year. Net income, earnings a common share, and dividends paid a common share in recent years have been as follows:

	Net income.	Earned.	Paid.
1938	$1,989,072	$1.77	$4.00
1937	5,817,619	5.18	5.75
1936	3,797,426	3.38	4.00
1935	4,062,720	3.62	....
1934	1,782,019	1.59	....

Cerro de Pasco has no funded debt and stock capitalization consists entirely of 1,122,842 outstanding shares of no par capital stock. Financial position is satisfactory. Current assets were $24,769,526 and current liabilities $2,096,598 on Dec. 31, 1938, leaving indicated net working capital of $22,672,928.

BUSINESS CURB IN "EMERGENCY" GUISE ASSAILED

Trade Group Adopts Midwest Program.

Midwest executives of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States yesterday adopted a program demanding America's neutrality in the European conflict, strengthening of this government's fiscal position and removal of restrictions against business initiative.

James S. Kemper presides at meeting.

The group, meeting in the Chicago club, went on record in opposition to any extension of government authority over business "in the guise of emergency." Further regulation would lead to regimentation and dictatorship, speakers said.

Leaders Concur In View.

Concurring in the program and the necessity for this country's remaining aloof from the war abroad were leading Chicago business men, including James S. Kemper, president of the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty company; Robert H. Cabell, director of Armour & Co.; Bertram J. Cahn, president of B. Kuppenheimer & Co.; James D. Cunningham, president of Republic Flow Meters company; Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the executive committee of Montgomery Ward & Co., and Sterling Morton, of the Morton Salt company.

Kemper presided over the meeting as chairman of the chamber's midwest council, which directs activities in Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky.

Program Is Outlined.

As outlined by C. R. Miles, manager of the chamber's north central division, with headquarters in Chicago, the program will emphasize the necessity for preserving America's political system, and preventing the adoption of legislative policies detrimental to business.

"At many meetings in each of the seven states in this territory," he said, "business and professional men will speak on the advantages of retaining our present economic and political system. Legislative committees will be strengthened.

"The best way to fortify this country against the shock of the war abroad is to build up our national economy, allow business to operate without unnecessary restrictions so that our unemployed may return to jobs, and discontinue unnecessary expenditure of federal funds."

FEDERAL MONEY POLICY TERMED INVESTOR BLOW

Insurance Meeting Hears Low Interest Attacked.

Low interest rates induced by the Roosevelt administration's cheap money program have put an extra tax on persons dependent on income from a fixed amount of investments, delegates to the annual meeting of the American Life convention were told yesterday. The convention is being held at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

George H. Rigler, assistant vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, declared artificially low interest rates will become an additional burden if the cost of living increases appreciably because of the war.

Income Slashes Cited.

As a result of low rates induced by the government to assist its financing, many investors are receiving less than half the income they had expected, he said.

As insurance men from all parts of the United States and Canada gathered at the Edgewater Beach, another group met in the Stevens hotel for the annual conventions of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies and the Federation of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies.

Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business and one of several speakers at the Stevens, criticized the government's aggressiveness in policing business while the cost of crime remains at a high level.

Alien Companies Discussed.

E. L. Poor, of the American Mutual Alliance, Chicago, in discussing insurance aspects of the war, analyzed the position of alien and alien-controled insurance companies operating in the United States.

Can You Set Aside $1.34 to $1.52 Per Week FOR A $100 LOAN?

That's actually all you need to pay off in full a $100 cash loan, including all charges on a 20 month loan at Personal Finance Company. And we take no wage assignment.

$1.34 a week on the average is all you need to set aside for every $100 borrowed on Personal's new amazing "Special" loan plan of only 1½% per month on the actual balance owed. This plan is for persons with a steady income or salary sufficient to meet payments promptly without undue credit strain and a good credit record. You don't need co-makers, life insurance or bankable securities.

For persons without established credit and employment ratings and who wish to carry a loan larger than 8 to 12% of annual salary or income, Personal offers its "Regular" loan plan. On this plan an average of $1.52 set aside per week takes care of everything on a $100 loan—the charge is based on 3% monthly on unpaid balances of $100 and less, and 2% monthly on unpaid balances over $100.

Loans up to $300 on either plan on your personal note, or with furniture or auto. Co-maker loans are also available on "Regular" plan. Seize this opportunity to save on loan costs. Come in or telephone today.

LOANS One Price to All

Examine the table below. It shows that $9.77 a month repays everything on a $100 loan in 12 months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.43 a month for 20 months repays $100. The faster you pay the less the total cost.

CASH LOAN YOU GET	Amount you pay back each month, including all charges. 6 Mos. Loan.	12 Mos. Loan.	16 Mos. Loan.	20 Mos. Loan.

These payments are calculated at Household's rate of 2½% on balances of $100 or less; 2% on balances of $100 to $300. These rates are less than the lawful maximum on all loans and are the same to every one. No endorsers. Loans made on furniture, car, or note. No wage assignments. Dramatic Pictures of Rescue of Crews of British Ships Sunk by German U-Boat in Warfare on Atlantic

Crew on German submarine cheering as U-boat left Norwegian freighter Ida Bakke after the freighter picked up crew of torpedoed tanker British Influence off Cape Clear, Ireland. This and other pictures on page were brought to Chicago yesterday by James Boyd, a passenger on the Ida Bakke. Mr. Boyd told how the freighter rescued the crews of two British tankers sunk by same German raider. The other vessel was the Cheyenne. Both crews were landed at Kinsale, Ireland. (Story on page 1.) Chicagoans will see anti-aircraft guns like these in action on lake front at 12th street next Tuesday evening during exhibition sponsored by Tribune, the park board, 202d coast artillery of the National Guard, and the Lincoln Park Gun club. (Story on page 1.)
